George arrived at the hotel about ? 'clock this morning. He had just come from several large mass meetings in Brooklyn. The work of the night seemed to have told on him. He complained of being tired, but his friends and relatives who awaited him thought it only natural fatigue that follows such hard campaign work as Mr. George has been doing. Not long after reaching the hotel he retired. At about 3:30 o'clock, when Mrs. George awakened, she found Mr. George sitting in an arm chair.

"I am not feeling quite comfortable, said Mr. George to his wife. "Won't you go back to bed?" in quired Mrs. George anixiously.

"I will sit here a while," was the re Mrs. George at once grew anxious as her husband's condition. Mr. George gradually grew incoherent and ansed into semi-unconsciousness. Mrs. George, now thoroughly larmed, called her son from an adjoining room. Mr. George was now unconscious. A call was sent to a physician. Mr. George was still unconscious. All efforts to revive him failed. Without recognition of those around him he assed peacefully away at 4:45 o'clock. he Newspapers Should Be Banished from the Breakfast Table. The average man eats only two meals day in his own house, and these meals are the opportunities for social and domestic talk, delightful to the wife, who has no such opportunity as her husband of rubbing against other minds all day, and important to the children in widening their horizon, their views of life, says an English exchange.

At the first meal of the day most women like to talk to their husbands about the plans of the day, but the voman who has once received the distrait, self-absorbed growl which emanates from a male disturbed in the reading of his newspaper does not again attempt to ask her husband this or that on a subject of domestic interest. The back of a newspaper is not a pleasant thing to contemplate across the break-

Think of this, husbands, when you ook round for the casters or other suitable prop for the back of your paper, and for the sake of good manners, for the sake of your wife's feelings and the example to your children, remove your newspaper, reserving it for the train, omnibus, or tram-car.

Of course there are occasions when matters of absorbing interest must be looked to at once-telegrams of thrilling import. Why not glance at the paper five minutes before the breakfast bell rings if it is really essential that such news should be seen at once? Special occasions sometimes justify special behavior, but of your mercy let the newspaper be banished from the breakfast table on ordinary occasions.

She Pleases the Men at the Boarding

"Greatest girl at our boarding-house ou ever saw," declared Quirkly, with a riggle, according to the Detroit Free Press. "Never says what you expect her to say, and you'd be disappointed

"Dry goods clerk sits opposite her and asked the other day if she really thought there were bargains in the matrimonial lottery. 'Of course there are,' she answered, with a laugh. 'I myself have been marked down from 38 to 25.

"Old bachelor that sits next to her at the table spilled his ice cream in her lap. She never screamed nor ran away, but effusively took him by the hand and congratulated him on the coolness of the entire proceeding. "Dude boarder had the nerve to proose to her and she took half an hour xplaining to him how it was all she could possibly do to support her mother and herself. When she thought of taking on any more obligations she would
