A JUST DECISION.

In refusing to grant the petition of some 500 citizens of Union county to country, but it was not through social commute the sentence of Kelsay Porter, Governor Lord has not only acted wisely but justly. Porter was convicted, after a fair trial, of one of the most cold-blooded crimes ever perpetrated in the state. His act showed that the murder was premeditated, and was committed after cool deliberation. To have commuted his sentence would have been licensing such crimes, and would have been a miscarriage of justice. The claim that he was crazed from anger was no excuse whatever, for the evidence showed there was no immediate cause at the time of the killing to create great excitement or anger. The plea that he had previously been confined in the insane asylum and that a brother was a maniac, and had killed one of his children while demented, could be no excuse for Porter's crime. If his mind was so shattered that he could deliberstely plan a murder and execute it, he would be a dangerous person to turn at large or even to confine in the penitentiary.

The evidence against Porter was most damaging, and Governor Lord showed good judgment in refusing to save his life. To have set aside the verdict of the court and jury that convicted him of murder in the first degree would have been an exercise of exe cutive clemency for which there was no excuse. It would too have encouraged like crimes, in that it would remove the fear of death from other red-handed assassing whose temper i so ungovernable that they can plan or execute deliberate murder. Governor ord's refusal to save Porter's neck will act as a safeguard to the community in the future, as would-be murderer's will know they must suffer or their crimes if convicted by the irts.

Should congress at the report is that there was a decrease in the production of distilled spirits of of a canal and locks it would have to nearly 63,000,000 gallons, which ren- reverse the judgment of the engineers dered idle more than three thousand distilleries. There was also a decrease of a million and a half barrels in the uction of beer. But the amount exnended for tobacco in its various forms did not vary more than a thousand dol lars from that expended for this narcotic the previous year.

The report seems plainly to indicate that the industrial depression of the year under review bore heavily upon the makers of the beer, while it actually benefitted the distillers The explanation is, perhaps, found in the fact that the poorer classes of wage earners either did not have the money to spare for the indulgence of their favorite beverage, beer, or that with remarkable self denial they abstained in large numbers from drinking in anticipation of harder times yet to come, and thus have stored away the millions of their dimes and nickels that annually go for the amber liquid. On the other hand, the whisky drinkers, being more flush of funds and less apprehensive of the need of cutting down expenses as the sacrifice of appetite, plunged into more reckless dissipation than is their want when industrial conditions are normal and business moving along at its acustomed pace. Still another view of the matter is that the poorer element of society is becoming more frugal in habit.

One of the charges often brought against the spirit of the age is that marriage in the middle or wealthier circles of society is more beset with conventional obstacles than ever before. Young men with what was formerly considered a reasonable income say they can no longer afford to marry or to engage in courtship, and so they settle down from necessity to a bachelor's life. But human nature is a powerful thing, and occasionally a dividuals and corporations, who by young man and a young woman break the reason of the power thus given through the artificial barriers and get them, make a football of the governmarried without regard to them. ZEW YORK, Nov. 23 .- According to Cashington dispatch to the Herald China has appealed to Russia to ous Germany from her territory as the result of occupation by a German force of part of the Shan Tung peninsula. As the Russian legation in Peking is in charge of the secretary, Count Cassini, the minister having been trans ferred to Washington as the diplomatic representative of Russia, the negotiations on the subject are being conduct ed in St. Petersburg. It is hoped by the Chinese that the influence exerted y Russia which prevented the rehabiltation of the Turkish navy will be exercised upon Germany with equal success in the matter of her occupancy of Chinese territory. Notwithstanding the efforts of the Chinese government to get Germany to name a date when she would withdraw her forces, the German govern ment has taken no step in the matter,
