Mrs. Minnie Glison left this morning for her home at Albina, after spending several days in this city visiting relatives. Last week a telephone was put in the Academy Park school building, so now the different schools are all connected with phone service.

The heaviest yield of wheat so far reported is a field belonging to Mike Callaghan on Tygh Ridge. He threshed 53 bushels to the acre from a field of summer follow.

"My friend," said the Baker City evangelist, handing him a tract, "how do you stand on the great question?" "I'm for free silver," responded the

One thing may be reckoned on with tolerable certainty. The next president of the United States will not wear whiskers on his face and his front name will be William.

Bob Ingersoll once said that he did not want to say anything against either place of future resort as he had friends in both places. That is the way a good many people feel on the political Frank Hawley, a prominent Sherman county farmer, is in The Dalles today. He says the greater portion of the grain in Sherman has been harvested, though there is some wheat that has tween Columbia and Deschutes rivers, and reports harvest about over and crops to have turned out better than had been expected. Some of the good results from summer-following are made prominent by the recent harvest. Wheat sowed on spring sown grain in adjoining fields has been almost a failure. The secretary of the treasury has authorized the establishment of a subport of entry at Spokane. The salary of the deputy collector of the port will probably be $2000. Three or four inspectors will be stationed there.

George Albright, fireman on the switch engine in this city, was married in Portland last Thursday to Miss bright arrived here yesterday and will make their home in The Dalles. The gentleman who thought he had discovered a gold mine in The Dalles the other day was not far out of the way after all. There is gold in almost every lot in The Dalles for the man who invests at the present prices.

Mr. Grey will organize his 2d and 3d classes in German on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Sept. 19th at the old Lutheran chapel on 9th street. All desiring to partisipate in the work of either of these two classes will please attend this meeting.

This is the year for Wasco county to advertise itself at the Portland exposition. Fruit and vegetables in nearly all other sections of the state are failures, but this county can make an exhibit that will convince everybody that crops never fail here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hinton are visit ing in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fletch Faulkner. Mr. Hinton has not fully recovered from the injuries he received some time since in being thrown from a wagon, but is able to walk with the assistance of County Physician Nowman reports that the experiment of inoculating a diptheria case with anti-toxine, which he recently made and which was the first experiment of the kind in Spokane as far as known, is meeting with perfect success. The subjdct, a boy who was far advanced with the disease, was admitted to the hospital for contageous diseases last week. Today Ed Marshal was given an examination before Justice Filloon on a charge of having stolen $100 from Mrs. Garfield (better known as Irish Mollie) and was held in $200 bonds to answer before the next grand jury. Failing to give bonds he was removed to jail. Marshal is one of the fellows who served 90 days in jail last spring for stealing blankets and clothing from a feed yard in the East End.

P. L. Kretzer spent Sunday in the city, and returned this morning to Lyle. He has struck a fair supply of water in the artesian well he is sinking at that place and expects to have it completed in a few days.

Last Friday night Seufert Bros. shipped a car load, 25,000 pounds, of fresh salmon to New York. They will ship another car tomorrow night. Their cannery has been running day and night since the open season began. The Oregon Fruit Union will ship a car load of prunes and plums tonight to Chicago. The union has recently made some excellent sales of fruit in Chicago, Hungarian prunes selling at $1.60, German at $1.25, Italian at $1, $.10 and $1.15.

Yesterday H. D. Dunham and C McPherson, of Hay creek, delivered 150 head of beef to Chas. Butler. All but 18 head of the cattle were shipped to Port Townsend. The 18 left here were turned over to J. B. Havely to be fed for Christmas beef.

On Sept. 8th, Fritz Laubinger died at Olex, aged 58 years. Mr. Laubinger was born in Kiel, Scheleswig Holstein, Germany, and resided in The Dalles for a long time, having worked for Judge Liebe twelve years and left here some fourteen years ago.

Today H. S. Hanna left at this office a basket of sweet-water grapes that were of the finest flavor of anything we have ever tasted in the grape line. They are crisp and fresh, and at the same time almost as sweet as raisins. They were grown on Chenoweth creek, about six miles west of The Dalles.

There are at the Commission Co's. store today about 40 boxes of peaches from Seufert Bros. orchard that are simply beauties. Half of them are from 10 to 101 inches in circumference They are very nice samples of Wasco county peaches, and would make an attractive display at the Portland exposition.

In the will of the late Richard Closter the Indian claim of deceased was bequeathed to Giles Patrick, who had been absent from The Dalles a number of years and was thought to be dead, but Judge Liebe received a telegram from Patrick, dated at Ferndale, tended tour of the country lying be- amount, whatever it may be, when > Politics divides the students of the iniversity in Seattle this year as never before. In the past a few zealous partisans maintained students' clubs with more or less difficulty: but this year almost the first day saw notices posted calling for meetings, and instantly there appeared animated discussions accompanied by not a few "football gestures." Preliminary committees have been appointed, and early this week the young men will organize their Bryan and McKinley clubs, and interesting sessions, in which the questions of the day will be debated, may be looked for.

The case of the United States vs. the Tygh Vailey Land & Livestock Company, which has been set for hearing in the United States court several times, on an order to show cause why lefendant should not be permanently restrained from trespassing on the Cascade reserve, by driving and pasturing herds of sheep there, was again continued yesterday until Sept. 18.

As was expected, the election in Maine yesterday resulted in an over whelming majority for the republican ticket. Powers is elected governor by between 45,000 and 50,000, and Tom Reed's plurality is something like 10,000. Maine and Vermon furnish an illustration of how the East will go in November, while the result in Arcansas is an expression of the sentiment in the South and West.

Yesterday Forman and Laughlin, of Oak Grove, delivered to C. M. Grimes the finest lot of beef ever brought to this city. There were 64 head of 3year old steers and they averaged 1250 pounds each. Last night while a number of Indians were having a sociable gathering over at Rockland, across the river from this city, several of the noble red men of the forest became too much under the influence of whiskey, resulting in a cutting scrape in which one, Harry Dick, was stabbed in the back, though not very seriously. His associates managed to secure the wounded man with ropes, and assisted him to his wigwam, however, he was able to get about today, apparently not feeling much the worse for his experience.

A Farmer Who Makes Money.

G. C. Millett, of Junction precinct, was in Eugene the other day, and inormed the Guard that he had cleared several thousand dollars in farming this season, notwithstanding the poor crops. He thinks that raising wheat is the surest way to make money in the Willamette valley. This year his entire farm yielded on an average 26 bushels-about two-thirds of a crop. He had 30 acres that yielded 431 bushels to the acre. Last year this tract yielded 621 bushels per acre. Mr. Millet has earned every dollar he is worth by tilling the soil, and is one of the most contented men in Oregor.

DEBTS AND MONEY

The Effect of Free Coinage Upon Gold Coin Debts.

ED. TIMES-MOUNTAINEER: One of the stock arguments of the gold standard people is that the free coinage of silver will make it harder for men who owe gold notes, and other debts in gold coin, to pay them. This is the argument: "Gold will go to a premium, and therefore the man who has to pay a debt in that money will be compelled to pay a premium, and it will be harder for him to pay the debt than it is now."

It is a doubtful question whether gold will go to a premium or not. There are very many reasons for believing that it will not, and most silver advocates believe that gold bullion will fall and silver bullion will rise until the commercial value of the two, ome together.

But suppose this should not happen. and that gold should go to a premium of 15 to 20 per cent or to any desigthe grand lodge, who are to be present | nated premium still it is not true, that under such conditions it will be harder for the debtor to pay a gold debt. On the contrary, it will be much more easy. If gold goes to a premium at all, it will be over silver only. It will not go to a premium over its present value as measured by property. No gold standard man who has been heard from, is extreme enough to contend that the buying value of gold will be increased by free coinage.

As a matter of fact, gold will be much cheaper, measured in property, than it now is, even if it should be at a premium over silver. This is in accordance with the well understood law of supply and demand. The great demand for gold is now what makes it so high. and makes prices so low. Silver has peen taken out of competition with it as a primary money metal. Since the principal use of coined money now-adays is for primary money-that is, as a reserve for the redemption of paper and other token money-when you destroy the use of silver for this primary edemption purpose, it takes it out of competition with gold for that purpose, young commoner, William J. For this whole period, 81 years, gold and silver varied in value only about 6 or 7 cents, despite the fact that England during the same period 1816 demonetized silver. In 1873, while our people were still using war money-greenbacks and shin-plasters-and their attention was not so directly centered on coin of any kind, a new coinage act was passed, abrogating that of 1792. In it the unit of value was fixed in these words (see U. S. statutes): "That the gold coins of the United States shall be a one dollar piece which at the standard weight of 25 8-10 grains shall be the unit of value." Much has been said pro and con of this change in the unit of value, our national vardstick, but the fact remains that the old measure was discarded and a new one made. Another fact is, that since that time, a period of 23 years, the gap between silver and gold has widened constantly, now amounting to some 47 cents on same thing. Hence it seems to me that a return to that standard silver dollar which for 81 years served this people well, swould give us at the same time an honest 100-cent dollar, and a much cheaper dollar to pay debts with, than that held for speculation by the gold syndicates, and then should the other countries follow our lead like sheep, as you will admit they once did as the law of supply and-demand still applies, silver will be in the greater demand: and instead of our nation going o syndicates on bended knees for gold, these gentlemen will be standing at the doors of their shops barking their wares in regulation bowery style, and admitting that their wares are good, we will step in and supply ourselves at the old price, 23 22-100 grains for a standard silver dollar or at 16 to 1. RUN OVER AND KILLED

Hank Graham Met With A Fatal Acci-

A distressing accident occurred at Grants Monday, resulting in the instant death of J. H. Graham, s brakeman on No. 23, in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co. When the west bound train reached Grants at about 9 A. M., with Mike Rice as conductor and Charlie Johnston driving the engine a stop was made to take a car from th switch. Graham cut the engine loose from the train, opened the switch and stepped onto the pilot in front. The next seen of him he was lying on the track, the engine having passed over him cutting his body in two and mangling his head fearfully. He was brought to The Dalles, where an inquest was held over the remains by Coroner Butts. Mr. Graham had been in the employ of the O. R & N. for a number of years, and was a sober, industrious man, commanding the respect of all. He was a brother of Master Mechanic Graham, of the Albina

Following is the verdict of the coroner's jury: We, the undersigned jury empannelled by W. H. Butts, Coroner of Wasco county, Oregon, to inquire into the cause of the death of the body now before us find as follows: That the name of said deceased is J. H. Graham, of the age of about 35 years, and from the evidence produced at this inquest we believe that said dethe 14th of September, 1896, at about he was employed as brakeman on train Co. and bound west, and was discharging his duties as such brakeman at the time of his death: that the cause of his death as near as we are able to ascertain from the evidence of the witnesses sworn at this inquest was from slipping off of the pilot of the locomotive and being run over thereby, producing the death of said deceased, and we further and that no blame attaches to any one.

THE DALLES, Sept. 13th, 1896. OF TIMES-MOUNTAINEER: I sincerely regret seeing my name in the papers of this city, especially since 't was given to the public by Mrs M. J. Brown, with whom I have lived as peacefully as was possible, since our marriage in 1868. She charges nonsupport, etc. This charge can easily be refuted, and that by some of the most reliable citizens of the state. On short acquaintance, Mrs. Brown is well liked and highly respected, but in a sbort time she gets angered and becomes very disagreeable, and so turns herself out of home, away from friends and relations. Now unless credit due her should not be accredited, I will say she is not responsible at all times for what she says or does, her mind being somewhat affected as can be readily discovered by those thrown in her JEROME B. BROWN.
