the senate for two hours. He said that there had been no opportunity for presenting the woolgrowers' side of the contention to the other branch of conress, for the reason that owing to the brief time allowed for debate, the wool schedule had never been reached in that body. He presented fully and supported vith numerous tables and statistics the voolgrowers' side of the controversy, and showed the enormous losses sustained by the woolgrowers by the depreciation of the value of sheep and wool during the past six years. He declared that by reason of the enormous importations in anticipation of the exactment of a tariff law, the woolgrower would not receive much benefit from a protective tariff for four years sledge hammers in their hands and He asserted that whenever a tariff

RIZAL'S WIDOW IN THE FIELD. She Commands a Rebel Company at the Philippines. TACOMA, June 4 .- News has been re ceived here via Hong Kong that the beautiful widow of Dr. Rizal is now commanding a company of Philippine sland rebels armed with rifles, making her headquarters at Naic, Cavite province. Last month definite information was received that she and her company were in Cavite awaiting the expected activity of the Spanish troops in that section.

Mrs. Rizal was a stepdaughter of a retired Hong Kong gentleman who went to Manilla for his health. There his daughter met Dr. Rizal and married him against her parent's wishes. When her husband was captured and shot Mrs. Rizal determined to devote her life to the cause he had espoused, and soon as her preparations could be made, she took the field. The Spanish minister at Tokio received telegrams May 10 stating that the Spanish had just won three victories in Cavite province, inflicting heavy losses on the rebbels. All Quiet at San Quentin.

URBANA, O., June 4.-Never was there such a tragedy in this city as that enacted at 2:30 this morning. Two men lay dead and six seriously younded, with one more that may die, The trouble that lead up to this tragedy was an attempt to lynch Click Mitchell who recently criminally assaulted Mrs. Eliza Gaumer, widow of the late publisher of the Urbana Democrat. Mitchell had plead guilty and had been sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment, but the people of Urbana demanded his life as a sacrific for his crime, and a company of militia had been called out to guard him.

When the clash between the militia and the citizens occurred an attempt was being made by a mob to enter the jail from the rear. The militia were in the hall on the second floor, and standing at the windows. Higgins, of West Liberty, and another man had had broken the glass in the door leading to the hall from which the jail is entered. Suddenly the militia opened fire without warning, and Higgins fell back with the exclamation: "My God, I am shot!" SUGAR SCHEDULE NEXT.

Tariff Debaters Get Through the Wood Sections and Are Ready for Sugar. WASHINGTON, June 5 .- When the senate laid aside the tariff bill tonight. it had reached the sugar schedule, which has been the subject of so much interest and conflict. During the day, many of the paragraphs of the wood schedule had been agreed to, but that restoring white pine lumber to the dutiable list at $2 per 1000 provided the greatest stumbling block encountered since the debate begun. It led to an extended debate during which a wide divergence of views was developed on the democratic side of the chamber. Bacon gave his support to the committee rates, saying it was essettial to the lumber industry of the South He also spoke in favor of the revenue tariff so adjusted as to give equal benefits to all industries. Bacon and Vest clashed several times on tariff docterines. Paper balls, pasteboard boxes, books and even market baskets were used at a game of pitch and toss. A couple of facetious members broke up the tops of their desks and with the pieces pounded the remnants. Votes on many bills were recorded and nobody but the clerks knew how they were recorded. Bills were passed and nobody but the speaker and clerk knew the bills by number or title. In the senate personal encounters were narrowly avoided. The congressional appropriation bill

An Appeal For Help.

> Herald from Havana says: A strange appeal on behalf of the starving and dying reconcentrados in Matanzas, who excited pity in the hearts of General Lee and Mr. Calhoun, has been made to the people of the United States. The principal matter set up in the petition is as follows.

"First and foremost, let it be said that in unhappy Cuba we can do nothing to help our suffering countrymen. The pacificos that have huddled in our city would be looked upon as traitors for so doing, and as such we would be summarily dealt with. We must not feel for them; we must be blind and deaf to their sufferings, and do nothing that can in any way interfere with Weyler's policy of extermination. "We have to witness day after day cenes of horror which no language can describe, and yet no voice can be raised to protest against them. To Spain we cannot appeal for succor. She is well acquainted with the present condition of affairs in Cuba, and so far not a farthing has come to us from her, and yet we have sent her our money freely whenever the Spanish people have been in want or distress. "Upward of 10,000 of the victims of this savage system of warfare have been crowded into Matanzas without providing for their most natural wants; and after they have been compelled to abandon all they had in the world, they are to be seen in crowds, from 8 o'clock in the day until late at night imploring charity.

"In any other country this state of affairs would have brought on disturbances and riot; yet our people, suffering as they are: have not done anything that could in any way disturb order. Can there be a better illustration of a peaceful disposition?

"Tender, loving mothers of Amer ica, to you in particular we appeal in our humane undertaking. Send us the mighty aid of your motherly co-operation; enlist in our crusade against crime and barbarity and the blessings of thousands will rise to heaven as a fit hymn in your praise. Think that at your very doors there are mothers who love as dearly as you love, and who day after day see their little ones perish in our streets out of sheer hunger and in most cases without a piece of rag to cover their nakedness.

"As for us, we cannot do our work penly. We have to beg for food for the hungry and clothing for the naked, concealing ourselves and our names as if we were doing something wrong, and we therefore suggest that if any relief is to come it should be entrusted to the American consuls for distribution, and we woold also suggest that the sending of help in the way of provisions or clothing has its inconveniences and it might give the officials an opportunity to interfee and thwart the object in

JEFF CORLEY SHOT. Wounded in the Mountains, He Dies While Being Taken Home. Jeff Corley, 17-year-old son of Bert Corley, of Mountain View, this county, accidentally shot himself at his sheep camp in the mountains and was buried Saturday in Mount View. News of the unfortunate affair reached Pendleton Saturday evening and full particulars came today, being brought by John W.

Ray, who is serving on the circuit court grand jury in this city. Jeff Corley was herding sheep in the nourtains 25 miles beyond Ukiah, in the John Day region. In the evening. the sheep baving been put in the cor ral, Charley went to a creek near the cabin with a pail to get some water. He had his pistol, which sheepherders always carry, slung from a belt which was about his shoulders. The pistol was in a holster too small to hold it securely, and, as Charley stooped to the creek, the weapon fell and struck the edge of the pail. It was discharged as it fell. The bullet entered Charley's body above the heart, ranging upward, and was seen almost to have come out at the shoulder blade. The camp tender was there at the time and came to young Corley's assistance. Corley asked the camp tender to cut out the bullet. The tender said he would after awhile, and to Corley's anxious inquiry answered that he thought the wound would not prove fatal. The tender worked two hours over the young man and then went to Ukiah, 25 miles away, to summon Dr. Alexander, who arrived Thursday evening, the shooting having occurred Corley was on Thursday carried seven miles to a wagon road and then started toward Ukiah, dying on the way, at about 10 o'clock in the morning, Friday.-East Oregonian

About Postoffice Appointments. The rule announced shortly after the administration assumed power that nostmasters would be allowed to serve out their full terms unless removed for cause has been modified, and it is expected that wholesale appointments to postoffices will be made soon, says Washington dispatch.

The reason assigned for the modification of the announced policy of the administration, is that it is the desire of the postoffice department to fill as many offices as possible before the expiration of the fiscal year (July 1), in der that appointments may begin with the new quarter.

CALVE PRAISES AMERICA. Says She Would Prefer It to Any Country But Her Own.

Mme. Calve is as loyal to the Americans when she is in Paris as they are to her when she is in New York, says Harper's Weekly. She has been talking to a Parisian reporter about L'Amerique, and assures him that it is an enchanted and dreamlike country, to which, if she were not French, she would wish to bebuildings in Paris, and brilliant electric lights. Even more warmly she praises the remarkable de elopu our artistic instincts, which encour artists to give full swing to their true temperaments and to interpret the masters according to their own ideals. Melba, it seems, has told a Parisian interviewer that after singing in opera in America she hardly dares risk herself on a Parisian stage. Calve says she sympathizes with her, and, fond as she is of the Parisian public, looks forward with trepidation to appearing before it again.
