Food Famine in Havana

KEY WEST, April 28.—Capt. Small has just landed here with a body of Cubans who escaped from the Spanish authorities. They report the food supply very short in Hayana, and that a famine is inevitable unless food can be famine is inevitable unless food can be ply very short in Hayana, and that a famine is inevitable unless food can be supplied from without. At present there is terrible suffering among the poorer classes, and many leyal Spaniards would welcome an invading army if it brought with it supplies with which to save them from starvation.

To Provide Revenues.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The question of providing revenue to prosecute the war with Spain was the principal topic discussed at the cabinet meeting this forencon. It was determined to call for a bond issue, the smallest denomination to be $50. The clamor for a popular loan on bonds of small denomination meet with little fayor with the members of the cabinet.

Many Will Be Disappointed.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The first call for 125,000 volunteers would easily be responded to by 2,000,000 men if they were permitted to enlist, but the war department forbids any state sending more than its regular quota. Thus thousands of men who are anxious to enter the army will meet with disappointment.
