Regarding an Illustrated Edition The Times-Mountaineer will issue an illustrated edition of The Dalles and Wasco county about January 1. It has been many years since a special edition of a newspaper was issued in The Dalles. Therefore it promises to be of nterest and its circulation will be exeedingly beneficial to that section .-East Oregonian.

In regard to this matter the East Oregonian speaks from experience That paper issued an illustrated edi tion last January, and Pendleton and Umatilla county are now realizing the benefits arising therefrom in the way of increased business and immigration that has been attracted through the excellent showing of the resources of Umatilla county made by the East Oregonian. In this connection we desire to say with reference to the forthcoming special edition of the Times-Mountain eer, that the articles it contains will be strictly descriptive of Wasco, Sherman and Klickitat counties. There will be no attempt to reflect the political principles of the paper or any of its contributors. The edition will be isued solely in the interest of the Inland Empire, with the view of advertising its resources and attracting desirable immigration. It will be an is sue in which all may feel an interest, and we invite contributors from every section of the three counties on sub jects relating to the products, resources climate, soil, public lands, and in fact anything that will be of general interest and will tend to attract public atndian Burying Grounds at Memales Last Saturday Geo. A. Darsey and Edward W. Allen, representing the Field Columbian Museum of Chicago. were landed by the steamer Dalle City on Memaleuse Island, the noted Indian burying grounds, and put in the day industriously collecting relics When the Regulator came by in the evening the young men had accuseriously injured by the explosion of a mulaced a considerable cargo of Indian skeletons, enough to fill eight sacks and including 82 skulls of the braves whose remains had been placed in the numerous dead houses during past ages. They had their trophies brought to The Dalles by the Regulator, but no sooner had these scientific gentlemen eached here than they were arrested and taken before Justice Filloon on a charge of grave robbing. After agreeing to replace the skele tons on the island in the different dead houses from which they had been taken, they were permitted to go free and at once proceeded to carry their promise into effect. Darsey and Allen pleaded that they were working solely in the interest of the Columbian Museum and to be disthroughout the United States, having no criminal intent, and no desire to disturb the resting places of the dead. But the authorities here objected to having the bones of their departed red brothers paraded around over the country even in the interest of science. Osc.r Angel Almost Killed by an Explodlog Shotgon. Last Saturday Oscar Angel, a boy 11 years of age who resides on Eight-Mile, met with an accident that came near resulting fatally, and which will leave ts scars during his life. He raised a shotgun to his face to fire on a flock of blackbirds when the gun exploded, sending fragments of the shell and reach of the gun crashing through his face, knocking out all the teeth of his apper jaw and some from the lower jaw, cutting off about one-third of his tongue, and tearing the flesh of his face into shreds, Dr. Hollister was called to patch the injured boy, and will be able to save his life, though he will be badly disfigured, and it is doubtful if he will ever be able to talk, having lost so much of his tongue and the roof of his nouth being so hadly shattered. Resented a Drownius Boy.

On Sunday afternoon Justice J. M. Filloon had occasion to be in the right place at the right time. His little boy Ray had prevailed upon him to go to a slough above town and let him go swimming, and when they arrived at was kept full of liquor, and arrived at the appoined place they found Nedie Briggs and Bert Varney taking a bath. Nedie could swim, but Hert had not learned that necessary accomplishment for a boy's pleasure. Mr. Filloon sat on the beach for some time watching the lads splash around in the water, and finally noticed Bert floundering in deep water. Nedle observed the danger of his companion at the same time and started to his assistance. No sooner had he reached the excited boy than he was received in his embrace, and they sank in about 10 feet of water. Mr. Filloon at once plunged in and swam to where the boys went down, catching them when they came to the surface and took them ashore-The Varney boy was almost drowned when he was got ashore, but soon recovered. From this little episode, parents should take warning to not allow the boys to go swimming alone. Had not Mr. Filloon been present both boys would have drowned.

STORY OF A CAT.

So Much Electricity That a Cas cacy of a black cat as a lightning rod has been too frequently the subject of discussion and assertion to be treated at length at the present time, the drift of which is to show the apt manner in which an illustration of this popular belief can be deduced from an incident that occurred on the evening of the Fourth of July to the wife of a well-known business man of Vashington.

On the evening in question the young natron had been expending consider able time and attention upon a handome black cat, which she continued to stroke, notwithstanding the assertion of her family that by so doing she was charging herself with electricity. Finally after dark the young matron decided that a pleasant way of winding up the evening would be to go for ride on the electric car to Bethesda. ccordingly, inviting two of her friends to accompany her, she set out for the ride in high spirits.

The trio found places together near he middle of the car, and had gone a short distance beyond the power house when their conversation was intercupted by the conductor hurriedly ending over them as though to avert ome catastrophe beneath and telling to take him to be married and was sore hem to leave the car with all speed, put to it, when he bethought him of his as it was on fire. Searcely had they wheel, which he mounted, and scorched left their seats before a sheet of flame to such effect that he arrived just in burst through the floor just beneath the very spot over which the young matron had been sitting, the electrical apparatus beneath having ignited at hat very point.

Rich Quartz at Sparta. John Cobb, a mining man of Sparts. vas in Baker City the other day and created some excitement by displaying specimens of quartz taken out of the ledge recently discovered by E. S. Thompson and Kanaka Sam. Regarding the mine the Democrat says:

In a week's work, by sinking an eight foot shaft, Mesers. Thompson and Knacka Sam obtained $800 of the sunny metal, their work on Friday yielding them over $200. While they thus struck a pocket in the ledge, the rein shows gold throughout in excellent paying quantities and is likely to ecome a steady prolucer.

Mr. Cobb reports a rich find on Paddy's creek, a mile above Charles Reed's mine. This new strike is so thickly sown with gold that one man can pound out in a day, with a com, mon hand mortar, over $20 in gold These two strikes, and the mine just filed upon by Joseph Wright, near Sparta, are further indicative of the treasures in the mighty Eagle mountains, and the news of these latest finds is producing wide spread excite-
