In cotton yarns the export diminished by ver 25,000,000 pounds and in cotton piece goods by 250,000,000 yards, as compared with the experts in 1892. While this shows a heavy immediate lo s to manufacturers and to labor, it is indicative, however, of decreased stocks of cottons in purchasing countries, unless other manufacturing ountries have met the deficiency in the Englis , trade, which does not appear reasenable in face of the large stocks of raw cotton that are available. In textile fabrics the exports decreased by nearly $10,000,000, and in woollen and worst d yarns by nearly $3,000,000, and in woollen goods by $3,500,000. Metal poor's, hardware and cutlery all fell off in quantity and value; tin plate exports decreased by nearly $500,000, amaller purchases by the United States representing the full ame int of the decline. They have been the pioneers of vertical writing. For the last twenty years almost every telegraph operator in the country has written a round, vertical hand, writing known, with round, fat loops for the letters which drop below the line, and simple capitals. This teleprapher's handwriting has much in mmon with the English "civil service handwriting," which may have preceded it, but the civil service hand is less often vertical and has certain points of difference. Men's handwriting tend in a general way to conform to the fashion of Roman print prevalent at any time, and as the most ordinary print letter nowadays is of a round or Scottish face, it is not strange on the is toward a round letter. Women's chirography is more capricious in its fashion, though it has inclined pretty steadily now for several years toward angular Briticism.
