

ITEMS IN BRIEF

From Wednesday's Daily.
Hon. H. W. Silver, of Siskiyou, is visiting in the Dalles.
L. S. Logan and I. Sichel came up from Portland last night.
Today John McNunan and Mabel L. Gibson were granted license to wed.
Frank P. McCully, one of the leading business men of Joseph, Walla Walla county, is in the city.
Mrs. Leo Bunch and children left today for Oregon City for a visit of a few weeks with her parents.
Dr. Hollister, surgeon of Co. G, went to Camp Jackson this morning to spend a day with the National Guards.
A Lipman, Prineville's leading furniture dealer, is in the city and will visit Portland before returning to Prineville.
No Sinnott, Will Crossen and Ray Logan, went to Hood River today, and while there will visit the soldier boys at Camp Jackson.
Wm. Baxter of the Webfoot Planter, is up from Portland completing the information for the new Wasco and Sherman county directory.
Rev. Joseph De Forest returned last night from Portland. He was accompanied by his family who will spend a few days visiting in the city.
Quite a number of delegates to the Sunday school convention left on the boat and train this morning for their homes in different parts of the state.
The first load of 1897 hay delivered in this market was brought in by C. R. Hill, who was one of the first farmers to begin harvesting this season.
This paper is under obligations to Messrs. J. K. Groom and A. A. Morse, secretaries of the Sunday school association, for reports of the proceedings of the convention.
At the stock yards today are two car loads of fat cows that will be shipped to Troutdale tonight, also four car loads of hogs from Walla Walla county that were taken off here to feed.
The fruit growers of Yakima and vicinity thought they had risked their orchards in San Jose, but when Mr. Schabon visited that place a few days ago he found scale quite plentiful on the trees.
Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Wallace left this morning for their home at Antelope, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. G. P. Morgan. Mrs. Morgan will spend a month visiting at Antelope and Mitchell.
Call on C. W. Phelps for the light ruing Jones reapers, binders, mowers and headers, also the Buffalo Pitt thresher. Extras for all these machines kept in stock. Prices right and terms reasonable.
Prof. Wm. McKee, of the college of Montana, located at Deer Lodge, is in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Parrott. Prof. McKee will spend a few days in The Dalles, then go to San Francisco for a short visit.
Chas. Alden, first officer of the Regulator, is now a full-fledged captain, having passed the required examination and been granted a license as master. He is now authorized to take command of any boat plying inland waters.
A. L. Mohler, recently appointed general manager of the O. R. & N. Co., passed down the coast last night in company with President McCall. Mr. Mohler will have headquarters at Portland and will at once enter upon the discharge of his duties.
The monitors Maanadnock and Monterey arrived in port at Portland yesterday at 10 o'clock and were received with booming of cannon and blowing of steam whistles. The monitors will take part in Portland's celebration, and will be the center of attraction in that city for the next few days.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fulton, of Biggs, arrived here this morning, accompanied by Mrs. J. P. Corrie, mother of Mrs. Fulton, who has been visiting at Biggs the past year. Mr. Corrie leaves tomorrow for her home at San Maria, California, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Fulton.
Ten thousand bushels of wheat at Moscow, Idaho, were sold the other day for 55 cents per bushel. The same wheat could have been sold for 73 cents last fall but the owners were not satisfied with that price, wanting 74 cents, and have lost $2850 by their holding for a raise that would have amounted to only $100.
Today the Workmen and Woodmen lodges moved their lodge property into their new hall over Harris' store, where they will have very comfortable and commodious quarters. The new hall is somewhat larger and much more conveniently arranged than the one they have been occupying the past few years, and they will from now on be very costly situated.
One of the finest saddles ever put up in The Dalles is hanging in the show window at Farley & Kester's store. It was put up by John Eston, recently from Texas, who is indeed one of the most expert stamper in the United States. The stamping is simply elegant, and lifelike pictures of birds, cattle and goats are worked on the leather on different parts of the saddle. The saddle was made for Henry Boyer of the Oregon market.
The case of Judge E. D. Shattuck, appellant, vs. H. K. Kincaid, secretary of state, respondent, is set for hearing before the supreme court on Tuesday of next week. This is an action brought to compel the secretary to issue warrants for the payment of the appellant's salary circuit judge, and the disposition of the case will determine if the secretary is compelled to issue warrants for the payments of salaries in the absence of an appropriation by the legislature.
In 1891 the state of Oregon brought suit against Baker county for back taxes amounting to about $14,000. After two years of litigation, Hiram B. Bonham, appointed by the supreme court, has rendered his findings to the effect that Baker county must pay all but about $3000, barred by the statute of limitation. This is a costly result for Baker county, when the expense of the lengthy litigation is taken into consideration, and further when the amount of interest that will accrue to the state before this judgment is finally paid off is figured in. Baker county would better have paid without all this trouble and expense.
There are hundreds of people in The Dalles and vicinity who are anxious to hear W. J. Bryan speak, though the opportunity will not be extended to them unless they go to Portland and Pendleton. He will speak in Portland on the 12th and at Pendleton on the 13th. If 1500 persons will agree to go to Portland on the occasion of the O. R. & N. Co. will run a special, and arrangements can be made for a special to Pendleton, but the rate will be about $4. It is suggested that the Bryan club take the matter in hand and ascertain what arrangements can be made for attending the speaking in one or the other of these places.

Serious trouble is expected between the settlers and sheep men in the northern part of Grant county. The settlers do not propose to have their fence corners eaten out by nomadic flocks, and they gave a formal demonstration of this determination on Indian creek one day last week. Twelve of them met a band of sheep belonging to Asia Thompson, of Morrow county, and fired on them, killing about 200 head. More trouble is expected, and unless the Grant county authorities interfere, bloodshed may result.
From Thursday's Daily.
Miss Etta Story left this morning for San Francisco for a month's vacation.
Extras for Standard mowers and rakes in full stock at J. M. Filloos' winery.
Her. L. Gray returned this morning from an official visit to Sherman county.
Postmaster J. A. Croesen left this morning for San Francisco on a short business trip.
Mrs. L. Gray leaves tomorrow for Oregon City to spend a month visiting with friends and relatives.
J. M. Filloos carries the Old Reliable McCormick reapers and mowers, the best harvesting machines made.
G. H. Wicks, publisher of the Baptist Sentinel, will spend a portion of his summer vacation in Portland, having left for that place this morning.
Mrs. M. Loner and Miss Eva Chapman of San Francisco, with Mrs. H. E. Heppner and daughter, of Portland, are visiting Mrs. Jas. H. Blakney.
Last evening the Degree of Honor dedicated the new Workmen hall by holding a very pleasant and profitable session in the new quarters over Harris' store.
The delegates who have been attending the Sunday school convention left this morning for their respective homes, all expressing the kindest feelings for The Dalles and its citizens.
Prof. J. S. Landers returned last night from a visit to San Francisco. The professor reports having had a most enjoyable visit to the bay city, though is pleased to get back home.
N. O. Cederson, of Milwaukee, is visiting in the city, connecting business with pleasure, renewing old acquaintances in the city and looking after the estate of his deceased brother.
John L. Sullivan is in training for a fight. Last Sunday he got away from his trainer, Malcom, and being so intoxicated that he had to be put to bed. Yet John thinks there is one more good fight in him.
That shower last night was a welcome visitor both to the city and country. Almost one-fourth inch of rain fell, cooling the temperature and hastening the harvesting of several thousand more bushels of wheat next fall.
John Wood is back from Huntington, where he has been delivering cattle, and reports times quite lively at that place. A large number of cattle are being delivered there to Eastern buyers, and the sheepmen are selling their wool at 8 to 9 cents, consequently money is quite plentiful.
Jack Talbot, who for some time past has been steward on the steamer Dalles City, together with his crew, has accepted a position on the Ocean Wave. The D. P. & A. N. Co. regrets the loss of Mr. Talbot, as under his management the Dalles City enjoyed the reputation of having the best steward service of any boat on the river.
Mrs. W. C. Allaway and Mrs. Frank Clark accompanied by their children started this morning for Glenwood. What a lovely summer they will have well provided with camp equipment, and look forward to an enjoyable summer camping in the shades of the Cascade mountains. Lon Oakes went with them to haul their luggage from the river to Glenwood.
When a person is losing flesh and wasting away there is cause for alarm. Nothing so worrisome as physician. Consumptives would never die if they could regain their usual weight. In fact there would be no consumption if there were no wasting of the system. The cause of this loss of flesh is a failure to properly digest the food eaten. Nine-tenths of all our diseases date back to some derangement of the stomach.
The Shaker Digestive Cordial will stop this wasting of the body. It acts by causing the food we eat to be digested so as to do good, for undigested food does more harm than good. The Cordial contains food already digested and is a digester as well.
Every mother hates to make her children taste Castor Oil. Laxol is sweet Castor Oil.
From Friday's Daily.
L. D. Cropper, of Hood River, was in the city last night.
Dr. Sanders has gone to Sherman county for a week's stay.
Miss Cora Jones left this morning for a two week's visit in Portland.
I. Sichel and L. S. Logan started for their home at Prineville this morning.
Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kieeman went to Portland today to remain until after the 25th.
Master Richard Skibbe has gone to Eлда, Wash., to spend the summer vacation.
About 70,000 pounds of wool were sold here today at prices ranging from 84 to 102 cents.
Alex. McIntosh, accompanied by the Misses Crooks, of Prineville, left on the boat for Portland today.
M. L. Linney, of The Dalles, who has spent the last two months in Hood River, returned home this morning.
Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Van Houton, of Hay Creek, are in the city, having arrived last night from a visit to California.
The O. R. & N. Co. will sell round trip tickets to Portland and return July 31, 4th and 5th, good to return July 8, for $3.
Fred W. Wilson leaves tomorrow for Prineville, where he will deliver the oration at the celebration to be held there next Monday.
Geo. Herbert left this morning for La Grande, where he expects to open a bowling alley as soon as the material can be had from the factory.
B. L. Akin and wife and D. B.

Guant and wife were passengers on the Regulator this morning, going to Portland to attend the celebration.
Miss Anna B. Thompson arrived home a few days ago after teaching one of the most successful schools in the county for four successive terms.
Misses Anna and Lena Thompson left on the boat this morning for Portland, where they will visit with their sister and friends for several days.
The Dalles will be almost deserted today as the matter of the field worker to the executive committee with power to act.
Reading the letter from G. H. Hines, to the secretary in regard to the work in Clatsop and Jackson counties, simply emphasized the need.
At 2:15 devotional services were led by Rev. C. A. Nutley, then came reports of departments of work. Report of the home department was made by Rev. C. C. Poling, of Portland. When he took the work there was only two home classes in the state; there have been four classes organized. This home class is intended to take in those who cannot for any reason attend the regular Sunday school, travelers, railroad men, and other men, every one who has to work on Sunday and all invalid and busy people, etc.
The report on primary work by Mrs. E. W. Allen, of Portland, was very interesting, as Mrs. Allen's work always is. A year ago there were primary schools in only four counties, but with a prospect of several more at points where preliminary work has been done. Mrs. Allen is her report gave an idea of how the union works and how the meetings are carried on. House to house visiting, by Lady G. Blair, of Portland. He asked that a superintendent of the work for each county be named at this convention and reported to him so that he may be able to push the matter through some responsible person in each county. Discussion brought out how the work is done.
"Progressive Methods" by D. D. Oliphant, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, of Portland, interested and instructed the convention.
A letter from Mrs. F. U. of the state of Oregon, was read by Mrs. French, also a letter from Gov. Taylor, of Tennessee, inviting the convention to attend the exposition at Nashville. Question box was conducted by Rev. G. W. Gue, D. D.
Election of officers was held and resulted as follows: President, Wm. Wadhams, Portland; first vice-president, Mrs. Smith French, The Dalles; 2nd vice-president, Rev. H. L. Wood, Shedd; secretary, A. A. Morse, Portland; financial secretary and treasurer, D. D. Oliphant, Portland; superintendent of departments, Mrs. E. W. Allen, Portland; state normal, F. R. Cook, Portland; state house, Rev. C. C. Poling, Portland; house to house visitation, Rev. G. A. Blair, Portland. Recommendations of the committee that a new department, that of the "Unseen Helpers," be established was adopted and Mrs. Emanuel Groom, of Portland, was elected as superintendent thereof.
The evening session was consumed by the address of Rev. Palmer, whose subject was "Is This Old World Growing Brighter," and that by Rev. E. F. Hill, of the "Unseen Helpers." Both gentlemen are forcible speakers, and possess the faculty of retaining the undivided attention of their hearers. Each address was an able effort, and was listened to with marked interest by the large audience in attendance.
The convention opened this morning at 9:30, and a model Sunday school was organized, Prof. R. R. Steel, of Portland, acting as superintendent. There were 13 classes, with 107 members in all, and the session was conducted as a regular school, beginning with the reading of the scriptures, the regular class lessons, during which time a collection of $3.25 was taken, and closing exercises, including a review by the superintendent. This was followed by a discussion of the methods presented by the speakers. A Sunday school, that was instructive in that it impressed upon the minds of those present the systems presented by the superintendent and teachers.
Next Revs. Travis, Winans and Hughes, of the Sunday school mission, submitted a report from the field work presented by the mission societies. It was shown that there are over 130,000 Sunday schools reported by the International Sunday School Association, and that the officers, teachers and children aggregate 12,256,000. The report also stated that there are as many children outside Sunday schools, who are receiving no religious training, as there are attending schools.
Rev. Hughes gave an interesting account of his labors in the destitute districts of Eastern Oregon, which he illustrated by means of maps.
The afternoon session of the Sunday school convention Thursday was the most interesting and beneficial of the entire meeting, and brought out a large attendance.
The work of the afternoon covered a continuation of the superintendent's conference begun in the morning, and was led by G. B. Billings, of Portland, an accomplished normal teacher, being the state superintendent of normal work, hence the systems presented by him were helpful to the teachers present. His presentation of the state superintendent's report was followed by a normal lesson with blackboard illustrations entitled "Works of a good school," by J. K. Groom. This was the only normal lesson of the session, and was carried along the lines of practical work, as introduced at the morning session.
Rev. B. H. followed with a most practical talk on the subject of "what the lesson and the preparation of the lesson" by A. U. Bannard was along the same line of thought.
Wm. Wadhams tendered his resignation as president of the association, giving as a reason that he could not devote the required time to work, and with thanks to the convention for the favors bestowed upon him, asked that his resignation be accepted, whereupon Rev. C. C. Poling, of Portland, was elected president.
The following report of the committee on resolutions was presented and adopted by an unanimous vote:
"Resolved: That a vote of thanks be tendered, first, to the pastor and members of the M. E. church of The Dalles for kindly giving their beautiful and well appointed church for the use of the convention.
"Second, to the citizens of The Dalles for the hearty welcome extended to the members of the convention and their generous hospitality in entertaining the delegates.

"Third, to the papers of the city for kindly and correctly reporting the proceedings of the convention.
"Fourth, to the O. R. & N. Co. and the D. P. & A. N. Co. for granting the reduction in fares to persons attending the convention.
"Fifth, to the various speakers who addressed the convention, for their able and helpful addresses.
"Sixth, to Mr. Wm. Wadhams, who led the singing, the ladies who presided at the organ, and all others who took part in the proceedings for their efficient and highly appreciated services.
"Seventh, to the retiring officers to whose faithfulness in the discharge of their duties the efficacy and success of the association is largely due."
This completed the business of the association, and the evening session consisted of an able address by Rev. A. W. Ackerman, of Portland, the subject of his remarks being "The Authenticity of the Bible." Mr. Ackerman's address was indeed a masterpiece of thought and expression, his delivery was perfect, and the discourse was a fitting closing of a most successful and profitable meeting of the association's seventh annual convention.
THE WORK OF FRIENDS
A Large Number of Wasco County Sheep Poisoned at Spokane.
About a month ago Chas. P. U'Ren, of Ridgeley, started to White Earth, N. D., with 4,500 head of sheep, and made the first run from here to Spokane, where he took his sheep off the cars for the purpose of feeding. The sheep were in good condition when he unloaded them at Spokane, and were left in corrals overnight. The following morning Mr. U'Ren took the sheep to the range near by to be fed, where they showed signs of being sick. Before he got them on the cars again 17 died, and on reaching Cutbank he found that he had lost 1,500 head.
Mr. U'Ren sent the stomach of one of the dead sheep to the state agricultural college at Corvallis, and the contents were given to Prof. Fulton, of the chemical department, for analysis. The professor discovered large quantities of salt-peter, sulphate of potash and common salt, and reported that the salt-peter did the poisoning, the other two being merely poisons mixed with the poison to cause the sheep to eat it with better relish.
Mr. U'Ren arrived here yesterday, and expresses the belief that the poison was put into the corrals the night the sheep were unloaded at Spokane. He and his men were very tired when they reached that place, and retired immediately after the sheep were taken off the cars, hence did not look after them closely. His theory is that ranchmen about Spokane are opposed to having sheep pastured on the adjacent ranges, and are endeavoring to do there for the purpose of feeding, and have adopted this plan of destruction as a warning to shippers.
The act is a most cowardly and contemptible one, and should be severely punished, though having been done in the dark it is not probable that the guilty parties will be detected.
THE COMMON COUNCIL
Proceedings of the Last Regular Meeting for the Year.
Pursuant to adjournment had on June 3d, the common council of Dalles City met in the council chambers on July 3d, for the purpose of closing up the business for the year.
The meeting was presided over by Mayor F. Menefee, and the councilmen present were Nolan, Champlain, Wood, Thompson, Saltmarsh, Kuck and Clough.
License to sell liquor within the corporate limits of the city were ordered issued to all persons who had complied with the requirements of the ordinance providing for same.
The committee on fire and water recommended that a record book be purchased for the fire department, and that the ordinance be amended.
Reports of officers received, and ordered that bills recommended in marshal's report be allowed.
After extending a vote of thanks to the retiring mayor and outgoing councilmen, the council adjourned to Monday, July 5th.
The following claims against the city were allowed and ordered paid:

A TRIP TO BADGER LAKE.
Experience of an angler in the Cascade Mountains.
On Thursday last week the writer, accompanied by J. A. Fawcett, started on a fishing excursion on rather "seeking adventure" under that guise.
Mr. Fawcett having an intimate acquaintance with the mountains, by reason of a former servitude to a flock of sheep, determined that to reach Badger in time to have fish for supper, it would be necessary to go by way of Cedar swamp, and the head of Jordan creek; so after a lively drive of 16 miles, we were told we had arrived at Cedar swamp, though to the eye no swamp was visible, no cedar in sight. Instead we were on a rocky ridge or backbone of the universe, with here and there a fir or pine, neither of which suggested a mountain. Now and then a lonely mosquito was wafting from his native groves and birch place, with his persuasive hum presented his bill, that in more than one instance was honored.
Here on this lonely ridge we transformed one of our good steeds into a mule-horse and soon were on our way to a pass in the mountains, marked by a snowy ridge. Logs, brush, rocks and up hill, were the obstacles to overcome.
But thanks to Mr. Fawcett, whose knowledge of the route was as good as need be, we were in due time at the summit between Jordan and Badger. Here we had a view of singular beauty. Though Jordan had been a hard road to travel, going up, we found Badger fully worth going down, more logs, more brush and a distance of no inconsiderable length.
Reaching Badger at a distance of anywhere from 6 to 9 miles from the lake, we determined to feast on fish. Of course the fish were in the water, but we had prepared to take them out. With hook and line and pole we set forth full of hope, more perhaps than the tariff bill is inspiring, to have said confidence only in part sustained. The fish bit a little, so little that it must have consumed nearly three hours to catch 25. Here Mr. Fawcett's hurry was over as he had made his promise good, that we should have fish for supper.
The trail up Badger comes as near being the devil's as anything you may ever try to follow. In some places the whole catch appears to be honey-combed with badger holes, into which your horse breaks; mix these up with logs and brush and plenty of water and gore, if you get into them you are in a muss.
Badger, sometimes called Fish lake, is near the west line of Wasco county, nearly ten miles southeast of Mt. Hood. A sharp divide separates it from Hood river to the northwest, and another separates it from the waters of Gungu-wack to the northeast.
This lake has long been noted as the home of that celebrated fish known as the mountain trout. We have seen in the lakes and streams of several of the central northern states of our union, but nowhere have we found fish so abundant or so readily taken.
At the lake we were joined by the Crag brothers, Ed and Joe. These young men are engaged for the season as packers in the mountains, and appear to be perfectly at home in all the duties of the business.
At the lake fishermen adopt two plans of getting in position to fish one is to get on a raft or float along in the lake, the other is to fish from the shore or walk out on such logs as are anchored to the land. We followed the latter method as we had no desire to get wet or to have our feet continually soaked.
To illustrate the ease with which the fish may be taken, one little incident will suffice. My primitive outfit would not admit of a fish basket so after catching a fish and landing it I would return to my stand to fish, which of course everyone would say must be as far out in the waters of the lake as I could reach, landing a fish by accident my hook dropped into the water close to the shore, not more than three or four feet from where I was standing, recovering the hook as speedily as possible I was in possession of another fine trout.
I am told that in a short time these fish get wild or the conditions of feed change, so that the fisherman may see thousands of them scudding away but cannot by any lure induce them to bite.
However, we struck it rich, and shall never forget nature's abundant provision of excellent fish had for the taking when we were at Badger lake.
Ours was a genial crowd as we wended our way out by the way of the ridge between Badger, Hood river and Fifteen-Mile creek.
AARON FRAZIER.
Sold a Steby.
Some evenings since, just as the O. R. & N. No. 1 was pulling out of the station at Walla Walla bound for Spokane, relates the Union, a man made inquiry for the baby. He signed the name "Phillips" to the porter's note acknowledging the receipt of the child. It developed later that the child was to be adopted into the family of a rich Spokane couple and that "Phillips" was enriched $50 for procuring the child. The child's identity here is not known. The train news claim that it was a little girl about two years of age and exceedingly pretty. The whole affair is shrouded in mystery.
Killed by Lightning.
The storm in Baker and Malheur counties last Friday did much damage. Near Westfall, 33 miles from Vale, Malheur county, Perry Kelsay was struck and killed by lightning.
Near Burnt River the horse was like a fusillade of bullets. The fine orchard and hay field of M. J. Hindman was injured to the estimated extent of fully $1,000.
In the vicinity of Haines, a barn was shattered by lightning and a valuable horse killed. In the town of Haines, a telegraph pole was struck.
In Pine valley, lightning knocked a farmer down, injuring him badly, and killed his dog, which was by his side.
