The First National Bank is having their vault constructed in the new bank building.

The "Companion" mine at Pine creek, owned by W. J. Conynghs and V. Palmer has been purchased for $10,000 by S. S. Bailey.

Four teams loaded with flour from the Victor mills of Summerville, and bound for Harney valley, passed through here Thursday.

The Mechanics Fair this year is reported to be a very successful one in every particular. More interest has been taken this year than ever before.

A gentleman from near Lewiston, I. T., says he found a very fine ledge of silver bearing ore, in the Big Creek section. What won't be found yet?

The vegetables raised in Dan Moore's garden, which were exhibited at the fair, elicited the most favorable comments from every one in attendance.

There are nine State cases to come before the Grand Jury this term of court for hearing. No telling what a day may bring forth when the jury gets to work.

Alex Jones is in Missouri, flying around at a lively rate. We are keeping our optic on Alex, and if he commits any heinous offence, which he is liable to do at any time, we intend to give him away.

That Methodist Festival comes off next Friday evening, at Wright's Hall. Supper will be ready at 6 o'clock. Turn out and get a good square meal for the usual price, and have a good social time without extra cost.

Highwaymen are beginning to show up in the Pine valley region. A gentleman coming from the mines a few days ago was held up, and ordered to deliver, but by putting spurs to his horse he managed to get away.

The way this weather makes the farmers smile, is a caution. Just the thing for his wheat hauling. Fall plowing may be a little dry, but is being done in a manner that will surprise you, if you'll take a trip out through the country.

Bailey Rees has placed a partition wall through the State Land office making his office have more of a business air about it. He says he did not agree to warm a whole township this winter. We don't know what his agreements are, but we know he can be found now in his office without fanning space with a field glass.

We learn from parties just in from the mines, that a small extension of one of the ledges has been sold for $1,000, and that Allen & Cox have bonded another mine for $40,000. Mr. Frank Ballard, who has just returned from Pine, has secured an interest in four claims, two of which are good silver bearing ledges. He thinks that not many more mines will be sold this fall, owing to the lateness of the season. He gives it as his opinion that next year, just as many good ledges will be found as have been this. Everything continues to show that these mines will be the richest ever struck.

We hear it rumored that two gangs of Chinamen, employed on the railroad near here, have been discharged and told to "go." We did not learn whether it was from the fact that their services were no longer required, or whether it was that the war spirit against them influenced the railroad Co. to bid them a lasting farewell or not. It would seem from the prints throughout the state that the Chinese must "go." Well we suppose they must, but we hope brutal outrages against them will not be resorted to. We have no objection to their being induced to "go," so long as the inducement is within the pale of the law.

Mr. N. H. Orgreen, whose horses were stolen last week, at his place near I-Land city, in company with sheriff Beley of Walla Walla succeeded in capturing the thieves, and recovering the horses near Lines ferry, on the Snake river, Friday last. Mr. Orgreen took charge of the prisoners, and was bringing them to this city to be lodged in jail, night came on and he was obliged to stop at a farm house on the Sand Ridge to recuperate, he took the handcuffs off the prisoners to allow them to eat, and they watching their chance lit out, somewhat similar to the manner in which Bill Nye's cat went through the window, and have not been heard of since. Mr. Orgreen thinks they went in the direction of Walla Walla. One of the men's name was Geo. West, the other Robt. Field. West is a half-breed, has a large nose, straight black hair, wore dark clothes, and was about five feet eight inches in height. Field is light complexioned, spare made, stubby beard, and light moustache, wore a long brown overcoat, and is about the same height as West. Great credit is due Sheriff Beley and his deputy Mr. Lambkin for the capture of the thieves in the first place.

Surveying Party.

Last Monday morning, surveyor D. D. Griffiths, accompanied by W. T. Carroll, Geo. Ficklin, Arby Holbrook, T. W. Shean, Oscar Wirtz and two others, piled their baggage into a wagon, and left to resurvey a new route to Pine creek. Mr. Griffiths was instructed to survey and locate the most practicable line for a wagon road between here and Cornucopia, Pine creek. The route just surveyed was a good roadway, and of easy grade, but the distance is somewhat farther than is necessary. The reason of this was the viewers had certain points to which they were to run as called for in the petition. It was not the intent, however, of the petitioners, to extend the road beyond the nearest way, but not being thoroughly acquainted with the country through which the road would pass, were in error in fixing the points as mentioned; hence the new survey. The party expect to be gone about ten or twelve days.

Favorable Report.

Gen. Tannatt, who was appointed by the Portland Board of Trade, to examine the Pine creek mining district, returned to that city, Tuesday. He reports having discovered a route to the mines, which will be mutually agreeable to both Union and Baker City. The roads from these two places will converge at a point about 12 miles from the mines, and he will recommend the Board of Trade to construct these 12 miles, and leave Union and Baker City to build their respective roads to the point of convergence. He expresses a very favorable opinion of the future prospects of this mining district and that it will develop into a very fine mining country and be a great advantage to Portland, if the Portlanders will only take the interest they should in the matter. He took in a large amount of specimens of the different ores, also some of the lime from this county, which is of the finest grade. He thinks that stamp mills are better adapted to the working of the ores found so far, than smelting works, but when the mines are further developed and the smelting ores are found more abundant, which he thinks will be the case in the future, then the project of constructing smelting works can be better taken into consideration. Next week the General will submit a full and complete report of his investigations in this and Baker county, to the Board of Trade.

Called at Last.

After all the statements, that have been made that the Governor would call a special session of the legislature, for the purpose of doing what the republicans failed to do at the last legislature, viz: to elect a United States senator, and the contrary statements that he certainly would not hazard his reputation of good judgement, by so doing, he has put these speculations at rest by issuing a called session of the legislature to meet November 9th. Were the election of a U. S. senator the only thing which the extra session could do, we certainly believe the "call" would be of very little benefit to the state as compared with extra expenditures which of necessity must occur. But some of the laws passed at the regular session, need repairing and put in better shape, and if this can and will be done to the advantage of the state at large, the objection to the extra session, will be at least partially removed. We hope that the very best interests of the state will be taken into consideration, and that no more such blunders will be made in the future.

The Gazette is under the temporary management of Owen Kuhn, of this town.

The work of repairing and laying down side walks at the new town, still continues steadily.

Much business was done at the stores on Thursday—more than has been done before for some time.

Many ducks and chickens have been shot the last few days, in the tules, and are readily disposed of in town.

We observed a few miles from Union, the largest eagle we ever remember to have seen. It must have measured at least 7 feet between the tips of its wings.

The train of wagons hauling wheat, still comes steadily to the depot. We counted 25 wagons waiting there to be unloaded, about 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

The dispute over the desert land in this valley, still remains unsettled, and the parties interested may be seen visiting the land office at an early hour, and only returning as late as possible.

Anson, the well known merchant of this town, is building a fine new residence, situated on the west-side of the new town. When finished it will be one of the prettiest dwellings in the district.

On Wednesday the public schools opened. Most of the teachers are new comers to the country, but as they are highly recommended and duly qualified, we think they will prove perfectly satisfactory.

The friends of the old town still maintain the supremacy of their town over the new one. Bloch declares he is quite sure he took in more money before breakfast on Thursday morning than all the merchants at the old town took in all day. To a disinterested observer, however, the old town seems entirely dead. It is only a work of time before the land and post-offices are moved nearer the depot. Meanwhile, as a sort of compromise, the new school house is placed half way between the two towns.

Depot Dettels.

The hotel is doing a good business, in fact business of all kinds is looking up.

A bear which resides up in the mountains, concluded that as Pap Craig had offered a reward for his small narrative, he would retaliate, accordingly last Sunday night, he swooped down and killed one of Pap's sheep.

Two of the Chinese gangs of workmen have been laid off. The two gangs contain about ninety men. These heathens had a big time on Tuesday night, it being "free mason night, all same melican man." They had their flags flying all day.

It seems that some of the young men in the eastern part of Union are not as hospitable as they might be, as the poor woman with a baby in her arms, can testify, whom they turned adrift early one morning, without breakfast, to walk two miles to the depot. Boys, you thought you were playing it fine, but the whole town was on to your gentle racket.

Work on the snow sheds is progressing as rapidly as lumber can be procured, which is being shipped from below every day. There will be four sheds, the total length of all about 2400 feet. There will be about 15 miles of snow fence between this place and North Powder, but from appearances now, they will have to have about four men to the panel to keep it in its place, as some of it has been blown down already. C. G. J.

John Alexander and Miss Julia Thomson were married a few days ago. Another wedding is expected as soon as a certain gentleman here can find his band of gentlemen.

The Lostine correspondent of the SCOUT, has been absent for some time in Grande Ronde Valley. Upon his return he finds the people reconciled to that youngster, who is getting along nicely, but the Summerville correspondent seems not to be getting along as well as he ought to. Probably with careful treatment he will recover. W. B.

Health good.

Weather warm and pleasant. Farmers nearly done threshing.

We notice several new-comers in the valley—some on a visit, and some to stay.

We have an abundant crop of everything except potatoes, which are rather scarce. The price already is 1 1/2 c. per lb.

Settlers are taking land every day, men are building houses and barns everywhere. Towns are being built, All are hopeful.

The crops of grain of all kinds in the Wallowa valley this year, was never excelled in any country, the general average per acre running very high.

The mining boom is still raging. Our local prospectors are going down on several ledges, and they are showing up much better. The marble industry is also receiving due attention. The indications are that marble will be found in great abundance.

MIX.
LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 13th., 1885.
SNOW has made its appearance on the surrounding mountains, and the nights are getting quite cool.

J. H. Shambaugh, the newly appointed postmaster at this place, took charge of the office on Sunday.

The new public school building is now completed, and school will open Wednesday, the 14th, with Prof. Curry and wife as teachers.

The first ward or old town, again boasts of two hotels. The Star Hotel has opened up again to the public, and is doing a flourishing business.

The legislature last winter having failed to elect a U. S. Senator, the question is often asked, "What is the governor to do about it?"

Testimony is still being taken at the U. S. Land office, on the celebrated desert land case.

C. P. Hadly, after two or three attempts, has decided to give the $7 extra, and is on his way East rejoicing.

Charley Ladd and wife, have returned from the Pendleton fair, and report rather a dull time.

F. T. Dick has just received a large and complete stock of groceries, from Portland, and will hereafter carry a full line of these goods.

Times rather quiet. Prospects of better, next summer when the Pine creek mines are opened up.
