INDIANS TO CELEBRATE Major Harper Says the Fourth This Year

Will Be on a Large Scale.

Major G. W. Harper, of the Umatilla agency, says the Indians are making preparations for a Fourth of July celebration on a grander scale than ever before. They propose to eclipse previous efforts, and bring out an entertainment which will surpass the wildest dreams of the tenderfoot, and make him think his imagination is a piece of useless mental machinery, says the East Oregonian. It will take the Indians about 15 days to get through with their Fourth of July enthusiasm this year, and the Fourth itself will see only a beginning. Major Tarper obstinate constipation says the Indians count him in as one of their own number this year. He is to ride in their gorgeous procession, gaily decked with the trappery of an Indian brave, and painted eight or ten colors. He will be an animated rainbow, and his place in the cavalcade will be right up in front, with the high stand stationary or fall within the men of the tribes. Visitors are expected from the Bannocks and Nez Perces, and more Indians will attend this year than have ever been present on the Umatilla reservation on such an occasion. Immense quantities of food will be provided by the entertainers, and general powowing will be held by all. The Indian horse races will be exceptionally good, and will take place on days succeeding the Fourth.

Altogether the product of the Basin mines has been nearly $8,000, and there is now every assurance that it will be a wealth producer. Under the present working capacity the Basin mine produces about $220 per day. Just at the present time work is interferred with on account of water, and it is necessary to work above the water level. Last fall the difficulty was just the reverse, and it was difficult to supply sufficient water for the mill. But the
