Another Marder in Baker County.

Another foul murder was committed last week, on Bully creek, at the warm oprings, near the mouth of Cottonwood, in Baker county. The Democrat gives the following account of the tragedy: "Last Thursday night, a settler at that place, named Jackson, and his partner, whose name we are unable to learn, were killed while asteep, and Mrs. Jackson was shot in the head bitt we learn, not dangerously wounded. Go to Boskowitz's store, Union, for all kinds of Ladies', Gents', Misses' and stack, and was killed with an axe. The stack was then fired and the assassing proceeded to the house where the finishing touch was put upon their gendish work. There were two other persons on the premices, one in the house and the other in the stable, neither of whom were molested. Mrs. Jackson saw two men leaving the yard just after the shooting but was unable to recognize them. . The cause of this tragedy is, as yet, unknown, but it is hoped that the investigation which must follow. will bring out such evidence as will give a

It seems that about three weeks previous uncle, Mr. Alex. Mehwalt, engineer of to the murder, a tramp staid over night at the Portland Fire Department. He Mr. Jackson's During a conversation that brought with him the finest lot of evening Mr Jackson said that he had "done building hardware that ever came to pretty well, and had accumulated sufficient nickel-plated, including butts, drawers. The day previous the nurder, this same balls, sash locks, sash-bulls and lifts, tramp returned, bringing with him another in fact everything for fitting up the man, and put up for the night. There is no doubt that he or they committed the foal crime. We learn that the man suspicloned of the murder, had been caught and had a hearing before a justice, but the justice not thinking the evidence sufficient to bind the man over, discharged him. He not only discharged him, but gave him money to pay his way to Baker City, where the man said he lived, and could get many persons to vouch for his uprightness. Dee opments have proven that no such man esides, or ever did reside in Baker. A sheriff's posse is after him and no doubt he will be apprehended. If caught, the chanes are that retribution will be metad out in a speedy manner. LATER,-We learn from Mr. Galoway, an old resident of this county, was was in the vicinity of the murder at the time, and who assisted in dressing Mrs. Jackson's wound, and also heard the coroner's examination, the following particulars: On the night of the murder, a man by the name of Bailey staid over night at Mr. Jackson's, also a book agent. Mr. Bailey, Mr. Jackson's boy and Mr. Johnson were sleeping at some hay stacks near the house, but in different places. Mr. Jackson and wife were sleeping on a bedstead at the end of the house, out of doors, while the book peddler was lodged in the house. Mr. Johnson, a young man well known as Tony," and who formerly drove the stage between Summerville and Joseph, was killed with an axe. Mr. Jackson was shot while asleep, the ball passing through his head and striking Mrs. Jackson in the forehead, glancing and following the skull around to the back part of her head, where it lodged. The book agent stated that when he was awakened by the shot, he immediately jumped from his bed and in a few seconds Mr. Bailey appeared at his window and told him for "God's sake to get up, that Jackson was killed and the On Wednesday of last week Mrs. stacks were on fire." The agent came out, see the town of Union benefitted in saw the woman running around, wounded Johnson. Bailey told the agent to "go for help up the creek to where there were some eow boys camped, and get help, and he would stay there and bathe the woman's wound." In an hour or two, four men came to their assistance. Two shots were fred at the book agent when he got a short distance from the house. Mrs. Jackson states that she saw two men leave while she was up calling for Johnson. Bailey. after assistance had been sent for, went to the stacks and got the boy out from the fire, and pulled the body of Johnson out of danger This was the first that, he stated, he knew Johnson was killed. He then went to the barn which was also en fire, cut the horses loose, got them and some harness out, and then went back to the house and dressed Mrs. Jackson's wound, The examination brought out nothing > that would lead to a conviction, but the people of that vicinity suspicion and think Bailey is the murderer. This is also Mr. Galoway's belief, Mr. Bailey was through that country, he claims, looking up a mail route from Boise City to the Harney Valley country and had passed through there about five weeks before. Was riding a horse hired from a livery stable in Huntington, whither he went after the examination. He stated he would take his horse back to Huntington and then he would go to Baker City, but on arriving at Huntington, he took the train, going eastward. The axe with which Johnson was killed, was a strange one and did not belong to the place, there being only three on the place, which the boy procured. There are some things which seem to be decidedly against Bailey while there are other things equally in his favor, The affair, however, is still shrouded in mystery, but every affort is being put forth by the Baker county officers to get a clue to the perpetrator.

The Cove Mail.

Last Saturday morning we mailed the Scout as usual, but it seems the papers for the Cove were not received there, although the stage left here for that place sometime during the midley, returned Tuesday last, looking dle of the day. The fault was entirely with the Union postmaster. To our enquiries concerning the matter, he says they got accidentally misplaced. This is the second time the papers have been delayed at this office, lately, and it is becoming monotonous. We will again say to our patrons, that the Scour is mailed to them regularly every Saturday morning, before any of the stages leave, and if they do not receive it on time, they will confer a favor by informing us of the fact.

From the Mines,

Cornucopia, Sep. 29, 1885. Owing to the lateness of the season, the influx to the mines is not as good as in the past, and as the mines have not been sufficiently developed to induce labor to any great extent, those seeking employment do not flad it a lucrative field. The work on the principal ledges, however, is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The indications of good and extensive quantities of ore, are very flattering. Mr. Neuner, who has the bonded mines, is here and working to do what he can in order to open them out as much as possible this fall.

W. F. Davis' mill machinery is here and soon his buzzing saw will be cutting out lumber in large quantities.

the practicability of the route. Of course, we can't expect to do much this fall, but spring will bring its prespectors, and the natural concomitants of a large mining strike, will come. In fact, we expect this camp will be a populous and busy world of itself, next season, but till then, we must patiently wait until the proper time comes.

The Single Eyed.

The brilliant genius who presides over the La Grande Argus, last week, in an article relative to the road from this valley to the Pine creek mines, caps the climax, and unwittingly places himself before the people in the proper light. A column and a quarter is devoted to berating the Scour, and making the most wild and unreasonable assertions. Among others equally eilly, that "the mines are nearer Baker city than Union, and properly belong to Baker county," that "it would cost as much as the county indebtedness now, to build the road, which would be of no benefit to any places but the town of Union, when completed," that "the trade of Pine and Eagle valleys should go to Baker," etc, etc. It is proper that questions of this kind, especially when of such importance to the county at large, should be discussed, and viewd in every light that can be thrown upon it, and it is the duty of public journais to do so, in a dispassionate and impartial manner, ever looking to the general good. The Scout is always ready to discuss all subjects pertaining to the public weal, and will endeavor to do so in a rational manner, but we can enter into no controversy with the editor of the Argus. It would be a waste of time, and folly to do so. The nnimus which prompts his utterances is so apparent | They had excellent weather and in consethat it needs no refutal. Rather than the remotest degree, he would give and in night clothes, and hallowing for away the most valuable portion of the county, and involve it in financial difficulties, which it would take years to overcome. Against such prejudice, unreasoning hatred, and recklessness as he displays, reason is of no avail. We can only leave him alone, fully convinced that it is the unanimous pinion of every sensible person, in a rich mineral belt, and is located on the La Grande, as in every other section of the county, that he had better move his press to Baker city, and put n his valuable services at that place.

"Uncle James," said a Portland young lady, who was spending a few days in the country, "is that chicken by the gate a Brahim?" "No" replied Uncle James, "he's a Leghorn." "Why, certainly, to be sure," said the young lady. "How stupid of me." I can see the horns on his ankles."-

Salem Vidette. The Portland merchants ought not to neglect any opportunity to cultivate he most friendly relations with every portion of the country, but especially of the new mining camps. Trade opportunities, like others, once neglected are oftentimes forever lost, The apparent indiference in establishing reduction works in this city is as base in point .- [Portland News. A. D. Pamborn, who was fined $1000 for trespassing on the Umatilla reservation, was released yesterday afternoon, having taken the course of the insolvent debtor and swore he was worth nothing. A prisoner in jail under fine can only be held thirty days if such is his financial condition, and Pamborn had served his time.— Standard.

One of those terrible fights with Indians has taken place between the U. S. troops and the Apaches in Arizona, in which one Indian was actually killed, and a U. S. Soldier yielded up his life to protect his country. There is nothing strange about the soldier being killed, but that an Indian has really been killed, so that he was known to be actually dead, is truly remakable and should be heralded to our posterity as such.

Judge Smith, in the Circuit court for Multnomah, has decided that the county must pay the delinquent tax due the State from the county. This suit was brought by the State, to compel Multnomah county to pay the tax due the State on taxes for 1883. The county has paid the State a pro-rata of the taxes collected, but declined to pay the full amount due, when the tax had not, nor could not be collected from the tax-payers. We believe the State should only require its pro-rata of taxes collected, and not work a hardship on the tax-payers, to make up the deficiency due the State, when the county cannot collect the tax due the #### Union.

Union is one of the most favored spots for the location of a town, east of the Casand range of mountains. It is located in the extreme south-eastern portion of the famous Grande Ronde Valley, and a more deligit ful townsite cannot be found. It has abandance of good wholesome water, excellent water power for manufacturing purposes, is healthful, and the climate will onipore favorably with any of her neighborios for as on the eastern slope of the Blue momitains. She is not populous, but her inhabitants are wide-awake to her interests, and her bu, iness men are up to the makes no great bustle and noise in the world, but pursues the even tenor of her way, and thrift and business comes naturaily within her borders.

Union is the county sear of Union county, and notwithstanding the great blow of her would-be rivals, will continue to be such as long as Union county has a county seat. She is probably in closer proximity to the Pine Creek mines and that section, by ten or fifteen miles, than Baker City, as the new road which will soon be constructed, is only about 56 miles, while the distance from Baker City to the same section is from 65 to 70 miles. From almost her very door all along the line of the road leading to the Pine creek country, are rich deposits of paying are. which is being discovered and developed, and are proving acquisitions of wealth to the owners. The inhabitants of Pine Valley have been, unfortunately, shut off from their desired trading point on account of the road running as it now does, and have been forced to do their trading at Baker City. This, they will not do in the future, as they are all anxious to do their trading at this point. Union will exert herself in a legitimate manner to secure the trade of these mines, where it properly belongs. She will do so intelligently, honorably, and without deceit, nor will she endeavor to hoodwink those who are investigating the several routes from the O. R. & N. Co's. road to the mines. It is the candid opinion of most men who have been at both Baker City, and Union, that Union is the more naturally situated for a supply point than the former place. Many letters have been received here, enquiring of the advantaget of this place, and the reported richness of the Pine Creek mines. Should the Portland Board of Trade in its wisdom select this as the starting point to the mines from the west, Union would far outstrip, in importance, all other towns along the line of the O. R. & N., but whether this place is selected or not, she will confinne to thrive and grow in importance as an Inland town, and will always attract her share of the trade from whatever source it may come. We feel confident of the future importance of this place from the very fact of her nearness to the rich discoveries which are daily being made.

The New Road to Pine, a Practicable One.

The viewers of the proposed new road into the Pine Creek mines have finished their work, having been through to the end of the route, ending at Cornucopia. quence took all the time necessary to thoroughly look out the best and most practicable route. Although they have not yet made an official report, they say they found the line of the road much better than they had anticipated, and the grade at no point, except one, and that but a very short distance, will exceed ten feet to the hundred; that the cost will probably not reach very far into the thousands. The line of the road runs nearly its entire length through south side of all the hills along which it passes, which will insure a good and open road that will not be obstructed by the snows of winter sufficient to retard travel when once opened. The settlers along the road are anxious to have the road built, and none more so than the inhabitants of Pine valley, many of whom the viewers talked with. The Pine Vallians are all in favor of it, except two or three, who think their personal interest should have been consulted and their own selfish reasons' taken into consideration to the exclusion of the public welfare of the county. The distance is somewhat farther than was at first expected it would be, being 56% miles from Union into Cornacopia. It is thought by the viewers that the road can be short-ened several miles, but whether it would be of any more practical value is difficult at present to state.
