ITEMS IN BRIEF.

From Saturday's Daily.

Mr. J. H. Cradlock is visiting in the city.

Judge Bennett went to Portland on Saturday.

Mr. Courlay was in the Cascade Locks on the boat today.

B. S. Huntington left today for Prineville to attend circuit court.

This afternoon C. M. Grimes shipped a load of cattle to Troutdale.

W. Maxwell, editor of the Arlington Record, spent the day in the city.

Hon. H. E. Cross, of Oregon City, is visiting his son who resides on Eighth.

Mrs. E. E. Lytle and Miss Etta Wrenn went to Portland today to attend the exposition.

Today Otto Kohler loaded out a train of 17 cars of lumber which he will take to Nebraska to feed.

Dalles merchants are making no complaint regarding business at present. They are certainly enjoying a good trade.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Myers, of Mitchell, who have been attending the exposition, in Portland, spent today in the city.

Elder C. P. Bailey, of Grass Valley, will preach at the Calvary Baptist Church on Monday next at 7:30 P. M. All are cordially welcome.

Circuit court convenes in Prineville next Monday, and Judge Bradshaw, District Attorney Jayne and S. E. Van Vactor left for that place on today's stage.

The way the little breezes have been setting real estate in motion today impresses upon one the fact that the street sprinkler man put away his wagon too soon.

Everything is in readiness for a royal good time at the fair next week. The management has done everything possible to bring attractions that will entertain the people.

The streets in the East End were crowded at an early hour this morning with wheat teams. The bulk of the wheat is being stored, only a few sales being made at 53 cents, the price that prevailed today.

The special session will probably come to a close some time tonight, and our representatives are expected home in a short time to rest up from their labors at the state capital.

The benefit of free ferrisage for wheat teams across the Columbia are being realized by the people of The Dalles. There is scarcely a day that less than 40 teams loaded with wheat come across from the Washington side.

Johnston & Co. are moving a stock of implements and wagons into their new building, and are in readiness to do business the same as before the fire. Their place cannot be mistaken, for over the door is suspended a large sign.

Miss Mary Skully, who had charge of the millinery department in Pease & May's store last winter, accompanied by her sister, passed through here on last night's train en route from Portland to Pullman, Wash., to attend the funeral of her father.

The burned district, it will be but a short time until all evidences of the fire are removed. The iron buildings are about all completed, and the foundation of Mays & Crowe's new brick is under construction.

Last evening Joe and Gus Bonn took the boat bound for Astoria for Denver. They expect to remain a few days in that city, then attend the exposition at Omaha, and from their visit their old home in Iowa. They will probably be gone two months.

A few days ago N. Wheaton visited Portland, and says that city shows more thrift than has been noticed there for many years. Retail merchants are kept busy all day and wholesalers are unable to fill orders as fast as they come in. Residence property is in demand in the city, houses in desirable locations being very scarce.

R. Newlin died at Pullman, Wash., yesterday from Bright's disease of the kidneys. Mr. Newlin was well known in The Dalles, having been in business here for some time, and went to Seattle last January, but falling in health, he returned here and stayed a short time, but went to Pullman little more than a month ago.

The action of the council last night in authorizing the lighting of the streets will meet the approval of a large number of the residents of the city. The lights will cost $157.50 a month, and will probably require an increase in taxes, but this will be cheerfully borne by those who derive the benefit therefrom.

Passenger train No. 3 between Portland and Spokane is indulging in very irregular habits lately. Owing to the rush of freight traffic on the road it gets along whenever it can, ignoring time cards and schedules. Some passengers have been suggesting lately that it would be advisable to have bulletins posted, each morning, announcing when this train might be expected.

Mrs. E. G. Sloan was drowned in the Willamette river on Tuesday last. It appears that she was subject to spells that affected her mind, and must have wandered to the river under such circumstances. She had many friends in Eastern Oregon, and two sons and one daughter resides in Morrow county and a daughter in Portland. The body was seen floating in the water but sank before being rescued.

Servants at the Congregational church tomorrow morning and evening. Sunday school at the close of the morning service. Y. P. S. C. E. at 6:30 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. D. V. Pelling will discuss in the morning "Greatness as God counts Greatness." Evening subject: Sincerity. A short prayer service to precede the evening service will begin promptly at 7:30. A cordial invitation will be extended to all who attend these services.

Mrs. Z. M. Brown, of Portland, is visiting in the city.

What still holds up at 53 cents a bushel, but there is little trade at that price.

Hon. J. Williamson, representative from Crook county, is in the city en route to his home at Prineville.

P. P. Underwood, of Boyd, returned last evening from a visit to Portland where he had been attending the exposition.

Prof. Ryan and Ollatos Alden came home yesterday from Antelope. They took in the fair at that place and say it was a success.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks and Miss Mabel Covles came home last evening from Portland where they have been attending the exposition.

W. H. Mansfield, who has been at the legislature the past three weeks, returning as expert on the same printing, returned home last evening.

For two weeks past Billy Hoerling has been confined to his room, but was able this morning to resume his duties as day clerk at the Umatilla House.

L. N. Liggett, editor of the Prineville Review, is in the city. Mr. Liggett is en route to the K. of P. grand lodge at Portland, and is on his way home.

Mrs. A. Brown accompanied by her daughters Miss Ethel and Alice left for Portland this morning to visit her daughter Mrs. H. Lacy and to attend the exposition.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald left on the early morning train for Portland to attend the funeral of her nephew, Mary DeLoach, who died very suddenly in Denver, Col., last Thursday.

Today Sheriff Kelley turned into the county treasury $375.97, taxes collected during the past 15 days. Of this amount $3272.90 were collected on the 1897 roll and $302.98 on the 1893 roll.

Senators Dufur and Micbell and Representative Morton and Roberts have returned from Salem, where they spent the week-end, and returned today well satisfied with the work they have accomplished.

Ex-Sheriff T. J. Driver has accepted a position as special police during the fair. Tom will see to it that the peace and dignity of the city is maintained while he wears the star.

Next Saturday the wonderful guide-less paper Del Norte will go in a pace on the track at the fair grounds. Del Norte is a full brother to Chehalis, and is one of the best papers today on the Pacific coast.

During the fair the O. R. & N. Co. will give a one fare for round trip tickets from Arlington, Grants, Biggs and Hood River to The Dalles, for one fare. That is, you get round trip tickets for the price of one way.

While there is considerable activity along the business streets in the city of building there is also some building in the residence part of the city, among which are the new dwellings being put up by Judge Bennett and E. C. Pease.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Emile Schutz was conducted from the Episcopal church at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and the remains were lowered to the Masonic cemetery by a large number of sorrowing friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Silvertooth arrived from Antelope at noon today just in time to attend the funeral of Mrs. Silvertooth's mother, Mrs. Schutz, which took place at 2 o'clock. The two sons, Will and Walter Corne, who reside at Calhoun, Grant county, could not be notified in time to reach here.

The bowlers did some good rolling on the alleys here during the past week. The high scores at the Umatilla house were: Monday, H. Meatz 68; Tuesday, Chas. Schmidt 65; Wednesday, H. Meatz 63; Thursday, S. Dufur 65; Friday, H. Spang, 55; Saturday, H. Meatz 63; Sunday, H. Meatz 76. Total 428; average 62.2.

The people of Oregon are to be congratulated that the special session has adjourned, and that there will be nothing now to agitate their minds until the regular session which convenes in January next. The special session accomplished some good and some bad work, but taken as a whole, it was the most respectable session we have had for a number of years.

The Dalles is filled to overflowing by that class of men who toil not, but live by their wits and the assistance of a motive looking device that induces the unwary to toil with them in the hopes of getting something for nothing. Each recurring fair week brings these men and their gambling devices, but people soon have to patronize them, so if they lose their money at any of these sure-thing games it is their own fault.

The Marlon county grand jury has indicted L. V. Ehlen, H. T. Hayes, P. H. D'Arcy, W. J. D'Arcy, S. T. Richardson, John A. Carson and William Rafter, charging them with having altered the election returns last June to further the interests of P. G. D'Arcy, who opposes the election of Judge Boies as judge of the third district. Judge Bennett, of this city, has been appointed to defend the case.

H. B. Riddell came home last night from a visit to the Cascade Locks.

Mrs. Gates and daughter, of Chehalis Wash., are visiting friends in the city.

T. J. Rorick and son returned last night from attending the exposition in Portland.

H. S. Turner, editor of the Dufur Dispatch, is in the city today attending the district fair.

Dr. Jayne, brother of District Attorney

WE WILL HAVE LIGHT

Council Anticipates Mayor and Recorder to Make Contract for Street Lights.

A special meeting of the city council was held last night which was attended by Councilmen Kueck, Clough, Gunning, Stephens, Keller, Barnes and Butts.

It being reported to the council, Mayor Noon stated the object of the special meeting was to consider an ordinance authorizing the mayor and recorder to make a contract with The Dalles Electric Light, Telephone and Power Company for lighting the streets of the city, whereupon Recorder Gates said that the ordinance which provides that the mayor and recorder shall contract with The Dalles Electric Light, Telephone and Power Company, for furnishing fifteen or more arc lights, of not less than 2,000-candle power, for a period of two years, rights to be located where the mayor and recorder shall designate, at a price of $10.50 per light per month.

The ordinance was approved by the council, and on being put on its final passage was adopted by a vote of five to two.

It being reported to the council that travel was difficult during the night time along streets that were obstructed by buildings under course of construction, the marshal was ordered to require owners of new buildings to put up lights in front of such buildings during the night.

A resolution was passed reducing the license on photographs from $15 to $5 per week during fair week.

GOOD NEWS FOR CANNERYMEN

McGuire Will Probably Be Reappointed First Commissioner.

A special correspondent writing to the Telegram from Salem says: "There is considerable disappointment among some of the aspirants for the office of fish commissioner over the fact that the commissioner is to be appointed by the governor instead of elected by the legislature."

"The power to appoint was given the governor in the original bill as drafted by Mr. Curtis, but as there was considerable opposition to this feature it was eliminated before it was sent to the senate, it is claimed by friends of L. P. Quincy, one of the strongest men in the race, promised to see that it was kept off. For some reason, however, they saw fit to change their minds and when the bill came up for final passage with the amendment attached, the Republican senator voted in the affirmative. With this vote Mr. Quincy's hopes vanished and he realized that he had put in all his time for nothing. The house concurred in the amendment, after having rejected it.

A MIRACULOUS IMAGE.

Legend of the Origin of a Colorado Statue.

Many are the eyes that are turned daily to the picturesque statue that stands hundreds of feet above the busy village of Georgetown, in central Colorado, in a secluded spot, and placed there in a most mysterious manner. With a silent vigil it looks down upon the busy populace, a sentinel of noisless and unobtrusive character, and it is said that upon the fair picture known of the legend connected therewith and the sorrowful tale of bygone times that is woven by tradition into the history of the early part of the century a great number of our thirty-year ago by an old Indian with whom he camped in Middle Park. The Indian's story, as near as the frontiersman, who still lives here, could remember it, is as follows: There were gathered in the valley where Georgetown now stands in the early part of the century a great number of the numerous tribes of Indians of the plains and mountains that had been at war as far back as the oldest child could remember. A general desire for peace had been shown by the various tribes, and the council was for that purpose.

The plains Indians had elected a powerful chief of the Cheyennes named Cor-u-co-ya, while the mountain tribes had for a leader Tuse-n-on, noted far and wide for his excellent qualities in settling disputes. Tuse-n-on was a general desirer of peace, and now brought a beautiful daughter with him, whose name was Tah-ki. She was the pride of all the mountain tribes and was known far and wide for her beauty. For six years she had been parley lasted, and broke up in a row. A battle was fought and won by Cor-u-co-ya, during which Tuse-n-on was killed and the beautiful maiden captured. The dead plains Indians were borne to the plateau at the head of Leavenworth canyon and buried. A few negotiations with the Cheyennes were held, and the beautiful maiden was sent to the plateau to be buried with the warriors and numerous arrow-points, which goes to verify the tradition.

After the battle the maiden, refusing to become a slave to her captor, was sentenced to be burned at the stake. This sentence was duly carried out. They not only burned her until her life was extinct, but until every vestige of her body was consumed, and as the last rays of the setting sun lit the spot of suffering there was a terrible convulsion of nature. The mountains trembled for a moment and the whole eastern face of what is now Republican county was hurled into the valley, burying every plain warrior beneath the mountainous rock nestled in the heart of the town, and now known as the "Rock of the Cheyennes." The captive mountain prisoners, who witnessed the cataclysm from a distant point, cast their eyes to the mountain that had hurled destruction upon their enemies, and in the face of the broken cliff saw the beautiful maiden looking down upon them, and for many years after they paid annual visits to this beautiful spot to worship at the shrine of Tah-ki, the beautiful Indian maiden—Denver Republican.

AN EVANGELIST PRINCE.

Second Son of Sweden's King Gives Up Rank for Love and Religion.

Prince Oscar Bernadotte, the second son of the king of Sweden and Norway, who resigned his rank to follow the succession to the throne in order to marry Miss Muxek, is conducting revival meetings in his father's dominions. He is being accompanied by his brother, who accompanies him on the organ or piano. In the rural districts of Norway and Sweden the pair have succeeded in arousing much religious fervor. The house of Bernadotte, being of an antiquity which dates from the time the king's grandfather, once a private of marines, sold out his master Napoleon to secure himself on the throne of the house of Yassa in the beginning of the century, could not, of course, let the prince marry a simple gentlewoman and still retain his right to the royal succession. The Bernadottes have been in good society for so little while that they cannot afford to be like those that are so busy with the duties of Prince Oscar, and he and his wife are doing good work as evangelists. Prince Oscar, besides being a good singer, is an expert at moving force, and always stirs up his audience to religious enthusiasm.

Practical Use of Water.

In certain portions of the west, where water is used for purposes of irrigation, experiments have been tried first utilizing the water for power. Suitable pumps carry it to high reservoirs, where it is used to generate electricity. It requires an enormous power by its weight and is in no wise injured for irrigating purposes. An ordinary spring constantly drawn from furnishes a very valuable power in this way, and after the water has done its work either in the electric plant or in the turning of wheels, it goes on its way to refresh vegetation in a most happy and productive. In this way it performs more than a double duty without detriment to itself or its original mission—R. T. Ledger.

A LEARNED HERMIT.

Wise Country Folk Are Much Interested in Him.

In the edge of Wise county, Va., not far from Pound Gap, lives one of the hermits, living in a mountain cabin, with no companion save his dogs, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Forty years ago Henry Lewis was a leading society man of Baltimore, but the girl whom he loved proved false. He fled to the old world, hoping to find the girl and the grace of Paris, London and Rome. Later he went to Egypt, passed through Asia and returned to America the day after Fort Sumter was fired upon. He has a fine library, of which he makes good use.

Once a month he goes to the neighboring village and buys in his supplies. He is a fine linguist and is well versed in geology, mineralogy, ornithology, but never talks upon these subjects unless requested to do so by those who visit him.

Lewis is nearing 70 and is growing feebler every day and it can't be long before he passes away. It is the opinion of the country folk that Lewis is an assumed name and that on his death bed he will reveal his identity.

STOLE LIKE HOBOS.

Nearly Everything Movable Taken From the State House.

The closing of the special session of the legislature witnessed the usual pilfering of everything movable, and that by men who are supposed to protect the property of the state instead of carrying off like the only thieves. The Oregonian correspondent writing from Salem the evening before the adjournment, says:

There were traces of wreckage in the house this morning, and three sets of bills were reported to have disappeared during the night. A hint to the wise being sufficient, the hall of representatives looks like a deserted picnic ground to night. All afternoon the members put in spare moments packing the property that had been placed at their disposal during the session, and reports are made from the desks, stationary boxes scarce in the hall, and tobacco-chewing statesmen had to hunt for cuspidors or let the carpet catch it. One dignified legislator procured a large bottle, and went about emptying the contents of the desk in his vicinity into it. Then he collected a number of inkblots and quietly packed them away in the cavernous depths of his waste basket. Another took his nightgown and tucked it into the pocket of his cap and his own, nine it is said, and got away with the whole. Many of the coats were stored with the secretary of state. So general has been the theft of portable state property by representatives and employees that it will increase evidence of the transaction of business.

Messrs. J. Knight and W. N. Wiley are shipping about three tons of quarter from a mine recently discovered between Trout and Cherry creeks, in Crook county, to Tacoma to have it tested. The rock is free milling gold ore, and is thought to be rich in mineral. The ledge from which it was taken is about four feet wide, and a pan test shows a considerable amount of free gold. If the mill test proves what is expected, Messrs. Knight and Wiley will put a mill on the mine at once and begin active operations.

The German Specialists
From Portland, Oregon.
Will be at the Umatilla House, Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2.

Persistent Coughs

If you have Chronic Catarrh, consultation is free of charge. Do you blow mucus from the nose? Are you troubled with bleeding of the nose? Are the nostrils obstructed, making breathing difficult? Are you hoarse at times? Is the mucus dropping down from the back of the nose into throat? Is your nose stopped up? Is your hearing affected? Is your throat sore at times? Do you spit a good deal when rising in the morning? Do you hem and hawk to clear your throat? Catarrh is a dangerous disease, which leads into consumption. Weak eyes cured; cross eyes straightened without operation; cataracts removed without a knife; glasses fitted when all others have failed; rupture and hernia cured without trusses or operation; sore cure for kidneys; chronic rheumatism cured.

Do not fail to see the German Specialists. A friendly talk will cost you nothing, and is bound to result in a great deal of good to you. They will return monthly.

has proved its effectiveness in curing the trying affections of the throat and chest, and this is the reason why the cod-liver oil, properly digested, strengthens and vitalizes the whole system; the hypophosphite acts as a tonic to the mind and nerves; and the glycerine soothes and soothes the irritation. Can you think of any combination so effective as this?

See how you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. Buy it in any drug store, and see that you get the right one. The name is on the wrapper.
