BAD BUSINESS POLICY.

Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines afforded a market for over $40,-000,000 worth of Spanish goods a year. The information comes through the British consul at Barcelona, who gives the statement in detail. About threefourths of the amount was in manufactured goods. To this trade our country ought to succeed as soon as conditions shall be settled, and vastly increases it.-Oregonian.

Our imperialistic friends have been teiling us that if, for no other reason, we should hold the Philippine islands because of their great commercial interests and the market it would give our producers. But when the cost of holding them is counted, and we are told that the trade which Spain got from Cubs. Porto Rico and the Philip pines amounted to only $40,000,000 a year, it begins to look discouraging from a financial point. It looks like we are liable to pay pretty dearly for all the trade we may get from our new

A TRUE PHILANTHROPIST.

Of all the wise men of this country who bestowed their riches upon the people or in institutions for the bene fit of the masses, there is none who is entitled to more credit than Stephen Girard, who founded Girard college and bequeathed thereto sufficient means with which it will be maintained for all time. The Oregonian speaking of this splendid institution says: The twenty-ninth annual report of the directors of Philadelphia City Trusts includes the report rendered on January 1 of the current year by the authorities of Girard college. In accordance with the wise purpose of its founder. Girard college limits itself to the task of qualifying its students for success in industrial callings as distinguished from the so-called liberal professions. Stephen Girard died December 26, 1831, and left by his will a tract of land on which Girard college was to be erected and the sum of $2,000,-000 for building purposes. To the maintenance of the institution was devoted the entire residue of the estate computed at the time to be worth $3.250,000. This fund has increased to over $20,000,000, exclusive of the col lege grounds and buildings. By 1848. when the buildings were completed and the institution was opened, the annual income had increased to $118,000, and it is now about $1,000,000, after all deductions have been made for expenses of collection and for repairs on real estate. The number of pupils now lodged and taught is 1538. "First to orphans born in the city of Philadelphia (construed to mean the old city, with the limits which existed at Girard's death;) secondly to those born in any other part of Pennsylvania; third to those born in the city of New York, that being the first port on the continent of North America at which I arrived:) and, lastly, to those born in the city of New Orleans (being the first port on the continent at which I traded.") The will goes on to recite that the orphans admitted into the college shall be there fed with "plain but wholesome food, clothed with plain but decent apparel (no distinctive dress ever to be worn,) and lodged in a plain but safe manner. Due regard shall be paid to their health, and, to this end, their person and clothes shall be kept clean and they shall have suitable and rational exercise and recreation." The words "suitable and rational exercise" seem to justify the erection of a gymnasium. They have been already construed to authorize military

Should this occur this government would be placed in a most embarassing situation. Already China has shown her friendliness toward the Filipinos by refusing this government the right to supply horses for the army from Chinese ports.

Yet while China cuts but little figure, its action may be viewed with alarm, for it is hardly likely it would have taken such a stand without the sanction of other powers. So far in this war the United States has had only the Filipinos to contend with, but should some of the powerful European nations recognize their belligerency, the complications would be difficult to untangle.

The war against the Filipinos is unpopular because of the fact that Amerians do not approve any move that is intended to hamper the independence of a people or make them the subjects of a government against their choice, for it is almost universally believed that the right to rule should be by the consent of the governed. But we are engaged in a war, and since the head of our government refuses to listen to overtures for peace, the war must be maintained, whether right or wrong. No patriot will consent to seeing our flag trampled upon or the nation dishonored. Therefore the people submit to being taxed to keep up the war, although a majority are convinced it never should have been started. The war must be pushed to a final termination, but there will be a reckoning when the men who are responsible for

WORK IS NEEDED. Congressman Champ Clark in a speech at Jackson, Miss., recently said that "nothing short of death can prevent Bryan from being the next democratic nominee and nothing but the intervention of the Almighty will keep him from being elected." Such talk sounds well coming from the eloquent lips of Missouri's silver tongued congressman, but it takes more than mere talk and eloquence to land a presidential candidate these days of political chicanery and trickery. Work, earnest, faithful work, backed by good, common horse sense will do more to land a democratic candidate in the White House than all the blowtain them in action for half a year exercise any station or duty whatever ing from all the stump orators of the Further controversy over the Hood river lease proposition seems hardly necessary, since it appears that the Hood River Lumbering Co. had a lease, and actually filed a bond, the county court journal to the contrary notwithstanding. While the journal savs no bond was ever filed by the company, it appears that a bond was filed soon after the lease was granted. and the only contention that can now arise is whether or not the company has forfeited its lease by failing to comply with the terms thereof in not opening the river for transportation of logs, etc. That the records are faulty is an oversight no doubt of the custod:an of public records. And it would seem that the only plan for the people who want the river opened will be to institute proceedings to have the lease

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

Citizens of Oregon spent probably $5,000 in entertaining the delegates to the National Editortal Association which met in Portland last month, and the different railroad lines gave them about that amount of transportation. As a result Oregon is getting column after column of advertising in return. The editors who visited the state are filling their papers with articles descriptive of what they saw, and are telling of the resources of the state in most glowing terms. These descriptive articles go to the readers in a way that every statement made therein will be believed. They are written by people whom the readers know, hence will be accepted as facts, and in consequence home hunters will be attracted to this state.

Oregor needs more people to engage in every industry-agriculture, mining, lumbering, manufacturing, etc. It needs willing hands and capital to develop its resources. The reason it has not secured them in the past is that the descriptive advertising matter the various boards of immigration have issued have been viewed with suspicion, and have been considered as being boom publications, but what the edise qr of ne qr sec 9,2 n 10 e, 10 a 4 38 tors from abroad are now publishing will be accepted as facts, and will cause people in search of places to invest to look toward this state. The money invested in entertaining the National Editortal Association and in showing them the state will bring good returns, for Oregon is getting advertising that would otherwise have cost it haif a million dollars.

DOES IT MEAN WAR

For the last year we have been hugging our British cousins because they displayed a friendly disposition during our unpleasantness with Spain, and it was asserted that a lasting bond of friendship had been established that could not be broken. So strongly had their love for us been cemented that nothing but universal peace could exist between the two natious. But the Alaskan boundary question has suddealy assumed rather a serious aspect, and the British lion has begun to wag his tail as if he were going to pounce upon us. A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., says the military station at that place is to be increased and strengthened, by the addition of more men England, when relations between the two governments are somewhat strained, looks as if England and Canada propose to give Uncle Sam the choice of settling the boundary dispute on their terms or resort to war. Whatever the intention of this increase of the forces at Victoria may be, it will not have a tendency to hasten the settlement of the controversy. It will be looked upon as a
