A Big Battle
Fought at Manila

Three thousand Spaniards attack our troops.

VOLUNTEERS MADE A GLORIOUS DEFENSE
Spanish loss was heavy and several Americans were brought to the ground during the battle.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—A Spanish force of several thousand men, under the command of Major General Pershing, launched an attack on our troops at Manila Bay, on the night of July 19. The attack was repulsed with heavy loss to both sides.

The Spanish troops were reinforced by several hundred men, who were brought to the front line by a small boat. They were then ordered to attack the American forces, but the American officers, recognizing the situation, ordered their troops to fall back.
