From Wednesday's Daily. F. H. Button, of Hood River, is in the city.

James Connolly, of Burnt Ranch, is in the city. Sam Shutz, a prominent farmer of Cross Keys, is in the city. Frank Irvine, a leading merchon of Antelope, is visiting in this city. Clyde T. Bonney, the Hood River butcher, was in town last evening. Prof. Stahl, the phrenologist, will deliver a short tecture each evening at 113 Washington street.

Today "Rebei Tom" was taken to the county farm to be cared for, he having become unable to provide for himself.

Most of the Antelope people who were here to attend the funeral of the late Phil Brogan yesterday, left this morning for their homes.

S. B. Johnston, of Dufur, one of the prosperous farmers of Wasco county, was in the city today, and paid this office a pleasant call.

A telephone message from Goldendale states that Klickitat county has gone republican by about 300 Golden. dale gave a republican majority of 70.

Notwithstanding the injuries he recaived yesterday, Judge Mays was able to appear at the county court room today and hold a session of county court. Mays & Crowe have moved their Window dressing is becoming an art, and some Dalles merchants are displaying much taste in this line. One of the most attractive dressings noticed is that in one of Blakeley & Houghton's windows where a big doll is shown representing a child just having finished a hearty meal by the use of a nursing bottle.

Letters written from Antelope ves terday state that Frank Forester, the escaped murderer, had not been captured at that time. The parties in pursuit thought they had him surrounded near . Trout Creek, but were not certain. There are men ecouring the country in every direction and his capture is quite certain. Forester has secured a revolver and probably will resist arrest whenever he is located.

The total receipts of the United States revenue office at Portland for October, from all sources, were $76,194.14, as against $20,365.85 for the same month last year. The bulk of his increase, of course, is due to the new revenue law, but deducting the possible increase caused by this, would show a gain of nearly $5000 for the month this year.

James Blakeley, of Brownsville, is in the city visiting his son G. C. Blakeley and family, being on his way home from attending a reunion of his sons at Pendleton. Mr. Blakeley is bridge. He and his wife fairly fell 84 years of age, yet retains his vigor remarkably well, and while not quite the train just the same. as vivacious as he was when he came to Oregon in 1847, is still a hail man and appears to have a lease on life for a good many years to come.

In a short time the streets of The Dalles will be lighted with electricity at an expense of about $2,000 a year. Where the money is to come from i not easy to tell. Councilmen state that the ordinary expenses of the city cannot be reduced, the present income | be delayed for a time. . It would probbeing sufficient only to meet current ably be as well now to have the work expenses, and none of these can be reduced. It will therefore become necessary to levy an additional tax, but this cannot be made available inside of eight or nine months, therefore the city will have to go in debt.

According to the Dafar Dispatch Col. Ormsby, U. S. forest supervisor, is of the opinion that sheep grazing in the mountains reduced the water supply in streams. The Dispatch does not state whether the colonel attributes the shortage to the amount of water the sheep drink, or to thei tramping the ground so that it will not serve as a storage of moisture. The colonel will no doubt make a report to the department, when an inwill be thoroughly discussed.

Some people seen to have been instilled with the idea that The Dalles is retrogressing because of some trade having been cut off on account of the building of the Columbia Southern railThe Dalles has always been and will for Eastern Oregon, because better facilties are offered here for doing ousiness than at ony other point.

Farmers in Wasco county are instituting a new system of cultivation. says J. B. Haveley, which will result n greater crops being raised on all the grain fields. Mr. Stubling is in receipt of a telegram from Secretary of War Alger that his son will be disharged from duty, and permitted to leave the army.

The reasons for Mr. Stubling asking the discharge of his son may be more fully understood from the following letter Arthur wrote under date of September 25, at Manila.

foundation, and the report published in the Oregonian about the Oregon and California boys pillaging is an untruth. How or for what reason the correspondent could have manufactured his article is beyond my comprehension. His reference to our officers is partly true but in many cases he has laid the blame in the wrong place. "His slanderous references to our colonel is a vile fabrication. There is no officer in the army here who has won more respect and admiration or has been entrusted with more responsible positions, than Col. O Summers. "There is, however, one officer. Lieutenant Platt, regimental commis sary, who is deserving of reproach To him we owe our starvation and bad treatment while on board the Australia coming over from San Francisco. The feeling among the soldiers of the regiment against Leiutenant Platt Miller and David Creighton appointed is very bitter, and unless he goes on a long visit when he gets back to America he will probably serve a few months in the hospital. "On account of his negligence of incompetency the fresh meats, fruit and vegetables put on board our shir at San Francisco were allowed to spoi while we were compelled to live on pread, coffee and fat bacon. All we saw of the 30 tons of fresh meat was two meals, and the rest together with the potatoes, cabbage and onions that were furnished by the government to feed us while on the ocean journey was allowed to spoil and be thrown

Portland, Mr and Mrs. J. M. Murchie. About 2:30 o'clock this morning while some seven or eight men were sitting in the back room of Ben Wil-Farland, of Seattle, Mrs. Gertrude Sylson's saloon, the night barkeeper, vester and son. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henry St. Arnold, heard some one enter the front door. The room in which the bar is located is cut off from the back room by a partition reaching nearly to the ceiling and is reached ding supper was served, and at 11 by two swinging doors, while the bar s reached by an opening the at west side of the building. Mr. St. Arnold stepped into this opening when he for a short visit, and with them so was confronted by two men with masks the best wishes of a large circle of imover their faces and revolvers in their hands, and one of them ordered him to throw up his hands. He jumped behind the partition that seperates the two rooms, but no sooner had he done so than one of the men came through the swinging doors and cov red the men sitting there with his revolver, ordering them all to stand un with their faces to the wall. While he had them thus corralled the other robber pried the cash till open with an ice pick and took its contents and also pulled out all the valuables He secured about $135 from the cash till, $100 being Mr. Wilson's money and $35 that had been deposited in the saloon.

After looting the place the robber passed out the back door toward the depot, leaving the inmates so bewildered that they scarcely knew what had happened.

General Miles' Report Will Tell Disagreeable Truths.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 .- A special to the Heraid from Washington says: Major-General Nelson A. Miles has completed and submitted to the war department his report covering the entire period of hostilities between the United States and Spain.

It could not be learned at the war department whether this report in its entirety will be given out for publication in the pear future or at all. It is said that certain portions of the report may be withheld. The sum and substance of the reasons for withholddrawers back of the counter, emptying ing it, it is said, is the fact that the retheir contents on the floor in search of port is said to deal squarely with matters that certain officials prefer to keep in the background.

Friends of General Miles, who claim to be cognizant of the contents of the report, say it is exhaustive in dealing with the minutest details, and many things which have not been clear to the general public as to the conduct of the saloon soon after the robbery, and the war are fully and comprehensively

That the report is thorough and exhaustive is shown by the fact that it covers nearly 200 sheets of closly type written manifold paper and includes telephone and came to the scene of all dispatches sent by and received by General Miles. It, in fact, covers all the part taken by the army in the war and deals in the most minute details, with the period beginning with General Miles' landing in Cuba and until heleft the island of Porto nico to

The report practically states that he muddled conditions of matters relating to the army status is due to the fact that much information that was given out was contradicted by the secretary of war. Contained in the report are true copies of every telegram that passed between General Miles and the war department. None of them are curtailed or mutilated, and it is said if the report is published in full, many of who were in the saloon can give a these telegrams and portions of others will be made public for the first time. These telegrams, it is further said, will tell truths that it is alleged have so nounced the bans uniting Joseph far been suppressed.
