A Beautiful Woman.

A woman with pleasant smile, clear skin, bright eye, generous expression, elastic step, hearty-hand shake and courteous welcome. Such a woman is not the victim of debility, languor, or dyspepsia. She has overcome these pests by using Brown's Iron Bitters, the world's great tonic. Miss Mattie Benson, South Parsonfield, Me., says, "After using Brown's Iron Bitters for weakness and lack of appetite and energy, I felt like another person."

Lieutenant Greely will travel in Europe during the winter.

I have tried Athlophoros for an attack of rheumatism, and I feel a good deal better than I did before using the medicine. I have not as many pains as I had before. Please send me six bottles.—Richard Pfaff, Burr Oak, Wis.

A QUESTION ABOUT
Brown's Iron Bitters
ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is prescribed daily.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not cure in a minute. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and Druggists recommend it.

Catching Postal Thieves.

Chief Inspector Sharpe, the head of the detective service in the post office department, resign d his office recently to engage in private business. His resignation was accepted, to take effect on September 1. His record is that of a capable officer. He is an east Tennessee man, tall and spare in stature, and in appearance and manner the typical detective. During the war he was a Union man and did good service. As a department officer he has been a terror to rascals, and has hunted many of them out of the service, even when they were sheltered by strong political influence. Some years ago, for instance, a Vermont inspector was discovered to be conniving at postoffice rascality in that state and was discharged. The man had been a henchman of Senator Edmunds, and the senator called at the post office department to see what could be done. The postmaster general asked the senator and the inspector into a private office and told Col. Sharpe to explain, which the inspector did very fully.

"And you recommended the man's discharge?" asked Mr. Edmunds, harshly.

"Yes, I did," replied Col. Sharpe; "and had I known the man's character sooner I would have bounced him months ago."

"Well, you did just right," said Edmunds, and left.

One of the most important duties of the chief inspector is to detect railway postal clerks who steal letters containing money. To accomplish this Col. Sharpe follows a simple but ingenious system, which he explained the other day to the writer.

"To catch these thieves," he said, "I had constructed a large railroad map of the United States, which hangs in my office. Now, supposing a man mails a letter in Boston for Kansas City containing $50—a very bad practice, but people will do it. The letter never reaches its destination, and pretty soon we get a complaining letter stating the circumstances.

"Now, if the supposed case were an isolated one, we probably could do nothing. The letter, in going from Boston to Kansas City, would pass through 30 or 40 hands, and it would be useless to try to fix the blame. But the Boston man's case is not isolated. Every day we get from one to 50 similar complaints from all over the country, and this fact, as you will see, enables us to locate this mischief.

"First, we ascertain exactly where the missing letter was mailed and its address. Then we are ready for the map I spoke of. I take the Boston man's letter and a bunch of similar complaints, and then I begin to stick pins into my map. I know just the route which a letter would take to go from Boston to Kansas City, and I stick pins along to sketch out this course. Then I take the next complaint. Perhaps this is from a man who lost money transmiting it from Mobile to Chicago. Very well. I trace out the line such a letter would take. The third, perhaps, was sent from New York to San Francisco, the fourth from New Orleans to Buffalo, and fifth from Saginaw City to Philadelphia, and so on. Now before very long the map begins to look quite interesting. The pins are strewn all over the country, and we notice one track—say, for instance, between Chicago and Cleveland—where all the lines unite. That's where the thief is.

"Knowing now where the stealing is going on, we advise our most trusted man in that division—we have to trust somebody, you know—that there is trouble in his section, and tell him to keep a sharp look out. We inquire into the habits and association of the clerks, and we are, perhaps, able to spot the man at once. At other times it is more difficult. But we always fetch him. Detection is certain."

"But don't the clerks know of this system?"

"Perfectly well," replied Col. Sharpe.

"Then, why do they steal?" was asked.

"Ah, there you ask me too hard a question," said the inspector. "I'm sure I can't tell. I only know they do, and the history of almost all cases is the same. A postal clerk will be tempted, and will steal a letter that he feels has money in it. For the next few days he is scared to death. He thinks everybody reads his guilt in his face, and he is certain he will be caught and put in prison. He resolves never to steal another letter, and possibly he does not. But generally, in about a month or two months, his fear and remorse have worn off. Evidently he has not been caught, and is not suspected. A good chance comes and he steals another letter. This time he does not wait a month before he tries it again. And before long he is stealing all the letters he gets hold of which contain money. About that time I am sticking pins into my map. It is sure death. Sometimes we get more than one as fishers will now and then land two or three fish at once when the biting is very lively. We caught three in two weeks once in different parts of the country when we supposed we were after only one."

"But why do men keep on stealing when they see others caught and understand that the machinery of detection is so perfect?" again asked the reporter.

"As I said before," replied the inspector, "that I can't answer, except in this way. Every rogue thinks himself smarter than anybody else. He sees that others are caught, but he thinks that he is too cunning and can cover his tracks."

The Epidemic of Crime.

Whence comes this epidemic of suicides and murders? Recent discussions have named several causes. Hon. C. H. Reeve, of Indiana, charges it to infidel teachings—holding that hopelessness of a future state cripples fortitude for bearing life's ills. Another declares suffering from the universal business depression the cause. A third writer attributes it to increasing insanity, a physician thinks much of the tendency is inherited, while temperance advocates lay the responsibility upon strong drink.

Free-thinkers have committed suicide, but so have orthodox churchmen. Financial straits have beset many, but the wealthy have also taken their life.

Insanity and dissipation have preceded suicides and family murders.

One feature common to almost every such crime challenges attention. Well nigh every report of suicide and family murder mentions the perpetrator as having "for some time been subject to melancholy." Whence comes this? All recognized medical authorities tell us that the fire which consumes the brain is always kindled by derangements of digestion; that good digestion is impossible without pure blood, and pure blood is never known when the liver and kidneys are out of order. Under such circumstances, a preventive should be sought, and for this Warner's safe cure is sovereign—a fact conceded by the best authorities in the land, and it is especially commended by the celebrated Dr. Dio Lewis.—Rochester Democrat.

The Recent Affliction Racket.

"I have a memorial here which I would like to sell you," said a peddler to a lady whose door-bell he had rung in Brooklyn. He held up an engraved memorial surrounded by a cheap frame. It had been gotten up in memory of a little child of the lady who had died a few weeks before.

"How did you know I had lost a child?" she asked.

"O, I saw it in the papers," was the reply. "That was where we got the age and other information required."

"It's a good thing," said the man to the reporter. "We look over all the newspapers and cut out the notices of the deaths of the children. After two or three weeks, when we think that the grief of the parents has passed over somewhat, we get up a memorial and take it around. It is solely on our own responsibility that we do it, and we must run a risk of not selling. Sometimes people are indignant when we approach them, but as a general thing they buy. We sell them at $5 apiece, to be paid for at the rate of 50 cents a week. Now, between you and myself, they cost us about $1 each."—Chicago Tribune.

A Rich Wife for the Bishop.

One of the richest women in Denver is Mrs. Bishop Warren, of whom so much has been written since her marriage with the handsome and gifted Methodist preacher. Many years ago this lady went to Denver, a poor, hard-working sewing girl. Her father was her fortune, for as she bravely plied her trade she was wooed and won by one Iliff, a miner, and when he finally died he left her a fortune of several million dollars. Mrs Iliff was a devout Methodist, and Denver gossips tell that Bishop Simpson sent Bishop Warren to that city on purpose to marry the millionaire widow. Their wedding was a popular one, every Methodist in Denver being invited.

Another Life Saved.

About two years ago, a prominent citizen of Chicago was told by his physicians that he must die. They said his system was so debilitated that there was nothing left to build on. He made up his mind to try a "new departure." He got some of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" and took it according to directions. He began to improve at once. He kept up the treatment for some months, and is to-day a well man. He says the "Discovery" saved his life.

The second dose eased me so much that I slept two hours, something I had not done for two months. Before I had used five bottles I was well and at work as hard as any man could, for over three weeks; but I worked too hard for my strength, and taking a hard cold, I was taken with the most acute and painful rheumatism all through my system that ever was known.

"I called the doctors again, and after several weeks they left me a cripple on crutches for life, as they said. I met a friend and told him my case, and he said Hop Bitters cured him and would cure me. I poohed at him, but he was so earnest I was induced to use them again.

In less than four weeks I had threw away my crutches and went to work lightly and kept on using the bitters for five weeks, until I became as well as any man living, and have been so for six years since.

It has also cured my wife, who had been sick for years; and has kept her and my children well and healthy with from two to three bottles per year. There is no need to be sick at all if these bitters are used. J. J. BERK, Ex-Supervisor.

FOR BILIOUS COMPLAINTS.

Bilious Complaints are caused by torpidity, congestion, or the ulceration of the liver.

The symptoms are dark, greasy, yellow skin, a brown or whitish coat to the tongue, appetite irregular, often a dry cough at night.

Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are one of the very best remedies known for any form of these troubles, and will certainly relieve the sufferer. They are purely vegetable, made from the best drugs by competent hands, and give satisfaction. They are very gentle in their action, causing no griping or unpleasant feeling to the most delicate. A trial will convince any one troubled with biliousness that Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills is the medicine he needs.
