WORLD'S GREATEST SHOWS.

lingling Bros.' World-Famous Big Circu to Exhibit Here. Ringling Brothers' popular Worlds

Greatest Shows will exhibit in this city Saturbay, June 10. It is needless to say that this will be an amusement event of the first importance. Ringling Brothers' circus is not only the largest arenic institution in the entire world, but it is also the most colossal travleing exhibition ever organized either in ancient or modern times. In novelty, in up-to-date uniqueness, in the sumptuousness of its displays, in the beauty of its matchless horses, in the number of its high priced performers, in the wealth of its everything that goes to make up a superlatively great exhibition, it has no equal on earth. Other shows have endeavored to imitate it, but never with success. It has an individuality all its own-a distinctiveness that gives it a recognized character for originality all over the land. It has repeatedly been said and with truth that Ringling Brothers' have founded a new school of American showmen but it is a school that has no successful pupils. To announce the coming of sentmen of the five famous Ringling Brothers upon an advertisement is an absolute guarantee of perfection in arenic amusement. Unlike other circus managers Ringling Brothers are never content to rest upon their laurels. The present season has witnessed a notable increase in the magnitude of the show as well as a most unprecedented gathering of American and old-world novelties. The three rings, double stages, aerial spaces, and huge fourth-mile track are fairly alive with diverting performances, of a character never before seen with any arenic exhibition. The most thrilling of mid-air exploits. the most graceful of lady and gentlemen riders, the most astonishingly expert acrobate, vie in interest with the most sensational and wonder-creating exhibitions of trained animal intelligence. Surely the world has never seen anything to compare with the marvelous Lockhart elephant actors, Marchand's pugilistic proboscidians of Herr Souder's elephant brass band. Any one of these newly-imported great features would be sufficient to stamp a show with nerit and distinction. Equally remarkable is O'Brien's sixty-one borse act-over three-score high-bred equines all performing in one ring at one time under the direction of a single trainer. A superb menagrie and a most exciting reproduction of the exhibarating sports and racing contests of imperial Rome are important incidents of the great show, while all the new free street parade which naugurates circus day is the most gorgously resplendent gratuitous display ever given in any land or age.

Talk about Reed or Roosevelt for the epublican nominee next year is idle. There is but one man who can be the logical candidate of the republican party in 1900, and that man is William McKinley. For the republicans to discard him would be to denounce his administration, and to do this would be to renounce all their principles. President McKinley has given them a high tariff and a foreign policy to their liking. Therefore they cannot put him aside without denouncing the tenets they have followed. McKinley will be he next republican nominee.

Vages of laborers in the trust factories have been advanced 10 per cent, and the republican press is making a big blow about it. But when investigated it amounts to nothing. The trusts have raised the price of their output 100 per cent. By so doing they have doubled the price of nearly everything their employes are compelled to buy, and they have given them an advance of 10 per cent. The laborer who worked for two dollars a day has had bis wages increased 20 cents, but what he buys, if a trust product, is doubled in price. How beneficient the beneficiaries of protection are.

Ex-United States Senator W. A. Peffer, of Kansas, has been quite a joker for a number of years according to his own statement. Peffer was one of the founders of the populist party, and for a long time has been one of its chief leaders, but he has returned to the republican fold, and says be has "always been a republican except on the money question." CONDITION OF CROPS

Following is a synopsis of the report made from the crop-weather bureau in WESTERN OREGON. The reports indicate that injury has been done to the prune crop, especialy to the Italian variety. From some sections the reports indicate an absolute failure; from others, that a fair crop will mature. The bloom was as full as usual, but when the fruit began to set it also began to fall from the trees. The Italian is the principal variety of prunes grown, and a short crop in that variety means a shortage in the entire crop. The actual condition cannot be determined for a week or two more. The injury is supposed to have been done by the February freeze, assisted by the cold rains of April and May. The peach crop now promises to be good in the southern counties, but not an average in the northern counties. Cherries are setting fairly well; while dropping prevails, a good crop is expected. Apricots and quinces are undoubtedly in-try, and sheepmen are inclined to believe that the days of sheep shearing by hand have passed, and that all sheep in the future will be sheared by machine. The machines are operated on the Cottrell ranch, and the bands of sheep are driven there for shearing. The advantage is not so much in the shearing of a large number of sheep than by the old method, but in the better manner in which the fleece is taken off the sheep's back. By the hand-shearing method, the shearer was apt to cut the fiber and thus injure the selling quality of the wool. By machine-shearing, the fleece comes from the sheep's back in perfect condition, and it is claimed that each fleece is worth 5 cent more on the average than when sheared by hand.
