WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Our fathers built wisely. We of this generation praise the work of our fathers. Liberty and opportunity have been the common heritage of all Americans from the foundation of the republic to the present time What of the next generation? Will our children applaud our deeds and bless our memories as we do those of our fathers? We expend annually to them by luw. over one billion of dollars for educa tional purposes. What is the object of this? It is to develop the faculties

The Hood River Glacier still insists of our boys and girls so as to increase that the Hood River Lumbering Co. their power over nature in order that had a valid lease of Hood River as a they may exault with greater joy in public highway at the time an order their triumphs. This is the purpose was made by the county court annullto which the school house, colleges ing their lease. It says in its issue of and universities, with which our land the 28th "Their lease was properly is filled, are dedicated. The grandeur filed with the county court," and draws of our institutions of learning and the conclusions from this statement that liberality with which we sustain them it was necessary for the county court vindicates the good intentions of this to proceed to condemn their lands generation toward the next. But and declare the river a public will the result meet our expectations? highway.

WAS THERE A BOND?

These are solemn reflections, from No doubt the Glacier thinks it is correct in stating a bond was filed by which no thoughtful parent can eecape. How can parents look into the the company, but the records of the bright eyes of the boy or girl that is county court do not bear out the statetheir joy and pride and attempt an ment. In fact they deny that a bond answer to the questions that they will was ever filed. WOULD IT. INDEED?

If M'lles had acted on that great truth which soldiers always have to bear in mind, that it is "theirs not to reason why" his future would probably not be behind him as it, is now .- St Louis Globe-Democrat.

In the eyes of the Globe-Democrat and those who are so party blind that they endorse the acts of the administration whether right or wrong, Miles would be a greater man had he kept still about the embalmed beef and "The court baving examined the the inferior provisions supplied the army. By so doing he would have kept in touch with the powers at Washington, and likely would have supplanted General Otis ere this. But in the eves of the American people he would not be as great a may as he is today. Because he did question the reasons why, he caused an investigation to be made that demonstrated beyond all doubt that a fraud was being perpetrated upon the government and an injustice upon the soldiers. His future is not behind him by any means. This has been in truth an administration of commissions, says a Washington correspondent of the Philadelphis Ledger. While the war has been largely accountable for the president's remarkable record in this direction. he has, aside from this, gone far beyond the average in the appointment of special advisers. He has appointed 21 seperate commissions, with an aggregate membership of nearly 100, and an aggregate expense of more than $2,000,000, divided up as follows: William J. Calboun, special commissioner to Cuba, $10,000. Monetary commission, $50,000. Queen's jubilee commission, $25,000, Special commission, Paris exposition, $10,000. BRYAN'S CANDIDACY.

Representative Clayton, of Alabama attended the recent meeting of the democratic national committee of which be is a member, and while in Brown, George H; shf of sw qr Washington last week he talked very Interestingly of political matters. For nstance he said: "I learned while in Chicago that Bryan would be a delegate to the democratic national convention, and I do not violate any confidence in saying that if future developments should give a peculiar emphasis to any public question, and should lead a majority of the delegates to regard any other faithful democrat as better fitted to lead the party Mr. Bryan will arise in his place in the convention and support that candidate know that he has no selfish purposes to serve, and regards victory for the party as paramount to any ambitions which he may have. 1 look upon Bryan's renomination as a foregone conclusion. He has the confidence of the common democracy of the country, as no other man has or could have. The democratic masses support him without regard to section. He is stronger than any faction of the party. and can come nearer to uniting all the elements of the party than any other man."
