Wasco was the ninth county to pay its state taxes in full. Its contribution to the state fund amounting to $17,512,.15, was received by the state treasurer on Thursday. On Thursday Governor Geer com muted the sentence of J. M. Olberman, who was to have been hanged at Rose burg yesterday, making his punishment imprisonment in the penitentiary for life. The common council of Penoleton at a meeting held last Wednesday evening, passed an ordinance author issuance of bonds to the amount of $150,000 to take up the present floating debt of the city.

The state treasurer has resumed the payment of state warrants drawn on the general fund. The recent legislature made such a run on the treasurer that he had to suspend payment soon has evough cash on hand now to meet immediate demands.

A special correspondent to the Oregonian writing from Dawson says: "Selwin creek has proved a disappointment. Of the 200 men who were there during the winter not more than 20 remaio. The Mr. Klein mentioned is Frank Klein, of this city, who went to the Klondike nearly two years ago.

Perrault Bros., the wheat kings of Sherman county, were in the city to day. They say crops in Sherman county look fairly well at present, though it is too early in the season to estimate what the crop will be. There was more spring wheat sown in that county this year than ever before, and if the weather is favorable there will be a heavy barvest. Most of the fall sown wheat, Messrs. Perrault say, was killed and had to be resown.

The old hull of the steamer Dalles City is being repaired and will be con verted into a barge for conveying sheep up and down the river. A fence i being placed around the outside of the hull, and when ready for use will carry about 1,000 head of sheep. During the summer months the boat company is often called upon to move more sheep than the boats will accomodate, but by the use of the barge the work of handling all the sheep that are offered can be accomplished.

Today three big freight teams were loaded at Moody's warehouse with goods for John Day town. That place is within 90 miles of the railroad at done from The Dalles. This is another evidence of the superiority of The Dalles as a shipping point. When merchants have their goods freighted miles by railroad, there must be a saving in it to them.

AFTER INLAND TRADE.

Interior. The Prineville Review, commenting on the report that he Columbia Southern will build to Antelope this season,

"We understand that it is the intention to complete the road to within 8 or 10 miles of Antelope this summer There is no doubt but what the O. R. & N. is behind the Columbia Southern. They are certainly friendly in regard to the interchange of traffic rates. The principal reason no doubt, for the O. R. & N. in launching this enterprise, is their dislike in reference to The Dalles people in putting on the Regu lator line of steamers from The Dalies to Portland, thereby lessening their profits in the passenger and freight lines. This line of steamers has been reports everything prosperous in the very annoying to the O R & N. people and they now have a chance to get even with The Dalles. This proposed road will tap the country largely tributary to The Dalles and the trade from this section has been worth thousands of dollars to The Dalles people. Terminal facilities will undoubtedly be provided at the terminus > the immense amount of traffic that will pass over their line. "Our people are getting to think that better times are in store for them and that we will not always be isolated from our shipping point. Whether the proposed line will ever reach Prineville, is not worrying us but little If we can secure terminal facil. ities within 60 or 75 miles without having to pay excessive tolls, we have accomplished something to our advantage; then we will pursue the even tenor of our way and wait for some thing else to turn up. Our stock interests, our wool industry and our mining industry cannot always be overlooked. Our mines are proving that they will be an immense-actor in future years, and if the mining regions in the different portions of Central Oregon are not tapped by branch railroads you can put us down as a bad profit. Here is something for The Dalles to think about. The people of Crook county want an outlet for their pro duce. They have been at the dis ad vantage of bauling their products from 100 to 200 miles by wagon, and they know the advantages of quicker and cheaper means of transportation. In the past they have been a source of great profit to The Dalles, and they have a kindly feeling toward this place, but they will now discommode themselves to bring us favors. Probably, however, we could retain their patronage were we to offer them transportation facilities better than can be offered by the Columbia Southern. It is high time for The Dailes to again begin agitating the question of a road up the Deschutes

TOO SLOW ON FOOT.

Sunday morning Jailor John Fitzgerald had a lively chase after Mike Dunn, a man who is confined in the county fail awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of larceny, but Mr. Fitzgerald proved the swiftest of the two and caught his man though he did not get a fair start.

When Mr. Fitzgerald went to the jail in the morning he found Indian Jack up and around, and told him to build a fire, but Jack insisted that there was no wood in the jail, so he stepped inside to see what had become of the wood he had left there Saturday night. Just as he passed the first cell, Dunn darted out of it and through the jail door, out of the sheriff's office and into the street. Mr. Fitzgerald had to close the jail door before he could pursue the fleeing prisoner, therefore reached the street just in time to see his man turn into the alley leading west from Union street. Mr. Fitzgerald got up a motion that would have made a professional sprinter envious, and managed to keep in sight of the fellow, who went to the end of the alley near the Thornbury property, the turned north into Second street, coming back to the Michelbach building, then turned out on Union street until he came to the alley back of the Columbia hotel. Into the alley he went like the wind, and kept on his flight until he appeared on Court street and was met by Sid Kelly who stopped him long enough for Mr. Fitzgerald to catch up. Dunn, however, was about ready to give up the race, while Mr. Fitzgerald was only getting in good shape for a long run. after having chased his man six blocks. Dunn was taken back to jail, and it is side of prison walls antil he is taken into court for trial. The Dalles water commission met in regular session at the recorder's office last Saturday evening, there being present T. J. Seufert, president, and Commissioners Bolton, Fish, Cros-

The money will be turned over to the club and will be expended in the purchase of such instruments as the band may require, the instruments to remain the property of the club. The people of the city have been most liberal in their donations and the thanks of the club and the band ere extended to them for their generosity. By this donation they have insured the formation and main tainance of a band that will be a credit to the city, and which has agreed to a give weekly outdoor concerts Sunday afternoons whenever the weather will permit, hence during the coming summer the oppressive Sunday afternoors will be enlivened with music that will cheer the heart and make life more en-
