Lesson from a Mastodon.

The tusks of a mastodon recently found in Illinois weighed 175 pounds What a gigantic toothache that animal must have been capable of having! And such neuralgia! Neuralgia, or nerve-ache, generally proceeds from a disordered condition of the blood. Brown's Iron Bitters enriches and purifies this and drives neuralgia out. Mr. W. W. Redman, Piqua, O., says, "Brown's Iron Bitters permanently cured me of neuralgia."

A Crank Church Builder.

From London Life. The actual sum of money which Sir'

Tatton Sykes has subscribed to the new Roman Catholic church at Westminster is £150,000. He has erected fifteen Protestant churches on his own estates, and contemplated building another finer than all for the establishment, but changed his mind under the following circumstances:

When staying in Vienna he visited the well known "Votive" church, which inspired him with the desire to build one like it in England. He sent for the great Austrian architect, and inquired the cost. Some fabulous cost was named; but, said Sir Tatton, "No matter-I'll build one!"

"Well," replied the architect, "Ican, of course, only build a Roman Cathohe church.'

"Oh! is that all?" rejoined Sir Tatton: "a minor difficulty of that sort is easily got over. Perhaps, indeed, in ought to be a Catholic church, and so it shall be!"

Soon after returning to England be presented himself to the Fathers of the Brompton Oratory, to one of whom he announced his intention of building a gigantic church at the cost of £500,000. The father in question was completely staggered, and conveyed the startling intelligence to one of his brethren, saying, "Don't think me a madman, but here's a man wants to spend half a million of money on a gigantic church!" It ended by Sir Tatton being taken to the cardinal, lishment, then," said the visitor. and on the spot an arrangement was made that a new Roman Catholic cathedral should be erected on a site which had long since been bought, though the locale has since been changed. It may be added that Lady Sykes had long wished to join the church of Rome, and was only prevented from doing so by her husband. On hearing of his latest whim, she renewed her argument—this time, as may be supposed, successfully; and duly received into the Roman com-

Dug Up a Fortune.

A short time ago, a handsomely dressed man, having the dash and savoirfaire of a thoroughgoing young man of the world, appeared in Ballwin. He was exceedingly taciturn, and hours, leaving in company with one of the residents of the town, who is said to be a hardworking laboring man. The pair purchased a camping outfit, with picks, shovels and spades, and proceeded without further delay to Pond Postoffice. After apparently thoroughly satisfying themselves as to the exact locality they desired to reach, they left the settlement and walked in a northwesterly direction about three quarters of a mile, and there they pitched their camp. They once more consulted their plans and then commenced digging a ravine. They were untiring in their exertions, and dug for nearly a week before they met with any reward. At last, when digging about fourteen feet below the surface of the earth, their picks struck some hard substance which was soon discovered by them to be a stone crock, and a little further digging discovered to the delighted men another crock of exactly the same size. This was what they were looking for-the long buried treasure for which they were searching. They did not have the patience to open these receptacles in the ordinary way, but broke them with their spades, when out rolled the golden treasure. They did nothing in the neighborhood, but quietly departed, the one living in Ballwin returning to his home at that place and the other to some place in the est from whence he came. Mr. Fraizer, a reputable merchant near Pond Postoffice, thinks that there was no less than $35,000 or $40,000 recovered. It is firmly and postively believed by the people of that neighborhood that it was the treasure of some wealthy farmer buried for safe keeping during the

Gen. Hood's Orphan's.

"I wonder," said a gentleman recent ly to an Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution representative, "how many of the contributors to the fund for the opphans of General Hood know what has become of either the money or the children." Interest being expressed, he said: "I happen to know all about them. Anna and Ethel, the oldest twins, have a home with Mr. and Mrs. John S. Morris, of New Orleans, with whom Duncan, the 6-year-old, also lives. John the 8-year-old boy, lives with Mr. and Mrs. D. M, Russell, at Cohoma, Miss. Oswald, the 1-year old, lives with C. M. B. Scarsdale, Westchester county, N. Y., while the remain until after Thanksgiving. baby girl died in Columbus, Ga,, and has gone to live with its father.' "What did the fund amount to?" "It was raised, you remember, by a committee of General Hood's old comrades. The first subscription, was s $500 United States bond, sent in by 'Margaret,' the woman philanthro phist of New Orleans, the last by Gen eral Herbert, of Baltimore, just two years later. By States, Louisians gave $5,282.15, and Georgia came next with $3,580.97, of which $2,896 came through the Constitution, besides a purse of $300 sent by Atlanta, Ga., for immediate use. The next highest State was Texas with $1,772 Of foreign countries Poland sent $132 and France $40. The total amount received was $24,601." "What was done with this?" "It was invested in 4 per cent. bonds, which have already increased $5,000 in value. The chil dren are being provided with homes education, etc., the interest on the bonds is capitalized annually. By the time they are grown the fund ought to be enough to give each one of the chil dren about $7,000-a snug little sun

Nine-tenths of the "pure-cussedness," the actions for divorce, the curtain lectures, the family rows, not to speak of murders, crimes and other calamities are prompted by the irritating effect of the inactivity of the liver upon the brain. # Talmage's Edinborough Sermon.

A clerical critic tells the Atlanta Constitution how Dr. Talmage, in the sermon recently preached in Edinborough, said some things which he heard from the late Dr. W. E. Munsey, a famous Methodist preacher ten years ago.
