TO FRIENDS OF BIMETALISM Hon. William Jennings Bryan, the

greatest living champion of independent bimetalism, and defeated candidate for president, has issued the following letter to the bimetalists of the United States. "Conscious that millions of loyal hearts are saddened by temporary de. feat, I beg to offer a word of hope and encouragement. No cause eyer had supporters more brave, earnest and devoted than those who espoused the cause of bimetalism. They have fought from conviction and have fought with all the zeal which conviction inspires. Events will prove whether they were right or wrong. Having done their duty as they saw it, they have nothing to regret. The republican candidate has been heralded as the advance agent of prosperity to the American people. If his policies bring real prosperity to the American people, those who opposed him will share that prosperity. If on the other hand his policies prove an injury to the people generally, these supporters who do not belong to the office holding class, or to the privileged class, will suffer in common with those who opposed him. Friends of bimetalism have not been vanquished; they have been simply overcome. They believe the gold standard is a conspiracy of the money changers against the welfare of the human race, and until convinced of their error they will continue the warfare against it. The contest has been waged this year under great embarassments and against odds. But in spite of the efforts of the administration and Its supporters, in spite of the threats of the money lenders at home and abroad, in spite of coercion practiced by corporations on employes, and in spite of trusts and syndicates, in spite of the enormous republican campaign fund, and in spite of the influences of a hostile daily press, bimetalism has almost triumphed in its first great fight. But bimetalism emerges from the contest stronger than it was four work of the three national committees which have joined in the management of this campaign. They have laid the foundation for future success and will be remembered as pioneers when the victory is at last secured. No personal or political friend need grieve because

The year of 1900 is not far away. Before that and recommed action to be hereafter year arrives international bimetalism indorsed by congress. It is the purpose notice, few believed it could be settled will cease to deceive. Before that year our party, or have become republicans and thus open enemies; before that year arrives we will have convinced still more people that the trusts are a menace to private welfare and to public safety; before that year arrives the evils of the gold standard will be even more evident than they are now, and the people will be ready to demand an American financial policy for an American people and will join with us in the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation."

HUMANITY DEMANDS ACTION

It is probably not the province o this government to interfere as a peace maker between any foreign power and its colonies, so long as the home gov ernment pursues humane methods to subdue the rebels, or confines itself to legitimate rules of warfare as recognized by the civilized world. But when any government shall resort to butchery of women and children and the wanton destruction of property belonging to citizens of the United States who may be in the rebellious colony. it is then time for this country to step in, and in the cause of humanity, say the butchery shall cease.

Since the insurgents of Cuba began their patriotic struggle to throw off the yoke of Spanish tyranny, the United States has pursued the course o neutrality and has not sought to interfere either for or against the patriots and so long as Spain confined itself to legitimate warfare this government should not have interfered. But since Spain has chosen to prosecute the war after the fashion of the most depraved barbarians, the United States should stretch out her strong arm and decree the butchery shall cease. The Pitts burg Dispatch very plainly presented the condition of Cubs and the duty of this government in the premises, when it said: "There is no prospect of an early end of this condition of things, except through the interference of the United States or some of the first class powers of Europe. The insurgents feel that after complete ruin there will be liberty, and Spain, which sees the magnificent territory slipping from its grasp, is apparently determined that the sum shall be complete before its tyrannical hold is relinquished. Meantime, women and children are suffering, dying of starvation, being slaughtered like beasts.

IT MUST BE MET.

An extra session of the 55th congress to be called for next spring, to pass a tariff bill, is sure to be urged now, but the movement is to be deplored. This is not the time to plunge the country into another tariff discussion, with its inevitable bad effect upon business. The only emergency that would justify an extra session would be the need for revenue or currency measures. This may develop by spring, but meanwhile, when one considers the rant such men as Tillman, Jones and Daniel would hasten to pour out upon the country from the senate chamber, the old adage about sleeping dogs has an attractive and restful cound.-Oregonian.

Indeed are we not now to have any tariff legislation after all the ante-election twadle of the republican organs that the tariff was an issue, and that "McKinley and protection" would bring us prosperity? Are the people to be deprived of the boon for which they voted? Are the sheep raisers of Eastern Oregon, who voted almost to a man for "McKinley and protection' to be put off with the assurance that all the promises of the republican party to give them relief were made only to catch their votes? Since the republican party has secured control of every to even attempt to remedy the ills it has denounced the past three years?

have been a power in this state during the recent campaign, and by its falsehoods and misrepresentations to have turned the votes of many credulous citizens to its cause of protection, we hardly believe its influence will be great enough to prevent President-Elect McKinley from calling an extra session of congress early next spring. And though an extra session will we believe, result in little or no tariff legislation, the republican party will necessarily be compelled to show its willingness to offer relief to the treasury by convening congress for the purpose of passing a revenue bill. If it does not it will at once be compelled to go into the bond-selling business in order to pay expenses. It is anything but a promising outlook for Mr. Memonths ago. I desire to commend the Kinley, but it is a situation he must meet, and his only alternative will be to begin selling bonds or convene congress in extraordinary session, and of the two evils he will most likely accent the latter, regardless of what the consequences may be.

WHY NOT? The Oregonian advocates the reter tion of Carlisle and Olney as secretary of the treasury and secretary of state, and giving Cleveland a foreign mission. Certainly this would be a wise course for Mr. McKinley to pursue. Only we would suggest that he put Olney back as attorney-general, since he is a tool of the trusts who elected Mr. McKinley, and would serve them well. Carlisle would indeed be the right man in the treasury department to carry out the gold-standard idea, and Cleveland would serve in almost any position ac ceptably to the trusts and syndicates. so we would submit that he should supersede Mark Hanna as chief advisor to the president, and that congress create such an office fixing a sallary of about $250,000 a year. it by nature, and also by the United States government in the way of an open river to the sea, its people must begin pulling together toward advancing their common cause-the building up of the city. Natural resources must be developed and new ones created. This can be accomplished only by united effort. One cannot wait for another to bring wealth to his door, neither can a few individuals develop resources requiring the expenditure of thousands of dollars, that are intended to benefit the entire community without financial aid from the community. It is generally believed that underlying this section is an immense body of coal, in fact it has been demonstrated that there are limited veins of coal at a slight depth below the surface right here at The Dalles, though old and experienced coal miners believe a depth of from 1,000 to 1,500 feet will have to be reached before a permanent vein is Acting upon this belief, The Dalles Drilling Co. began prospecting for coal on Chenoweth several years ago, and have expended several thousand dollars in this enterprise. At last they have reached a point where it is discouraging for them to continue the prospect work unaided, having encountered very refactory rock, necessitating the use of more improved drilling machinery than they possess. In fact, if the company continues the work they must have assistance. It is needless to enlarge upon the advantages that would accrue to The Dalles from having coal mines discovered and in operation, nor is it certain that such will ever be discovered, though experienced miners consider branch of the government, is it afraid the prospects here very favorable, and upon such assurance the enterprising citizens of the city would be justified While we concede the Oregonian to in expending a few thousand dollars prospecting. If there is coal underneath the surface in this vicinity it will not come to light of its own accord, neither will any other industry be developed in our midst without action on our part. So let our people begin getting together on all propositions that offer to benefit our city commercially.

A TRIUMPH OF PEACE. After many months of bullying and blustering Great Britain has at last States to submit the Venezuelan boundary dispute to arbitration, and Oscar II, king of Norway and Sweden, has been chosen as the fifth arbitrator while of the other four, the lord chief ustice of England will select two and the chief justice of the United States supreme court will name two. A PLAIN DUTY.

A majority of the silver men in the enate and house are beginning to take sensible view of the situation, and ecognize the absurdity of longer coninuing the "dog-in-the manger" policy pursued at the last session. They gained by opposing legislation that is country will be just about what we intended to increase the revenues and at the same time afford incidental proection to certain American industries, and it is barely possible that some such legislation may be had at the coming ssion that will relieve the treasury. Possibly the Dingley bill will pass the senate, and if it does, will no doubt receive the approval of the president. Having conceded this much, the silver enators cannot be expected to do more toward relieving the treasury, unless some measure is presented to restore silver to its rightful position as a noney metal. After they have consented to the passage of a law that will bring the receipts of the government up to the expenditures, their duty as regards further legislation is plain, and their plans appear to be well form-election in Oregon was about 96,000. This would indicate that the population is in the neighborhood of 48,000. The prosperity that has been prom ised us through the election of the republican ticket cannot be too soon in coming. The country needs a little prosperity, and God speed the day when it shall come.

The Dalles at present has all the population that it can furnish employment for, therefore if it would grow it must institute industries that will give more work. What will be the first manufacturing industry established?

There are loud assertions afloat that in the recent election in this state there was any amount of repeating and illegal votine. Whether the claims are true or not, they are disagreeable accepted the terms of the United to hear. This could be averted by the adoption of a strict registration law. Whatever else may happen The Dalles should keep on the look out for every individual or corporation that has money to invest in manufacturing. We need factories that will consume our raw material and give employment to more people.

The people of this county should remember that prosperity for them can only be made permanent by getting out of debt and staying out. Now seems borrow to speculate on, should be observed. Utah takes the lead as a woman suffrage state, having elected Mrs. Martha H. Cannon to the senate. Mrs. Cannon was nominated on the democratic ticket and her republican opponent was her husband, Angus M. Cannon. Either Mrs. Cannon is a most popular woman or her husband a most unpopular man, since she beat him by 4.000 votes.

Oregon has a number of commis sions that are of no earthly use except to furnish offices for the fortunate inncumbents. The members of the next legislature were all pledged to economy prior to the June election. and the people will expect them to begin fulfilling these pledges by cutting off the commissions and state boards. They furnish abundant opportunity for practicing economy.

Martin Luther Pipes is entitled to some recognition at the hands of President-Elect McKinley. When he goes to dishing out the federal patronage in Oregon, we would suggest that he make Mortin Luther U.S. district attorney. He ought to be rewarded, after having accepted a nomination last spring on a free coinage platform and after he was defeated found that his conscience would not permit him to support a candidate for president on the same kind of a platform.

People generally are too prone to base great hopes upon the result of an election; and are invariably disappointed. Four or five years ago one of the mos celebrated of European prodigies was the Polish dwarf, Hermann Zeitung, at one time one of the chief attractions at the Folies Bergere, says the New York world. addressed to a large importing house at Madrid and labeled: "Fragile. With care. Top." Holes had been made in this box for breathing purposes and one of its sides was so constructed that it could be opened from within to give the little dwarf a way of getting out unnoticed when he reached his destination. The box was fitted up with a cushion seat and an abundant supply of provisions was placed within it. The start was made at Vienna, where Zeitung had been living for some time, and after the dwarf had placed himself inside and fastened himself in two lusty porters carried him off to the station, having been paid beforehand a fee of sixty cents each. They gave the box in charge to the stationmaster to be shipped to Madrid by express. According to Zeitung, the journey was an uninteresting one and out incident, but when he got to the Spanish capital his troubles began. The Madrid stationmaster evidently had a poor knowledge as to the fragility of glass, for he turned the box over and over, and at last came to the con clusion that its contents ought to be investigated. His aids, therefore, opened it and dragged out the dwarf more dead than alive from the shaking he had received. It would have puzzled a man less full of expedients how to further punish Zeitung, but the stationmaster solved the problem by having him arrested for trying to swindle the railroad companies out of their fares.

The dwarf's defense was that he was traveling in this manner on a bet of three thousand francs, the terms of the wager being that he was to get to Madrid without a cent in his pocket. Three hundred francs, however, were found concealed in his shoes. The real railroad fare and also get a good advertisement for the engagement in Madrid. for which he was billed.

HIGHLY MAGNETIZED.

A remarkable story comes from the upper Yakima country, Washington. Two years ago Peter Stromshadt located on a piece of land near what is now known as Borax Springs, his family consisting of his wife and two children. A few days after his settlement Stromshadt discovered a spring close to the shack he had built, the water of which was strongly impregnated with iron, but not unpalatabble. Stromstadt dug and deepened the spring, and since July, 1893, the family has used the water for all domestic purposes.

One night recently a heavy electric storm passed over the cascades, accompanied by vivid displays of lightning. The following day Mrs. Stromstadt, while kindling a fire in the stove, found it almost impossible to separate the stove lifter from her hand. Her husband, hearing her scream, ran to her assistance, when, to his surprise, he found that he, too, experienced great difficulty in detaching any article of the family sat down to the meal. The children, girls of five or seven years, respectively, drank their milk from tin cups, and upon raising the cups to their mouths found themselves unable to detach the cups from their lips. Stromstadt, who is an intelligent immigran from Sweden, was nonplussed, and, while unable to account for the wonderful occurrence, nevertheless laughed at his wife's excited declarations that the family was bewitched.

A member of the Portland, Ore. academy of science, to whom the cir cumstance was related, says that the Stromstadt family has become saturated with iron, which was rendered magnetic by the passage of electricity from the clouds to the earth during the recent electric storm. Stromstadt him self takes the matter philosophically, and aside from the inconvenience of having his head decorated with a fringe of knives, forks and teaspoons, which are attached to him, is inclined toregard the occurrence lightly.

A SUCCESSFUL APPEAL. Young America Fired the Paternal Hear

The peculiar brightness of Boston children is established anew by a story printed in the Journal. It concerns a girl twelve years old, whose father told her just before the Fourth of July that he could not afford to buy any fireworks, but that she and Willie would have to watch the other children. The small brother seemed quite re-

BAD ROBBERS signed to the inevitable, and on the morning of the Fourth marched across the street to see the other boys fire their torpedoes.

The little girl was not so easily satisfied. At first she could not believe but that it was a joke, and hunted all over the house for bundles which might suggest firecrackers. At breakfast, however, when nothing was said about fireworks, she became convinced that her father had really meant what he said, and that she and Willie were to have no firecrackers, nor even a bundle of torpedoes. All at once she covered her face, burst into tears, and said: "O papa, what do you suppose Samuel Adams and George Washington and John Adams and John Hancock would say if they were alive?" That was too much for the fond father, who came home two hours afterward loaded down with firecrack ers, torpedoes, pinwheels, Roman candles and what not.

Well, sir, you ought to have seen those people! Some of them saughed right out, and those that didn't had hard work not to. I found out afterward that when the rector said 'More light!' he was not giving directions to me, but quoting
