SATURDAY ... SEPTEMBER 5, 1896 QUESTIONS TO BE CONSIDERED

Never before in the history of the nation were voters more intensely interested in the issues before them than at present. Never before has there been so careful an analysis of the questions that enter into the contentions between the two great parties as is now being made by the common classes. Truly this is a campaign of education, for the people are going to the bottom of every proposition. They are reasoning from cause to effect, and endeavoring to ascertain for themselves what is the cause of the present and past depressions, and trying to reconcile their reasoning to a solution of what methods are advisable to adopt

On the one hand they are presented with a remedy, which is the adoption of high protective tariff and the mainparty as the method which, if adopted, will restore confidence, encourage business and create general prosperity. On the other hand a remedy is offered in the adoption of a moderate tariff, (a tariff for revenue) and the unrestricted coinage of silver by our mints. The ocratic party contends, will result in by making them prosperous will create general business activity. The average voter is carefully considering these questions and devoting his energies as he should to arrive at a conclusion as to which is the surest to create general prosperity, and it is meet that we all discuss such topics for the adoption of such methods as will result in the greatest good to the greatest number is what is to be desired; and we all want to arrive at the conclusion, which of the methods prese will bring about this result.

It is contended by the republicans that all that is required is more revenue with which to pay the expenses of government, a tariff that will protect all industries, and retaining a financial system founded on a gold basis. To accomplish theseithree ends they advocate the election of Mr. Mc-Kinley to the presidency. But let us see if all these are liable to result from his election. First, can the revenues will they not prevent any legislation | to retain the advantages looking to the raising of additional river will give us. administration in case he is elected. bonds? Let the voter carefully consider under which of these systems the counity; under an administration whose hands will be tied by a senate and possibly a house who oppose his views and are ready to block all needed legislation, or under an administration in hearty accord with congress under whose guidance needed legislation can be enacted.

TARIFF IS DEAD.

Major McKinley's bold tackling of the money question makes more delicate than ever the position of those far Western republican trimmers who affect to see no issue other than the tariff in this campaign. When the daddy of and now they are using their endeavors high protection virtually acknowledges that it is of secondary importance, his pion. followers cannot gracefully make a "speciality of it."-Portland Telegram. The Telegram evidently speaks authoritatively, for it is under republican management and to all intents and purposes is a republican paper, so when it says anything concerning the policies of that party we can rest asassured that its expressions are coming from the fountain head. If then the money question is to supercede the tariff as an issue, how are the Oregon wool growers, who are clamoring for protection, going to reconcile themselves with Mr. McKinley? Can they expect any more favors at his hands than they can from Mr. Bryan? The platform on which Mr. Bryan is running declares for a revenue tariff, and since a revision of schedules are necessary in order to create more revenve, is it not likely wool will receive more consideration from him and a congress in harmony with his views. than from a republican congress and the present tariff, far from being "free trade." is as highly protective as any tariff in the history of the country except that which bore his name and which the people twice condemned. So far from having "destroyed American manufacturing," the Wilson tariff has enabled our manufacturers to increase their exports from $158,000,000 in 1892 to $228,000,000 in 1896. As for wages, Mr. McKinley no doubt remem bers that he was challenged in vain in 1892 to cite one instance in which the wages in protected industries had been advanced as the result of the increase of duties in his bill. When Mr. McKinley proposes to re store his tariff to increase the revennes, the country remembers that the avowed object of his bill increasing the duties was to reudce the surplus. And so effectively did it accomlish its purpose that there was a deficiency in the revenues in each of the last three months of President Harrison's term. The country wants a rest on the tariff until the present law shall have had a fair trial under normal business conditions.

The fact that all efforts to interest capital in manufacturing industries in The Dalles have failed in the past need not, however, discourage such efforts now.

The time is more propitious now for the establishing of such an industry than ever before. Prices of everyadoption of these principles, the dem- thing, labor, machinery and raw materials are certainly down to the lowest general benefit to the producers, and possible notch, but a change is near at hand. Immediately after the election there will certainly be a revival of business in all lines, and besides this the opening of the locks at the cascades are certain to stimulate business at this point, hence this is the time for those who want profitable investments to get in on the ground floor.

In spite of the depressing times we have gone through the past few years, every woolen mill in the state is doing a good business. A gentleman who is in a position to know, informs us that there is not a mill in the state but is paying good dividends on the investment and they have all been running on short time the past year. This table coming from such republican authority will hardly be denied by the most ardent gold advocate: and if it is based on ficts, it proves beyond question the contention of the free silver advocate, that the price of farm products has steadily declined and kept pace with the price of silver, since the contraction of currency by the act of 1873. In further substantiation of this position, Mr. Estee, in his San Jose speech, on August 15, 1895, after reading the above table, said: "Money has thus become more and more powerful as wealth is more and more concentrated. The growth of engaged in the woolen mills, hence is corporations and monometalism has silently advanced together. A single gold standard tends to concentrate money in the hands of the few. According to Mr. Carlisle, eighteen years ago, the striking down of onehalf the money of the world would create suntold misery to the human race, but now the remonetization of that metal will cause bankruptcy, and would be repudiation. A FINANCIAL PUZZLE.

Republicans insist that the gold reserve must be maintained. At the same time they denounce President Cleveland for issuing bonds to maintain it and denounce Bryan for proposing to redeem the treasury notes and greenbacks and other coin obligations in silver. Will some able republican financier to be maintained under our present financial system without selling bonds to buy gold or redeeming treasury notes and greenbacks in silver? No republican has hinted to what device a republican administration would resort to keep the endless chain

The trouble with most of the so-called dyspepsia - cures, is that they don't cure. They give only temporary relief. Indigestion usually extends all through the digestive tract, from the stomach clear down to the large intestine; the liver too is frequently involved in the trouble being torpid and flactive. For a thorough, radical, permanent cure you must have the whole digestive organism set right.—Not violently stirred up, but recoulded. Doctor Pierce's gestive organism set right.—Not violently stirred up, but regulated. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will do it. They stimu-late the digestive juices of the stomach; invigorate the liver and help it to actively secrete the bile; and act gently on the bowels to promote a regular healthy move-ment. This means a complete and last-ing cure of digestive troubles.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3 .- The newly organized gold-standard or national emocratic party of the United States today nominated Senator John M. Palmer, of Illinois, to carry the standard as its nominee for the office of president. Senator Palmer was nominated upon a total of 983. He was then declared the nominee of the convention by seclamation. When the roll-call of states was made for nominations for president, all names were withdrawn except those of the first ballot, receiving 757# votes of General Bragg, of Wisconsin, and Senator Palmer, of Illinois. As soon as the result was announced, General Bragg leapt upon a chair and ed the wild cheers for Palmer which lasted for several minutes. When the demonstration had partially subsided, General Brage made a motion to the effect that Senator Palmer be declared the nominee by acclamation, which was carried with a whoop. The roll-call of states was then ordered for nominations for vice-president. Browder, of Kentucky, took the platform and presented the name of General Buckner. A wild demonstration followed, at the close of which mutation of Governor Pennoyer his General Buckner was nominated by acclamation. The convention then adjourned sine

Next to W. J. Bryan, Senator Teller s attracting more attention than any other man in the United States today, as is evidenced by the receptions given him wherever he goes. He visited Colorado Springs last Monday and the reception tendered him was an ovation in which almost everybody regardless of party affiliation, participated. A special committee consisting of Irving Howbert, ex-chairman of the Colorado republican committee, J. C. Plum, also a leading republican, C. B. Seldonridge, chairman of the democratic state committee, B. F. Montgomery, a leading populist, J. E. Rockwell, J. H. Hutchinson and A. L. Lawton, was ent to Palmer Lake to meet and conduct the senator to the Springs. When the train arrived the entire city was out to greet him, and the ovation was such as was never before witnessed in the state.

Fusion is Effected. OMAHA, Sept.3 .- After a nearly allnight session of the state central committees of the democratic and populist parties, without apparent friction, practically agreed upon the details of a fusion on the electoral and state tickets, including the indorsement by the democrats of the state ticket nominated by the populists, the aceptance by the populists of the democratic candidate for attorney-general to fill the vacancy in the Hastings. ticket and the selection of four populist electors who will be nominated by the lemocrats. The democratic leaders assert that the fusion deal will be unanimonsly indorsed by the democratic state convention.
