James Blakeney, who has been un der the doctors care in Portland for several months, came up to visit his family yesterday. His limb is improving slowly and although the plaster cast has been removed he is not permitted to bear any considerable weight on the limb. Last night Tom Driver who was act ing as night watchman in the absence of Mr. Phirman got on the trail of several drunken Indians in the east end. All but one escaped in the darkness and this one victim was lodged in the city jail where he passed the night. He was brought before the recorder this morning and fined $2.50 which amount was paid by the siwashe's father and the victim was discharged. He stated that they had been drinking alcohol, but as usual, refused to tell where they obtained the same.

County School Superintendent C. L. Gilbert submitted his report for the year ending March 6. The report is quite a lengthy one and space will not permit us to print the same. It shows plainly, however, that the public schools of Wasco county were never in a better shape than at present. The attendance in all the schools during the year has been unusually good, and a splendid collection of teachers are employed. Numerous new school buildings have been constructed during the year and throughout, the condition of affairs are most satisfactory.

Sheriff Kelly returned last evening from Salem where he had been with Richardson the man who was com mitted to the asylum from this county a few days since. While at the asylum. Mr. Kelly inquired about the patients who have been committed from this city. Richard Fulton still labors under the delusion that the Mormons are after him, and is little improved. Mrs Sheffield is about the same as she was when committed there, being very little, if any better, while Miss Laura Donaldson is improving rapidly and is at present in the convalescants ward.

Andrew Kellar, the enterprising proprietor of the Oregon Bakery and Cafe, seems to be never satisfied except he is making improvements in his place of business. His last move has been to put in a water motor which he will use for the purpose of running the ice cream freezer. It works superior to anything of the kind that we have ever seen, freezing seven gallons of ice cream in ten minutes, and doing it in a manner superior to that done by ! hand power. By the new contrivance Mr. Kellar is enabled to supply his patron's with any quantity of ice cream on the shortest possible notice.

A. E. Lake, of Wamic, is in the city. In speaking of the proposition of floating logs from the mountains down the Deschutes to the proposed mill sight, Mr. Lake says: "We have o far peen unable to give it a fair trial as the logs we started down were put in during a freshet, and as the water recided rapidly the logs were left along the banks, high and dry." In a short sime they will be rolled back into the stream and as the water is at a more favorable stage the yenture will be thoroughly tested. The only fear is that the boom will not hold the logs after they arrive at the mill sight. Mr. Lake figures that under ordinary circumstances it will take 60 days for a

Such an action would seem unnecessary, since no doubt the matter was gone into fully by the coroner's jury, but if the the investigation were not full and thorough, it is the privilege of the post or anybody else to demand another investigation.

Last Saturday afternoon the Wasco County Forest Reserve Protective Association held a regular meeting in Dufur, presided over by I. D. Driver president of the association, with M Anderson acting as secretary. At the meeting the constitution and bylaws of the association were adopted and the objects of the organization were fully set forth. In the constitution it is announced that the objects of the association are to aid govern ment officials in enforcing the laws fo the protection of the forest reserve, and to use all efforts to protect the water supply along the eastern slope of the Cascade mountains in Wasco

To carry out these aims the associaion voted to offer a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of any person willfully or negligently setting fire to the forests within Wasco county The executive committee of the association was also authorized to pay the expenses of any member who dectects persons violating the regulations governing the reserve, and every mem ber pledges himself to report any violation of the forest regulations that nay come to his knowledge.

RUN OVER AND KILLED. Kahler Knocked off a Trestle Near

About 8 p. m. Sunday F. Kahler, an agent for the White Sewing Machine Co., was killed near Moro by being run over by a Columbia Southern train. It appears that Mr. Kahler was out walking on a high trestle this side of Moro when the train from Biggs was pulling into the town, and the train was going down a steep grade at quite a rapid rate, so when the engineer saw a man on the track he could not check the engine, and as there was no possible way for the man to get off the track he was run into and killed almost instantly. Deceased was about 60 years of age, and his former home was at Niagara, New York. He had been in the employ of the White Sewing Machine Company for a number of years, and some two weeks ago was sent to The Dalles to look after the company's interests, having made his headquartes at Johnston & Co's store. Last Saturday he left for Moro to look after some business for the company, and can prevent a flood, as all the water it is presumed he was out for a walk when the accident occurred.

Since March 1, 1893, he has held the office of fish and game protector in this state, for personal property tax for 1894, as vided attention, and during his life as a public official he won the respect and confidence of all. Editor The Oregonian In your issue of April 1st, was an ditorial headed, "The Republican party will succeed itself in 1900." Then you say, "No party that fought to a successful conclusion a domestic or foreign war was ever defeated at the polls in America." The Mexican war was a foreign war, and the whig party, the predecessor of the republican party, said it was "A democratic and unboly war." James K. Polk, a lemocrat, was president, and both nouses of congress were democratic by a good working majority. The first battle of the war was fought May 8th, 746. The war lasted over eighteen months. With many hard fought battles our armies never met with defeat: but were victorious from start to finish and when our flag floated over the capital of Old Mexico, the Mexicans sued for peace. Instead of sending five psalm singing statesman to Paris to make a treaty of peace, President Polk sent Nicolas P. Trist to Mexico with terms of settlement, which were accepted by the Mexican government. If you can name any war in ancient or modern times that was prosecuted more successfully than the Mexican war, please name it. Yet-the democrats had a majority of 48 over the whigs in the 29th congress in the lower house, which was in session when the war commenced May, 1846. The congressional elections held in November, 1846, six months after the ommencement of the war resulted in giving the whigs control of the 30th was happily received. Miss Blanche met at the polls after the war started, but this was not all. In the presidential election following the war in 1848, the whigs elected General Taylor over General Lewis Cass, the democratic candidate.
