the general amelioration of mankind. Thirty or more antagonistic creeds have handed together in a great international society, which holds annual conventions and excursions, and encourages Christians of whatever sect to mix and commune with one another. These are all protestant denominations, to be sure, but it is also true that there never was a better feeling between them and the Catholies than exists today.

And now comes the pleasing, i somewhat startling, news that the Jews are considering the character of Christ without deriding him, and that one of their most learned lecturers of the coast is delivering in the various synagogues of the west an eloquent and popular address on "Jesus, the

The following passage will give as idea of his point of view: "I found that, according to the New Testament traditions, Jesus was born a Jew lived a Jew. died a Jew. I found that the thought of establishing a new belief or even a new sect was further est from his mind; that his aim was not to follow after the heathens, but to seek out the lost sheep of the house of Israel. I found that his mission seemed to be to uplift the lowly and to expose wickedness in high places. found that he gave his heart, his soul and his very being to the poor, to the sick and to the needy. He said: 'I am not come to heal the sound; I have been sent unto the sick.' I found that he was a man of unbounded sympathies and of great moral courage; that he was simply a riving to practice and to preach the moral code established by Moses and the prophets, and so literally put into practice in his daily life the great lawgiver's precept of 'love thy neighbor as thyself.'

This may be an age of greed, and the conquest of arms may have given way to the more merciless conquest of wealth, but the religious differences of the world are growing less painful, and the persecution of men in the the slaughter of ignorant races in the name of humanity.

A BLIGHT TO PATRIOTISM.

American patriotism is something of which there has ever been an abundant supply, but much has happened during the past year to reduce it exbuberance. The treatment accorded the volunteer army has certainly been enough to cool off the ardor of many a young man and cause him to wonder what pride there is in being called an American citizen, or an American so dier. When going to war and while on the field of battle the volum teers were none too weil cared for, and the home coming seems to be no improvement. The dispatches say that before the Oregon regiment left Manila H. R Lewis, former secretar of the Portland Chamber of Commerce arrived with $500 from the Red Cross society of Oregon, which enabled Col. Summers to put sixteen of the sick soldiers on board the transport Newport and bring them to San Francisco but eight of them were left in Manile for the reason that the generous people of this state had not contributed enough money to bring them home no worse blight was ever thrown upon this great and glorious government than the fact that sick soldiers cannot be brought home at public expense, and their expenses on a government transport must be borne by charity contributions. The proposition is preposterous, is disgraceful. Government transports are, or at least should be supported by the government, but it seems that berths for sick soldiers are not provided, though they can be bought with private donations. Had the Red Cross of Oregon sent a few hundred dollars more by Mr. Lewis, no doubt state rooms could have been "bought" for the other eight sick soldiers, who were left at Manila, but under the Hanna regime they had to remain on the islands because there wasn't enough money contributed to bring them home. Such treatment of the disabled soldiers will cause many a young man to hesitate in the future when he is asked to enlist in the ser vice of his country. Such treatment will blight patriotism.

ABOUT STAMPEDES.

The last chapter in the long history of stampedes for gold mining proposition is not yet written. When it shall be It will be learned how little of the precious metal entered into the elements which originated and promoted them. It will then transpire that many stampedes had their birth in the cupidity of some, in the greed of others, including transportation and trading companies, and in the desire of conscienceless speculators to coin dollars out of the misfortune of the over sanguice ignorant and the unfortunate adventurous. It will also be seen that though a few of the stampeders unearthed a little of the shining dust, the many found only privatious, sufferings or death at the end of their search. A few, a yery few, gold The first one in the history of stamevery locality was a miniture paradise, stampedes for more gold were of frequent occurrence for the peace and elfare of those who joined in the mad rush for sudden wealth.

And within the past two years has been perhaps the greatest stampede for gold since 1849. While perhaps it is not as great in extent as was the rush to Colrorado and Montana in recent years, the stampede to Klondike has been surrounded with more danger and has caused more suffering than any since the early days of California, yet there have been plenty of brave men to go in search of gold even in the frozen north, where they have had to face the dangers that there prevail. They have carried civilization into a wilderness, and while they may not be fully rewarded, the human race generally will reap benefits through a new country being developed and new money being created.

made at least three months too late, will still prove beneficial to the service as the soldiers will not now be needed until November or December, and by that time they will be pretty well equipped for going into the field, and should be well prepared for active service. This new army for Otis will, nowaver he less efficient than the volunteer regiments which he is sending home, for they will be composed of entirely a different class of men. The volunteers were mostly young men who entered the service flushed with patriotism and national pride, who took up the occupation of national defenders at a time when their country was at war with a foreign power, hence were spurred to action by principle. The army now being recruited will be composed of a different class. There is little to create enthusiasm at present. for the country is not engaged in a the nation is undertaking to subdue. Therefore the recruits sent General Otis will be largely composed of men men will not make as good soldiers as | capital. those who volunteered to fight a foreign foe. Possibly they may enter into battle with as much brayery as did the volunteers, but the enthusiasm principle. PAY OF OLD SOLDIERS.

No government in the world has done so much for its retired soldiers. as has the American republic. nor has any other nation paid out half the money to their veteran soldiers Between 1776 and July 1, 1899, the United States has paid in pensions the enormous sum of $2,523,428,212.91, and ne of God is becoming as rare as yet the obligations of the government laws, are not half paid. Our appropriation for pensions the past year amounted to $147,000,000, while Gesmany paid only $15,599,348, and Great Britain $98,102,500, while the other European nations combined paid less than $50,000,000. Thus it is seen that America has been more generous to the men who have served in its armies than have been any of the older countries. We have on our pension rolls about 1.000,000 pensioners while all of Europe has less than 2,000,000 Our pensioners receive from $8 to $150 a month, while pensioners European countries receive a mere oltance, the men of the ranks retting carcely anything while the officers eccive less than do the totally disbled privates in this country.

A prominent English statesman seems to have a pretty logical idea of the solution of the Philippine difficulty. In talking over the situation with Senator Dep w he said. "You Americans will learn by and by that you have to deal with the Filipinos as we deal with East Indians. Square the leaders, ask Aguinaldo and a few of his generals how much of a money inducement it would take to make them live in Hong !Kong for a while, then take the arms away from their followers and put a strong garrison in every town." The scheme would probably work, for if the leaders were ought off, the insurgent soldiers disarmed, and a strong garrison placed over every town, the average Filipino would be good from necessity. Such a course would be cheaper both in lives and money than to exterminate the natives, and that seems about the only way they can be subdued as long as they have generals to lead them.

It is said that two-thirds of the men who went to the Klondike region in 1898 returned empty handed. These persons could doubtless have done better if they had gone into the mining localities in the United States. The fact that Colorado, Oregon, Washington, California, Montana, South Dakota and the rest of the states in which gold mining is going on are increasing their yield constantly is an evidence that Americans need not go outside of their own country to reach gold regions of great promise. Apparently the rush to the Klondike this year has been much below that of 1898 or the latter part of 1897. There is, in the confines of the United States, a greater wealth in gold and silver deposite than can probably be found in any other country on the

WHO MADE THE BLUNDER?

The "round robin" protest of the authorities there have suppressed the information in their possession from the public. The "round robbin" brings to light some disagreeable things, which no doubt the administration would prefer to have kept secret. It shows that there never has been enough troops on the islands (a thing many civilians in this country have realized for months), and that it has been the inention of somebody to deceive the people. The information given out from Washington, and pretending to of ten new regiments of infantry for service in the Philippines, though nonths past predicted the downfall of the Philippine insurrection, but when the rainy season set in and hostilities at the front door of the court house in ceased the end was no nearer than said county, at the hour of 10 o'clock he is evidently not the right man to 1899 keen in command of the army on the islands. If he has kept his superiors in ignorance as to the true state of affairs he has committed a blunder that should cost him his position. And if he has been misrepresented by the newspaper correspondents they are war of defense or offense, but a war of guilty of an act that should result in conquest, a war against a people whom | their being expelled from the island. GROWING THINGS AT HOME

The following from the Spokesmanto Washington, and treats of a subject that should concern every resident of the Panific Northwest. With all our Baldwin, J C; commencing nw cor facilities for production, and our capability to raise almost everything needed to sustain life, we are importing the simplest farm products, and sending thousands of dollars abroad for articles that should be raised at home: Secretary of Agricultural Wilson when interviewed on the Sound the other day said the people of Washington are importing a good deal of stuff that should be grown at home. He cited butter as one article, large quantitles of which are brought in from other states. He might have named a good many other products such as beef, bams, bacon, lard, poultry, eggs, Birgfeld, Laura E; s hf of ne qr cheese, potatoes, and garden vegetables The value of these articles which are imported represents in the aggregate a very large sum. And it means that a great deal of money is sent abroad which should be kept at

There is scarcely a product mentioned above which cannot be successfully raised in this state. In fact, no better beef, pork, dairy products and garden vegetables can be found than which have been grown within the boundaries of Washington. They are something which are always in demand, and if care is taken so as to make them of the best they will be preferred to anything that can be brought in from the east or from neighboring states.

Think of buying butter in the east when there are no better ranges and pasture lands to be found in the world than exist today here at home Creameries have been started in certain favored localities and as a rule they have done well. They have been s great thing for farmers in the neighborhood and have proved to be profitable for the owners and man-

Beef, pork, poultry, eggs and vegetables could be raised by nearly all our ingle crop farmers, and it would give them a better living and furnish the arger cities and towns with necessities that must often be imported from other states. Secretary Wilson tells us to grow more of the things we need. He has been studying the growth of agricultural communities for years. He has seen what has been done in the state of Obio in this direction and he knows what he is talking about. His advice is well worth heeding.

EDITORIAL NOTES. The Roseburg Plain Dealer takes occasiou to remark that "Bine. Herman is still the most important and influential representative of th. state in the national capital." At present he certainly is, for he is alou. All the other Oregonians are out ut the city.

When General Otis offered comm s sions to the volunteer officers in the Philippines to serve in the regimes * to be sent there, the places wer. begging among the Oregon regimen. Not an officer was found who want- ! to remain on the islands. No wond ... Oregon is too good a place to live to be traded off for the torrid climate ... the archipelago.

Portland is in sack cloth and asland Underhill, James jr: per prop.... 1 28 because the Oregon boys didn't com home for muster out. Part of Per land was actuated by patriotism in wanting the regiment to come hours in a body, then there was another purch that wanted the friends of the soldie to come to Portland to welcome the boys and at the same time leave about $150,000 in cash to a single day.

The boys of the Oregon regimes if they read Govornor Geer's messa, to the president in which he expresshis willingness to sacrifice the life ... every man in the regiment to carry . . . the war against the Filipinos, mi. 4have felt like giving him a most ci. . dial reception when they saw his tail figure standing in the streets of S.a.

Francisco to welcome them home. Kentucky republicans, like the democrats of that state, made a or ... man fight in their state convention. the nomination for governor being about the only thing considered, W. S. Taylor was the bell wether, 's Col. Gabel was in the democration cenvention, and after he was nomi :ated all interest was lost. Both parties in Kentucky seem to have fallen into the hands of bosses.

The Omaha Bee, a leading republican paper, bas this paragraph: John Barrett, ex minister to Siam, who is shouting for Oriental conquest, i- a New Englander by birth, and Oregoniso by residence and an office-seek r by profession. He was first a rept. .. ican, then editor of the silver-den ... cratic paper, became a goldbug to the tain office during Cleveland's second 5269 a......120 00 term, and is now an expansionist.

The Presido at San Francisco, Col. Summers says, is an unfit place to head troops that have just come over from the Philippines, the cold for a and damp winds being too sudd, n a change from the climate they have been in the past year. Unless they are well provided with warm clothing and blankets, he says the death ri. e among the Oregon regiment will be large. That they are not thus supplied is another failure on the part of Algar and Corbin to conduct the wardepart-60 acres..... 4 40 ment properly.
