HAVEMEYER IS

His Position on the Tarif Criticised.

NEW, YORK, June 16 .- The Herald says: Opinions widely different are being expressed in this city in regard to the statment of Henry O. Have meyer, president of the American Sugar Company, before the industrial commission at Washington recently. Senator Thomas C. Platt said: "Mr.

democrat and his statement was in the interest of the democratic party." Edward M. Shepard, a leading attorne , for large corporations said. "I thoroughly agree with the proposition that the serious evil of so-called trusts and monopolies are evils arising from the tariff system. This general doctrine was very well put by Augustus Van Wyck, in his speech at the comocratic dinner in April. What ever excuse there may have been in the past for the maintenance of infant industries, it is certain the United States has grown far beyond the usefulness, if there ever were any usefulness, of the extreme protective system under which we now live. The true warfare against monopolias ought not to be waged by undemocratic interference with the liberty of business, but by dealing with the system of special privileges created by the ex-Former Representative John De

NEW YORK, June 16 .- The corres pondent of the Herald at The Hague gives the following outline of the English arbitration proposal. It provides for the organization of a permanent tribunal of international arbitration, which shall be accessible at all times and shall be governed by a by the peace conference for that purpose. A permanent central office shall be established with a permanent secretary and archivist and a suitable ication for the assembling of the tritwo jurists or publicists of high learning and integrity to act as judges for the tribunal. Any of the signatory powers desiring to have recourse to the tribunal for the peaceful settlement of differences, shall give notice of its desire to the secretary at the central office, and afterward select from the list of members of the tribunal the number of arbiters stipulated for in the arbitration agreement, with permission to adjoin to them any other person.
