"An article in The Dalles Times-Mountaineer of July 13th, in which the county court is criticised for the expense incurred in the suit of Wasco County vs. The Hood River Lumbering Co., makes a number of statements that are very misleading to the people of Wasco county who are not acquainted with the facts in the matter. The county court instituted condemnation eedings to make Hood river a public highway not for the benefit of any private individual or for any corporation, but for the interest of the people of Hood River and the county in genpersons might improve the river for the floating of logs and lumber, and that mills and factories might be estab lished here. The parties who had control of the river under a lesse made no of the county court to grant citizens an open river, free for the use of any lease of Hood river now nor was there the performance of certain requirements to make the lesse binding. No lease was rold, and when the condem court sought to do was to condemn | men and money for the meager results certain lands belonging to the Hood attained." River Lumbering Company adjacent Then came the third experiment necessary for making a highway of the

The Hood River Lumbering Company never had a valid lease to Hood open to the use of all. That it be made a public highway could not benefit any great number of taxpavers in Wasco county. In fact, the Lost Lake Lumbering Company, which has built a large mill at the mouth of the river, is about the only party that could be benefited by the river being opened for the floating of timber. If that company desired the river delcared a public highway, it was its privilege to apply to the county court for a lease thereof, under the provisions of the act of February 25, 1889, and to then proceed to condemn private property by due process of law, for its use and benefit in making the river a public

This company being the one to recieve the benefits of the use of the river is the party that should have born the expense of the condemnatory proceedings. It is not the province of the taxpayers generally or at least should not be, to improve rivers or build roads for the use of a few individuals or for a single corporation. Things that cannot be of utility to the general public should not be paid for out of public funds. Hood river, as a public highway for the floating of timber, cannot be used except by a few individuals, perhaps one company, therefore it should not be improved at pense of attempting to condemn private property along its banks, for this purpose, have been borne by the taxpayers of the county.

If the administration of national tate, county or municipal affairs is corrupt, is controlled by scheming politicians, or is wasteful of public funds, it becomes the duty of all papers that would wield a good influence to inform their readers of such shortcomings. Honest criticism has a tendency to make honest officials, whereas blind endorsement of every act of officials tends to breed dishonesty. The officer who enters upon the duties of his position with the knowledge that his acts, if not, strictly honest, will be endorsed and defended by the press of his party, is liable to become corrupt, but, if he knows be will be held accountable, and whatever he does will be held up to public gaze, he will be a better and more faithful public servant. It is such criticism as has been published in the Oregonian that has caused the retirement of Alger and will hold the national administration in check. Had not such as the Oregonian and other republican papers demanded a reform in the war department, Alger would still be at its head. And were it not for the fear of such criticism. there is no telling to what exten politician; would be able to contro he administration.

FORMOSA AND LUZON. A Japanese statesman, Mr. Kentar Kaneko, who is now in this country having come here to receive a degree from Harvard University, of which institution he is a graduate, has given an interview upon the subject of the war in the Philippines which contains a few points of more than ordinary interest. He believes that the Amerieral, in order that any person or set of cans, with their characteristic selfreliance and practical energy, have been a little too precipitant in the measures they have taken in the Philippines and have not sufficiently studled the experience of other nations. attempt to improve the stream, and Japan, he says, made the same mistheir lease prevented others from doing stake in Formosa when that island fell so. It certainly ought to be the duty into her hands after the war with China, and it has been very costly.

Mr. Kaneko says Japan's policy in Formosa went through three distinct stages. First, commissioners were sent to the natives and assured them any lease in force at the time the that there was no intention to intercounty court sought, by order, to con- fere with their religion, customs or demn certain property belonging to institutions further than giving them the Hood River Lumbering C. # CABINET CHANGES.

When Elihu Root takes his seat in President McKinlev's official bouse hold there will be but three of the original cabinet in office-Secretaries Gage, Long and Wilson. During the past two and one half years there have been more changes in the cabinet than has been customary during an entire presidential term, which appears as if the president either made grave mistakes in selecting his first advisors, or found companions who were uncongenial. The first change in the cabinet was

ABOUT ROADS.

While The Dalles is discussing means for improving its trade and building up business, the matter of good roads leading into the interior should not be overlooked. They will do more to increase the mercantile and shipping business than anything else, and as these are our principal interests, they are indeed worthy of fostering. While there are comparatively good roads leading to most parts of Wasco county they are susciptable of improvement and should receive the attention of those who are to be benefitted by the trade which may be induced to come here. But better roads leading into Crook, Sherman, Grant, Gilliam and Klickitat counties are of greater importance to The Dalles at this time, for by them new trade can be secured and old trade retained. A road that is of more importance than all others is one leading into Crook county, that will be free, f ir the payment of tolls is ever a drawback to travel. It is said by those who have passed over the country to the south that a practicable route can be had across Deschutes river at the o'd Maupin ferry, then up the river to the mouth of Trout creek and on to at the front door of the court house i Prineville, that would reduce the dis- said county, at the hour of 10 o'clock tance between the latter place and The in the forenoon of said day, sell at pub-

$2000, which would bring the entire improvement within $5000. If these statements are correct The Dalles can well afford to subscribe a liberal amount toward the road, while the bridge should be built by the county, for it would accompdate all those residing in the country south and east of Deschutes river. Such a road would insure nearly all the trade from Crook county coming here, since The Dalles would then be as near Prineville as is Moro, which is likely to be the termious of the Columbia Southern for some time, and if the producers of Crook county can reach The Dalles over a free road with no longer distance to travel than they can reach any other point, they will always come here because of the cheaper transportation, better warehouse facilities and higher market for their products. The trade of Crook county is valuable to The Dalles, and s worth putting forth an effort to retain, for without it our shipping interests and the business of our merchants would be greatly curtailed. Improved roads leading into the southern part of Gilliam county would have a tendency to draw all the wool business of Wheeler county and the southern part of Gilliam this way, and some of the wheat from the southern part of Sherman would find its way to The Dalles if better facilities for travel were offered. The trade of Klickitat is also ours if the people of that county are given an opportunity to come here

Goldendale railroad is yet a matter of conjecture, and will likely not be built for many years if the necessity for it is averted by the construction of good wagon roads into the country it is intended to tap. What The Dalles greatly needs today is good roads leading into all the sections mentioned above, and it can well afford to subscribe money for their construction.

Commissioner of Immigration Thomas Fitchie, in testifying before it, suggested that the laws be changed so as to import fines on any company landing or attemption to land any passengers suffering from contagious disease. The commissioner said he believed it wou'd be a good thing if all the officers of the department were taken out of the civil service. Assistant Commisssoner Edward McSweeney recited the difficulties in enforcing the law regarding the exclusion of the various classes of undesirable immigrants. He said that any allurements offered to any one to come here to labor, should be deemed suf-28 ficient to bar the immigrant. Mr. McSweeney said he believed the time had arrived when the laws should be
