BOIWSON WILL RECEIVE DEWEY. Will Have to Take a Bac

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 .- A dispatch to the Times from Washington says: A dispatch received at the navy department from Rear-Admiral Howison is worying the officials there. Admiral Howison, entirely unconscious of the consternation that his news will carry to those who have been asserting that he will not get to New York until after the reception to Admiral Dewey, announces in this message that he has left Barbadoes on the Chicago for

New York. This is the last thing that the friends of Admiral Sampson wanted. Everything has been arranged to have Sampson, in his capacity as the hero and victor of Santiago, greet his brother hero of Manila. Admiral Schley will be in New York at that time, but in no official capacity. He will be there simply because, as an American citizen, he has an inalienable right to stand on the sidewalk and see Dewey go by. Nothing had occured to mar the spectacle of one hero greeting another and welcoming him home until his disquieting news was received from Howison. Howison is Sampson senior and if he gets there before the celebration he will outrank that officer and take command. The naval regulations reduire it. Howison is simply an old friend of Dewey and would like to be on hand when his friend has his triumph. The navy department officials have calls for his arrival at New York on October 5, and have confidently proclaimed that he will get there before then, notwithstanding the fact that Howison has been ahead of his schedule right along. They are now busy engaged in figuring out that he cannot get to Tompkinsville in less than eight days, but others think he can do it easily in seven.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 -A dispatch Word comes from Buenaventuro that selves. General Ramon Ullos, commander of the Columbian gunboat Boyaca, died at that port Monday. No further details have yet been received. The news caused much grief here, as General Ulloa was universally esteemed and exceedingly popular. He was often called the "Hero of Colon," for defeating Prestan, the leader of the revolutionists, in 1885, when as a colonel leading a detachment of the Columbian army, he recaptured Colon and routed the revolutionists, being himself severely wounded in one leg.

The state department and commander of the American warship in Colon gave General Ulloa well-merited praise for his bravery. He was once consul-general in San Francisco, and for several years served as secretary of legation and charge d'affairs in Rome. In his native state, Cauca, he occupied at different times important civil and military positions.

In the latter part of the Mesozoic age there was a great inland ocean, spreading over a large part of the present continent. The lands then above water were covered with a flora peculiar to the times ,and were inhabited by some of the animals which later distinguished the Cenozoic age, says the Popular Science Monthly. In the seas were reptiles, fishes and turtles of gigantic proportions, armed for offense or defense. There were also oysterlike bivalves, with enormous shells, three or four feet in diameter, the meat of which would have fed many people. In time this great ocean, swarming with vigorous life, disappeared. Mountain ranges and plains gradually arose, casting forth the waters and leaving the monsters to die and bleach in tertiary suns.
