Powers Seriously Consider Partitioning.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 .- A special to he Herald from Washington says: Negotiations have been commence between the three powers signatory t the Berlin treaty contemplating permanent settlement of the Samoan uestion. Her Mumm von Schwarzen stein, German special envoy, called a the state department Monday, and discussed Samoan matters with Dr. Hill, acting secretary of state. It is under tood that neither Herr Mumm nor Dr. Hill has received any information confirmatory of the report that the natives have declared Tamessese king although it is known that peaceful uditions do not exist in the island. The character of the treaty for the permanent settlement of the question has not yet been determined, nor will it be until after a conference between the representatives of the three powers. It has not yet been determined whether this conference shall take place in Washington, Berlin or London. Al that can be said about the matter is that the three powers are considering the joint report of their commissioners and will make that report the basis of the plan which will be presented to the proposed conference. It is understood that the three governments are giving serious consideration to the advisability of the partitioning of the island.

We Have a Chemical Engine and Fire Alarm System? Some time since thelboard of fire delegates took up the matter of getting reduced fire insurance [rates in this city with the board off underwriters for the Pacific, and obtained from them certain concessions as to reducing rates, provided that an electric alarm system were established and a chemical engine added to the fire apparatus. The matter was fully discussed with the underwriters, and as a result, the following proposition was submitted by them to the city council: "In the matter of fire insurance rates of your city, which are based on protection provided, consisting of fire department equipment and water supply, we beg to advise that the present rates established for your city are subject to the following reduction, provided the equipment is improved as "For alarm system, reduction of 5 per cent will be allowed. For a chemical fire engine, a further reduction of 5 er cent will be allowed, making in all a 10 per cent reduction for the features named, equipments in both cases to be up to the standard of our equipments. "The fire alarm system shall be a system by boxes or signal stations having direct electrical communication with a large bell that will strike number of the box including locality of the fire. Seyen stations, placed at points to be indicated by our representative, will be established to protect property located below the bluff. If it is the intention to protect buildings located on the bluff, the number will have to be increased in accordance with the extent of territory to be protected. "The chemical engine to be one of

make approved by this office, and consisting of two 50 gallon tanks mounted on a vehicle, being commonly known as a chemical fire engine. "The reduction will apply to all buildings under the protection of the system, except dwellings and private

Acting upon this proposition, the board of delegates appointed a committee to canvass the town for the purpose of securing funds by subscription for the purchase of a chemical ting in an electric alarm system. The committee reported it had secured sufficient subscriptions to meet these expenses, and employed E. M. Wingate to collect the subscription, but the Times-Mountaineer is informed established and the chemical engine purchased.

This seems rather short-sighted on the part of those whose insurance will be affected, since there will be no reduction in rates until the change has governor of this state, and served inauguration of the system. And the being noted for economy and honesty.
