

THE OREGON SCOUT.

JONES & CHANCEY, Publishers. UNION, OREGON.

FINANCES OF UNCLE SAM.

Statement of the Public Debt on the 1st of October.

Following is a recapitulation of the debt statement issued on the 1st:

Table with 2 columns: Description and Amount. Includes INTEREST BEARING DEBT, DEBT BEARING NO INTEREST, and RESERVE FUNDS.

INTEREST BEARING DEBT. Bonds at 4 1/2 per cent. $250,000,000.00. Bonds at 4 per cent. $175,000,000.00.

DEBT BEARING NO INTEREST. Old demand and demand notes. $340,927,674.70. Total. $1,805,764,323.27.

RESERVE FUNDS. Held for redemption of United States notes. $100,000,000.00. Available for reduction of debt. $340,927,674.70.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NOTES. The president has issued an executive order directing Dr. E. S. Shacknape, of Pennsylvania, to proceed, under direction of the secretary of state, to Spain and other countries in Europe where cholera exists.

AS TO THE TORNADO.

What Science is Endeavoring to Accomplish for Control of the Same.

Efforts by the Signal Service Bureau to Predict a Great Storm.

Origin, Nature and Particular Districts.

Washington dispatch: The phenomena of tornadoes, to the scientific study of which Lieut. John P. Finley, of the signal corps, has devoted about eight years, are now so well understood as to warrant the belief that trustworthy warning may soon be sent out to the inhabitants of localities which may be threatened with the disastrous visitations. Daily predictions are in fact being made at present, having begun last year and continued through the tornado season and resumed recently upon the return of Lieut. Finley from an inspection tour in the west.

FEATURES OF THE TORNADO.

Lieut. Finley recently described the known phenomena of tornadoes and the aid towards which the present researches are directed. These storms have distinctly marked characteristics and are by no means to be confounded with hurricanes, cyclones, or "north-easters."

RELATIONSHIP WITH OTHER STORMS.

There is a distinct and curious relationship between tornadoes and the general storm center, which is always apparent in their uniform relative positions to the tornado. Always occurring southwesterly from the center of low barometer and at a distance of from 100 to 500 miles.

ROUTE OF THE TORNADO.

The visits of the tornado are commonly between 2 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Its home is an area of which includes the whole of Iowa, all of Missouri except the southwestern corner, the northwestern corner of Arkansas, the northeastern part of Indian Territory, Eastern Kansas, Eastern Nebraska, Southern Minnesota, Southern Wisconsin and Western Illinois.

GRANT'S EXECUTIVE ORDER.

A Washington dispatch says the post-office department is in receipt of a number of inquiries relative to the operation of the executive order made by President Grant in 1872, forbidding federal officials to hold state or municipal offices.

INDIAN POSTMASTERS.

Complaints are being received at the postoffice department from the Indian Territory of the working of the recent decision of Attorney-General Garland to the effect that Indians are not eligible to appointment as postmasters.

THEY CANNOT BE GARNISHED.

The postmaster general has rendered an interesting decision touching the right of creditors to attach the salaries of their debtors who may be postal employees.

THEY CANNOT BE GARNISHED.

The postmaster general has rendered an interesting decision touching the right of creditors to attach the salaries of their debtors who may be postal employees.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

Dreadful floods, covering an area of 3,500 square miles, occurred in the presidency of Bengal, the largest and most populous of twelve main divisions of British India.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Mr. Bates writes only five pages of his history daily. Miss Charlotte M. Yonge, now sixty-four years old, has written 100 books.

THE AFRICAN AND HIS AX.

Bloody Deeds by Negroes and the Lynching of Four Murderers. Raleigh (N. C.) dispatch: Last night four negroes—Jerry Flach and wife, Leo Tyson and John Bartholomew—were lynched on a hill near Pittsboro, Clatsop county.

THE AFRICAN AND HIS AX.

Bloody Deeds by Negroes and the Lynching of Four Murderers. Raleigh (N. C.) dispatch: Last night four negroes—Jerry Flach and wife, Leo Tyson and John Bartholomew—were lynched on a hill near Pittsboro, Clatsop county.

DANGEROUS GYMNASTIC FEATS.

Professor T. L. Cross's Portage Falls on a Rope—A Narrow Escape from Death. A Buffalo (N. Y.) dispatch says: At Portage Falls, N. Y., last night, a man named Cross, succeeded in crossing the gorge on a tight rope.

THE BLOODY APACHES.

Gov. Trites, of Arizona, and Gov. Ross, of New Mexico, at a conference recently, considered the Indian situation. It was determined to put the militia of the two territories into the field to co-operate with the regular army.

GREAT RAILROAD WORK.

Number of Roads in Progress and Proposed 626—Total Mileage 44,393. The Chicago Railway Age, in an article in the issue of October 1, says: Surprising awakening activity in regard to railway building becomes evident.

GREAT RAILROAD WORK.

Number of Roads in Progress and Proposed 626—Total Mileage 44,393. The Chicago Railway Age, in an article in the issue of October 1, says: Surprising awakening activity in regard to railway building becomes evident.

GREAT RAILROAD WORK.

Number of Roads in Progress and Proposed 626—Total Mileage 44,393. The Chicago Railway Age, in an article in the issue of October 1, says: Surprising awakening activity in regard to railway building becomes evident.

SULLIVAN ON IRISH AFFAIRS.

Enthusiastic Meeting in Behalf of the Irish Parliamentary Fund.

Speech by the Ex-President of the National League of America.

Ireland's Political Situation Reviewed.

The mass meeting held in Chicago for the raising of funds for the Parnell campaign was well attended. The prominent feature of the occasion was the speech of Alexander Sullivan, ex-president of the Irish national league of America.

NEWS NOTES.

Sarah McLain, a girl of 15, is under arrest at Lansing, Mich., on a charge of horse-stealing. "Why pay a shilling for lamb when you can have the Lamb of God for nothing?" is the neat and reverent query made in a handbill distributed by the Salvationists in London.

NEWS NOTES.

Since the outbreak of cholera in Spain there have been over 100,000 deaths from the disease. At East Aurora, Erie county, N. Y., a chase has been turned out which weighs 3,300 pounds.

NEWS NOTES.

The three-hundred-mile race between the English cutter Genesta and the American schooner Dauntless, for the Breston's reef challenge cup, was won by the former in 48 hours 7 minutes and 50 seconds.

NEWS NOTES.

A great sensation was created in society circles at New Haven by the announcement that Honora, youngest daughter of Dr. Edwin Harwood, rector of Trinity church, and one of the most prominent citizens of that city, had eloped and married a rich New Yorker named Truman Hemingway.

NEWS NOTES.

The Ministerial Union of Philadelphia, passed resolutions protesting against the action of the postmaster-general in ordering letters to be delivered on Sunday, under the immediate delivery system, as an infringement of the Sabbath not contemplated in the act under which the system is being organized.

NEWS NOTES.

Cablegrams have been received at St. Louis from London, England, stating that Samuel V. Brooks will soon start for St. Louis to ascertain definitely whether the man now held in jail there as the murderer of C. Arthur Preller, and known variously as Hugh M. Brooks and Walter H. Lennox Maxwell, is his son.

NEWS NOTES.

Charles McCarter, a Chicago North-side rough, got into a quarrel with his brother James, in the course of which he pulled a revolver and fired. The bullet missed the intended victim and almost instantly killed Jeremiah McCarter, the young man's father, who was standing near.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

Services in Memory of Gen. Grant Held in Washington.

Gen. Logan's Eulogy of the Greatest Soldier of Modern Times.

What History Will Say of Him.

Services in memory of Gen. Grant were held in Washington on the evening of the 2d, under the auspices of the local commandary of the Grand Army of the Republic, in the Metropolitan church, at which Gen. Grant was a regular attendee during his presidential terms.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.

A COMRADE'S TRIBUTE.

The speaker described briefly, but glowing and honors showered upon him by our people at home and by men and nations abroad. "From Belmont to the siege of Vicksburg," said Gen. Logan in his summing up, "I was near him in nearly all his marches, campaigns and battles, being permitted to take command in the absence of the general with my command, on account of his having approached nearer the enemy than any other. During my term as commander of that city I was with him almost every day and from the time when, at the head of that glorious old army of the Tennessee, which by the way, was composed of Irish and I marched by his reviewing stand at the national capital, down to the last painful days of his memorable life, I was with him very often. During all this time I was a close observer of him. Grant was usually known and recognized as a quiet and silent man, but when engaged in conversation on any subject in which he felt an interest there were few who excelled him as a conversationalist.