Wasco Warehouse Co.

ITEMS IN BRIEF

From Wednesday's Daily. Geo. Gibson returned last night from Astoria. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray, of Salem, are visiting in the city. Sheriff Driver and Frank Gabel returned today from Portland.

No trace has yet been found of the robbers who held up the Willhoit stage near Oregon City last Monday. Today the Oregon Market received 40 head of fine mutton from the Meadows, out of W. H. Odell's flock.

Mrs. R. B. Sewall, who has been visiting relatives in the city, left this morning for her home at Portland. G. A. Clark, assistant chief of The Dalles fire department, has been elected captain of the hose team that will visit Astoria.

Some half dozen men are expected to employ at the D. P. A. warehouse sorting and baling wool, preparing it for shipment. Today R. A. Burk took seventeen head of cattle to Trout Lake to fatten for the Columbia Packing Co.

The rain that has fallen today has been acceptable to the residents of The Dalles, but was not welcome to the farmers who are in the midst of their harvest. Last night was a pleasant one with the fog of the city. A pelouse was duly adopted, after which the bravest graced themselves with corn and venison.

Misses Emma VanDyke and Etta Owen arrived from Eugene last night and are arranging to open a book and stationery store in the rooms formerly occupied by the Cycle Hall. Three cars of stock were shipped from the stockyard this morning.

Ariel Guthrie, the young man who broke his foot while herding sheep near Mt. Adams some time since, is still at the Skibbe Hotel, and is recovering rapidly under the skillful treatment of Dr. Hollister. Albert Toller, secretary of the Oregon Press Association, has been appointed health officer of the city of Portland by Mayor Penneyer.

Martin Quinn, late populist candidate for congress in this district, has been appointed superintendent of the street-cleaning and sprinkling department in Portland at a salary of $100 a month. He got a pretty good job if he didn't get to go to congress.

opened at 40 cents for No. 1. This is equivalent to from 44 to 45 cents here, and that will probably be the ruling price in The Dalles when the crop begins coming in.

B. C. Dunaway died in Portland last Tuesday, at the age of 67 years. He was the husband of Abigail Scott Dunaway. Mr. Dunaway was an immigrant of 1850, and was a brother-in-law of Harvey Scott, of the Oregonian.

On the 31st of July there were 1070 patients confined in the insane asylum at Salem. During the month there were 20 received, 24 discharged, 9 died and 4 escaped. There are more employees at the asylum now than ever before.

A contest case is in progress at the land office today in which J. H. Reed is contesting the homestead entry of Fred W. Wallace, covering a tract of 20 acres near the mouth of the Willamette. Reed is counsel for contestant and E. B. Dufur for defendant.

This morning Tom Ward left the city, headed for the forks of Mill creek, accompanied by a party of twenty lady members of Cedar Grove, who are out for a picnic. Tom's friends feel the unseasoners for his safety since he was the only man in the party.

A prominent real estate agent informs T. M. that there is an unusual demand for cottages to rent, and suggests that capitalists of The Dalles would meet with good returns on their capital if they would put their idle money into residence property.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Campbell came up on the Regulator last evening, and Mrs. Campbell will remain in the city a few days. Mr. Campbell, who is an engineer on the Dalles City has exchanged places with Engineer Grandland of the Regulator for a few days.

As Dufur left Monday Henry Mulkin was instructing some gentlemen in the use of a patent hayfork when the third finger of his left hand was caught in one of the gear and was badly injured as to necessitate its amputation. Dr. Slayback removed the injured finger.

The Roseburg Daily Saturday suspended publication last Saturday, after an existence of one year, one month and fifteen days. There was not enough money in the venture to justify its continuance. The publishers will, however, continue to issue the twice-weekly Standard.

Our concert hall will soon be prepared to render some nothings in the way of up-to-date music, just having received a selection of 28 band traps of the latest pattern, among which are duck quacks, cackling hens, squealing pigs, crowing roosters, and howling bears. These traps will be introduced for the first time at the Sunday afternoon concert some time in September.

Messrs. Chas. Stoughton and Harry Hudson are in from Dufur today. They say the greater portion of the grain in that section has been headed, and threshing will begin in a few days. The yield will be fair to good from fall and late sown wheat, but the early spring wheat is having a total failure, the hot weather having come on just when it was in the dough, consequently the berry is badly shriveled.

Excitement over the Rock creek quarries remains at fever heat, prospectors from every quarter arriving at Stevenson every day en route to the new Eldorado. Parties who are interested in the ledge are cutting a trail from Stevenson to the mine, and as soon as it is completed will call out 500 pounds of ore and send it to Tacoma to be tested. Developments so far indicate that the ledge is permanent, and the ore is rich in free gold.

It is currently reported here that Harvey W. Scott, he of the Oregonian, will be senator Mitchell's grand reception on his arrival in Portland. What a spectacle! He will be locked in each other's embrace after 20 years of estrangement. Harvey will fall on John's neck and implore his forgiveness for the multitude of lies he has told in the past and will call out a blessed if he will only verify the promise to support Harvey's God, Sir William, of Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. John Riggs have returned from an extended trip through Willamette valley and a month's visit to their farm on Matilda, in Crook county. Mr. Riggs says the fruit crop in Willamette is an utter failure. He traveled through portions of Linn, Marion, Yamhill, Polk and Clackamas counties, and on the entire trip did not see an orchard in which there was any fruit of any consequence. The grain crop too is light in all sections visited.

Yesterday was convention day in many of the counties of Michigan and Wisconsin the republicans endorsed the St. Louis platform and ticket, though in the latter state there was a vigorous opposition from the silver delegates. The democrats of Missouri and Kansas were in Kongkat of the silver men, though they were unable to agree with the populists. Among the populists of Texas, Nebraska, West Virginia and Pennsylvania there was a strong sentiment for Bryan and favorable to fusion with the democrats.

After visiting some thirty wheat farms in Sherman county, S. H. Adams gives it as his opinion that there will be about half a crop harvested in that section. The fall grain, he says, is somewhat inferior, very little of it being No. 1. In some localities spring wheat is better than winter wheat, and most of it will be No. 2, while some of the spring grain will be worthless except for feed. Heading is about finished in Sherman county and threshing will begin next Monday all over the country.

From Friday's Daily. W. H. Moore, of Moro, returned today from Portland. Threshing will begin in the vicinity of Dufur next week. Mr. Ben Oppenheimer, the well known drummer, is in the city today. Vic Schmidt went down to Stevenson this morning for a few days' recreation.

Mrs. Chandler, of Portland, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilkinson in the city. Mrs. A. M. Williams returned today to Portland after visiting a few days in The Dalles. Mrs. T. Burgess was in the city last night and returned home to Bakovon this morning. Hon. Geo. H. Williams, of Portland, is visiting in the city, having come up on the Regulator last night. Prices right and goods satisfactory at Johnston's. Remember the place, next door to A. M. Williams & Co's. Trade has been duller in The Dalles the past week than during any week since the 1st of May. This is largely

CROP CONDITIONS

Reports From All Parts of the State Indicate a Light Yield.

The following extracts concerning the condition of crops throughout Oregon are taken from the weekly reports issued by B. S. Page, from Portland on August 4:

Harvesting is well under way in the Columbia river valley. The spring sown grain will not be ready to cut for several weeks yet. South of the Blue mountains the harvest is always two weeks later. In the Great Ronde valley the grain is reported to be in fine condition and beyond the period where it can be injured by the weather.

The same condition exists in the wheat district of Baker county. In the interior counties, especially in the The Dalles district, the grain crop is excellent. The fruit-maturing melons are ripe and are being shipped from Wasco county. The peach trees are bearing very well. In sections along the Snake river the peach crop will be less than usual.

Chas. Butler came up from below last night, and this morning left for the range country in the south, looking after the supply of beef. The water in the Columbia is again down to a point where the ferry boat between The Dalles and Rockland can be operated on the cable.

Mr. Redick, the stair builder who put up the stairway in A. M. Williams & Co's new store, left on the Regulator for Portland this morning. The B. M. office was presented with a fine basket of peach plums from Rev. O. D. Taylor's orchard yesterday. They were exceptionally fine fruit, excellent samples of Wasco county's choicest production.

It is not always the quantity of groceries you get but the quality that gives satisfaction to the housewife. Remember that quality and prices are the two things considered at Johnston's cash store.

Mrs. Dan Malarkey came up from Portland last night and returned on the 2:30 train. She was accompanied home by her little daughter, who has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burgess, at Bakovon.

That portion of the portage road at Cascades which was torn up has about all been replaced, and when completed there will be ready for operation soon as the consent of the government engineers to allow the state to run trains across the reserve can be had.

This little piece of doggerel is going the rounds of the press: How dear to our hearts is such an affection, when the generous submitter presents it to view; but the man who don't pay—let us refrain from description, for perhaps, gentle reader, that man might be you.

Freight is being hauled from Corvallis to Salem in wagons, it being cheaper to ship goods by that method than by the "rail." This does not speak well for our modern transportation facilities. It looks like we will have to go back to the days of ox-yokes and prairie schooners.

Judge Burt died at Toledo, Lincoln county, last Monday, and already there is a scramble for the position this made vacant. A fair crop of Peaches and Silver prunes, and none of other varieties. The Bartlett pears are a poor crop, and other varieties have none on the trees. Apples are a short crop.

In the counties east of the Cascade mountains the grain crop is rather light, but the crop is not up to the average. Throughout Sherman county the outlook is rather encouraging. It is true the hot wind and the continued hot weather following injured the grain by smothering it, but after all the yield will be satisfactory. This is owing wholly to the increased acreage. The yield will in all probability average about five bushels to the acre over the entire county.

Wasco county grain averages, south of Eight Mile will compare favorably with Sherman county, and the grade will vary from No. 1 down to No. 2. The spring sown barley will be very close, nearly all the spring wheat has been cut for hay. The barley harvest will be a very short yield and berry shrunken.

The same conditions apply quite thoroughly to Gilliam and Morrow counties. In Tillamook county fall sown wheat is thrashing out from twenty-four to twenty-five bushels to the acre, though the quality is inferior. The spring wheat sown generally in February, though much sown in April and May, will be cut almost exclusively for hay.

Freight on the coast will be low, little Peas and peas make but little better showing. Apples are scarce, water in favored localities. Grapes, watermelons and berries are prolific. A Wonderful Show.

The existence of that hitherto hypothetical quality denominated "horse sense" will receive ample verification at the exhibition of Prof. Bristol's Equus Curriculum, at Vogt's new opera house, Monday and Tuesday, 10th and 11th, at which 30 educated horses will hold their audience spell-bound for two hours in demonstration that instinct and reason are so near allied.

A narrow line their bounds divide, by an infinite number of tricks that show the mind of the animal. In this statement the Oregonian got badly mixed. In the first place, the Messrs. Ketchum are neither sheep raisers nor sheep herders. They buy and ship mutton for the Union Meat Co and only have one lot of sheep, which are being ranged near Mill creek. And they were not arrested, although D. P. Ketchum, having heard there was a complaint filed against him, went before the U. S. authorities and gave himself up, furnished bonds for his appearance whenever wanted.

When any and all donations will be thankfully received. There is about ten acres of land attached to the building and it is the intention of the management to raise most of the vegetables for the use of the Home and to keep at least three cows and a horse, and as funds are now low, should some charitable disposed farmer see fit to donate a part of the stock required, the donation will be most thankfully accepted and proper acknowledgement made, the society paying all freight charges to Portland.

TO PROPAGATE MORE SALMON. A Hatchery Should Be Established in Eastern Oregon.

The efficiency of artificial propagation as a means of increasing the salmon in the Columbia has been demonstrated as never before by the enormous run of Chinook in the lower river, and by the decrease in the number of bluebacks and steelheads. Chinooks are the only fish propagated at the Clackamas hatchery, which accounts for their increase and the decrease of the other families of salmon. Hence there can be no question but that this is due to artificial propagation. The theory that salmon return to the river in which they were hatched is also substantiated by the large number of chinook that are now found in the Willamette below the falls at Oregon City. No river in the Oregon territory has been so successful in endeavoring to find their way back to the Clackamas, where they were propagated.

The government is well satisfied with the results accomplished at the Clackamas hatchery, and contemplates the establishment of a hatchery in the Fish Commissioner's office having recently made inquiries of Game Protector McGuire as to suitable locations for three additional hatcheries. If three more hatcheries are to be established in the Columbia, two at least should be east of the Columbia, since the fish propagated on this side of the mountains would, when they become of mature age, seek to return to the waters where they were hatched, and be at the mercy of the siberian from the mouth of the Columbia to the location of the hatchery. No river in Oregon is better adapted as a location for salmon hatchery than the Deschutes, the water being clear and pure, the rise and fall being comparatively light, and the point where it empties into the Columbia being easy of access.

We would respectfully call the attention of Mr. McGuire to the natural adaptability of this stream for salmon propagation, and would insist that he recommend the same to Mr. Brice. Hood river also presents many admirable qualities for a hatchery, and hence there is one established in it as well as one in the Deschutes, the question of the fish supply in the Columbia would be settled for ages to come.

Resolved, That we, the teachers of Wasco county, Oregon, in teachers' assembly, feel our duty and do hereby acknowledge the obligations we are under to Supt. C. L. Gilbert for his untiring efforts to make the institute both pleasant and profitable to all.

Resolved, That we thank the citizens of The Dalles, and especially to the public press of the city for the kind and courteous treatment we have received at their hands during our sojourn among them.

J. H. HILL, Chairman. CORRY WILSON, Secretary. FLORA HANSON, Correspondence. Letters Admitted.

The following is the list of letters remaining in The Dalles postoffice unclaimed for August 7, 1936. Persons claiming these letters will please give the date on which they were advertised:

Delivered Ice in a Hurry. About 4:30 this morning the team attached to Geo. Williams' log wagon was so frightened that he was making his customary deliveries of ice on Second street, and were soon unmanageable. Mr. Williams held on to the lines guiding the horses down Second street to the Skibbe hotel then turned them up to Third street. When they reached Laska Bros. blizzard shop, the bolt which held the double trees gave way, leaving Mr. Williams and the wagon at the shop, while the horses kept on until tired out. There was no damage done except the scattering of several hundred pounds of ice on the street and the breaking of the wagon logs.

Accident Near Dufur. While driving a header wagon on a free run near Dufur, Wednesday, John Green, by some mishap, overtook the wagon and was caught under the edge of the heavy bed, the entire weight of the wagon and heavy bed striking his right leg, breaking the bone between the knee and hip. He was taken to Dufur for treatment and placed under the care of Dr. Slayback. The bone was badly crushed, and it will necessarily confine Mr. Green to the house for several months.

In New Quarters. Messrs. Dufur & Menefee, the well-known draftsmen have moved from Chapman block into the new Vogt block, occupying five rooms on the second floor on the front and west side of the building. They are the first tenants to occupy rooms on the second floor of the new block, and certainly have as commodious quarters as there are in that magnificent building, the rooms being roomy, well ventilated and perfectly lighted.

Archie Mason, a Salem contractor, finds that men who desire work are scarce. Tuesday he made an offer of $1.25 per day to a fellow who has several copies during the current season approached him for a job, but it was declined with the remark that "it was not enough wages." Mr. Mason wanted additional help making the extended improvements to the Salem Consolidated street railway track.

As there will be numerous requests for reduced rates on account of political meetings during the coming contest it has been decided that in order to treat all parties alike, a one fare rate will be made by the O. R. & N. Company for various meetings of this character. This of course, is intended only for occasions where there is sufficient number to justify a reduction in rates. This is done so that there will be no partiality in favor of any one party.

Was Satisfactorily Rewarded. On Tuesday morning's west-bound train was a Pullman passenger—a colored gentleman—who was traveling in becoming style and it didn't cost him a cent. And he had every reason to feel satisfied with his situation because only last Sunday he was "pounding the sled" in Idaho with his face directed toward the setting sun. He came upon a land slide in a deep cut, and quickly realizing the danger that might result to the Short Line passenger train he stationed himself where he could flag the train and prevent the accident.

In appreciation of this act the passengers on the train made up a purse of fifty dollars and promptly the table tourist on to Huntington. The O. R. & N. agent at that place was instructed by the railway officials to furnish a Pullman pass to Portland and ten dollars in cash, with which to pay his incidental expenses.

HOW TO SECURE A SCHOOL LIBRARY A Subject That Should Be Agitated in Every District.

How to secure a school library was one of the many important questions discussed at the Institute. Few of the school in Wasco have any reference books except, perhaps, Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, and the effectiveness of school work is lessened on this account.

Reference books are needed in every school, not heavy, cumbersome volumes which impel the child, but interesting little books which awaken a desire for good reading. Take the subject of reading in our school, the boy "gets through the book," and after he does not know the words, that is he would not be able to pronounce them in a "new place."

He has committed his reading lessons as with supplementary reading, this would be corrected. Many teachers realize that reading is poorly taught, but often the sentiment in a district compels a young teacher to get the child "through the book," some what with "Give the school supplementary reading, let pupil and parent understand that this work is necessary for promotion, then there will be fewer children who are "in the fifth reader" and unable to read a newspaper item.

But how can reference books be secured? The law provides that $30 a year can be used to furnish the school room. It is lawful and right to use a part of this sum for books. We have in Wasco county several districts that own large physiological charts, very useful in their places, but how many books could have been bought with the money paid for them? Some teachers have raised money by giving entertainments, others have had books donated to the school. The great question is do you want reference books in your district? If you do some means can be found to get them. "I don't like history," when with a few good books, the last list of dates and isolated facts become the lives of the makers of our country. Good reading is as broad as truth and the subjects are many.

Resolved, That we, the teachers of Wasco county, Oregon, in teachers' assembly, feel our duty and do hereby acknowledge the obligations we are under to Supt. C. L. Gilbert for his untiring efforts to make the institute both pleasant and profitable to all.
