ITEMS IN BRIEF.

L. O'Brien, the sheep king of Klicki tat, is in the city.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Mr. Ferrel, of the firm of Everding & Ferrel, is in the city. Jess Blakeney is afflicted with rheumatism, but is able to be on Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Keller returned vesterday from a camping trip in the Cascade mountains. A number of wool buyers who are operating there left this morning for Portland, where they will remain over Fruit for shipment is not coming in very lively at present, though the Stadlemen Commission Co. is able to load out a car each day, and Ed. Kertz Is sending out a half car daily.

D. T. McRae, John McAuley, W Bannon, Jas. Krieman and J. A. Medonald, of Antelope, went to Portland today to investigate the wool market. They are all extensive wool growers.

The grand lodges of the A. O. U. W. and Degree of Honor will both be held in The Dalles next year. This is the first instance where the grand lodges of these orders have been held outside of Portland A few very choice lots of wool were sold here yesterday for 14 cents, but this does not establish the market price. Ordinary grades of wool could be sold for 12 to 13 cents, but growers are holding out for 15 cents. Mrs. J. M. Filloon came home last night from her summer resort at "Camp Manila" (Trout Lake) but will return to the camp in a few days. The severe lately, she says, for comfort.

The enterprising town of Dufor is improving right along, several new buildings being under course of construction, prominent among which is the club rooms being fitted up by H. hurricane deck of which is to be used for lodging apartments.

The D. P. & A. N. Co. have about concluded to let the Regulator remain where it is, on the beach above Bonneville, until the water shall go down, then take it out and repair the hull. All the attempts thus far to get the boat off the rocks have failed, and to repair it where it is, is about the only course left.

The new high school building is nearing completion, and will be ready for occupancy by the first of September. The plastering is all done, and painters are working in the upper rooms. The floor to the lower rooms will be laid next week, and all the wood work will be completed inside of

The ladies of The Dalles Emergency Corps are doing excellent work, and will in a few days forward 75 "kits" of soldiers supplies to the headquarters in Portland, to be distributed among the troops. Each "kit" contains a towel, bar of soap, sleeping cap and ain't been no row at our house since bandage, writing tablet, lead pencil, bunch of envelopes, needles, thread buttons and pins. Each is done up in a colored cotton handkerchief, and weighs less than two pounds.

In a lengthy interview, Fish Commissioner McGuire informs the Astoria Budget that unless steps are taken by the next legislature to preserve the fish industry that the business will be practically wiped out of existence. Seventy millions of dollars worth of salmon have been taken in the past from the Columbia river without any great effort to replenish the supply. Commissioner McGuire advocates the appropriation of $20,000 to establish and operate hatcheries. California appropriates $27,000 for this purpose and New York $100,000 and other fish producing states large sums, while Oregon with a large product to protect has pratically done nothing.

Sugar Factory Concerning the new factory of the Oregon Sugar Company located at La Grande, the La Grande Chronicle says that the buildings will be completed arly in September, some two weeks before the beets are matured. The company is incorporated for $1,000,000 and is a close corporation, subscrip tions for stock being limited to a few individuals of means and previous ex perience in the business. The com pany owns 80 acres of land around the buildings, which will be utilized as stockyards, warehouse sites, etc. Two nundred and fifty tons of steel will be used in the construction of the factory and 750,000 bricks, and 150 mechanics are employed upon the work. Over 1200 tons of machinery are in the building with more to follow, all of American make and of the very latest pattern. The present capacity is to handle 350 tons of beets daily, which can be easily doubled at comparatively small expense. The plant will cost fully $475,000, and will be run during the season to its full capacity 24 hours each day, giving employment to 100 men. Eight thousand cords of wood will be used each season. Thirty-five hundred acres have been planted to sugar beets by farmers adjacent to the factory, under contract to the factory. The vield is conservatively estimated at 10 tons per acre, and the contract He's a Cheerful Liar. The state of Minnesota produces | 91 8831

Protection Against Fire.

While The Dalles has a very com plete fire department and the best apparatus of any town of its size in the state, still there is room for improvement. Some of the property owners have undertaken to more thoroughly protect their property against fire by the purchase of Stemple fire extinguishers and placing them in accessable places in their premises.
