Brief Bulletins.

Read our advertisements. Firemen meet next Monday. Gloves of all kinds at Jones Bro's. Very stormy for several days past. Read O. F. Bell's answer to "Many Citizens."

Salmon are now running up Catherine creek. A lively time may be expected during the coming week.

A new assortment of gloves, of all kinds, at J. H. White's. Frank Cleaves, the actor, died a few weeks ago, in California.

Travel to the Pine creek mines will soon commence in earnest. Mitchell's Kidney Plaster for sale at Wright's drug store. Try it.

Mrs. Dunway lectured at the court house last Wednesday evening. New assortment of felt and straw hats just received at J. H. White's.

A stage line should be put on at once between this city and Cornucopia. A skating carnival will take place at North Powder on the evening of the 24th.

Another invoice of squirrel traps just received at Jo. Wright's. Only $3. per dozen.

In a few days a great many candidates will be able to tell exactly how it was they got left. Considerable rain during the fore part of the week, which was of great benefit to the farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Draper, and Mrs. Ames of this city, returned from their visit East, a few days ago. Mr. and Mrs. Thomp Carroll's baby has been very sick for a week or so, but at present is improving.

Lewis, your poem, entitled "Pomp and F." is very good. Will publish it when less crowded with news items. Tomorrow at 11 o'clock, Rev. Ellis, Baptist minister of La Grande, will preach at the M. E. church in this city.

Mrs. Newhard, of the Hot Lake, who has been visiting in Washington Territory for some time, returned home Thursday. Hereafter when service is held in the M. E. church in the evening, it will commence at 7 o'clock instead of 7:30 as heretofore.

Frank Collins returned from the University at Eugene, a few days ago. He was in Union the fore part of the week, shaking hands with his many friends. The Union Base-ball Club will accept a challenge from any club in the county, but would prefer to play a match game with the boys of the Cove or La Grande.

The Cove drug store will soon receive a fresh supply of drugs from the East. Money is needed to pay for same, so an early settlement of your account will be appreciated. Yesterday, John Elliot, the lively man, received an elegant bus to be used in carrying passengers in this city and between here and the depot. John keeps up with the times.

Dan Chandler has purchased and taken charge of the Centennial hotel. Mr. Chandler is refitting and renovating the premises, and will spare no pains to make the hotel first class in every respect. We wonder if the Sentinel man knows anything about that appropriation that was made by the state, and the efforts being made by our people to connect the Pine creek mines with this city by a wagon road.

Sometimes correspondents, writing from adjacent localities, make mention of the same event. In such cases, the precedence is given to the communication first put in type, and the item is left out of the other. Correspondents need not take offense at this. A few days ago Merwin & Love brought four short-horn bulls, of Rogers & Williamson, and took them to their rancho on Powder river. They were the finest animals we have seen for some time. Neither of them is a year old, yet the aggregate weight of the four is 2,765 pounds.

The entertainment given last Saturday evening, by the Union Literary Society, was well attended and highly appreciated by all. The proceeds were about $55.00, which will be used to pay the indebtedness incurred by the Society during the winter, and to furnish the library with books. We are in hopes the company will see fit to give us another entertainment before many days. A few days ago, the four year old son of W. A. Reynolds, of Baker City, got "stix" about something and told his mother he believed he would chop off some of his fingers. She paid no attention to him, but soon heard a squall from the back yard, and going out found that the young hopeful had cut off two fingers of his left hand with a hatchet. Whenever you place a genuine American boy in reach of a hatchet, something remarkable is liable to occur. This boy will no doubt get to be president some day, and snap his remaining digits at the dear people. The latest news from Pine creek regarding the showing of the "Whitman" mine is most flattering. Mr. Neuner, the superintendent of the "Whitman" company is now on a business trip to Louisville, Kentucky, whither he goes to make preparations for the purchase of extensive mill machinery to be placed on the "Whitman" as soon as the deep snows of the Pine creek region shall admit. The owners of several other mines in the district are pushing the work of development as fast as possible, the snow interfering somewhat with operations.—Baker City Sage Brush.

Contract Awarded.

The Pine Creek Road Commissioners met in this city, last Monday, to open the bids for the construction of the road as advertised for. Only two bids were put in, one by Smith & Hale, to build the road for $11,000; the other by Shaw & Method, of Summerville, to construct it for $10,000. Each bid was accompanied by good and sufficient bonds, but the commissioners seemed to differ as to the number of proceedings. While Method's was in favor of awarding the contract to Shaw & Method, theirs being the lowest bid, the other two commissioners were in favor of rejecting both bids, and advertising again, Campbell alleging that the bids were too low, and the contractor would be ruined, while Chaplin thought that if the matter could be postponed until the snow went off, other bids would be put in and the work done less expensively. Shaw & Method very justly, as many of our citizens thought, decidedly objected to that kind of an arrangement, and insisted on the contract being let to them, as they had by good faith put in a bid, and it was the lowest. The matter was finally adjourned and the contract was let to them, which seems to give general satisfaction, as Angus Shaw is known to be an experienced road builder, and is sufficiently well financially to carry to a successful termination any thing he undertakes to do. After paying the contractors for building the road, there will yet be something like $1,000 left of the fund to defray incidental expenses, which is certainly sufficient.

In an interview with Messrs Shaw & Method, they informed us that each of us had been recommended about the first of May and that it is their intention to employ from 50 to 75 men, and a limited number of teams. Work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, and they think the road will be completed within two months.

A Recommendation. The following recommendation, from friends of Pony Stevenson, candidate for sheriff of this county, has been handed us for publication: We, the undersigned, being a general merchandise business in Jackson county, the former place of residence of Mr. Pony Stevenson, and being well acquainted with the party mentioned, do recommend him favorably for the office of sheriff, and as one of the most competent and honest men for office will come out victorious. It is to be hoped that both conventions will pay less attention to the clerk and sheriff's office, and endeavor to get the right kind of men for commissioners, judges and assessors, as on these largely depend the welfare of the county. The people are beginning to get their eyes open to this fact, and if there is any trading done by voters at the polls, it will be to get good men in the last named offices.

Base Ball Club. At a meeting for the organization of a base ball club, in this city, held at Hall Bro's, store, on the 14th inst., the following names were enrolled as members: C. W. Leander, Geo. Bell, Geo. F. Hall, M. H. Hall, W. A. H. W. Warren, J. M. Carroll, J. Levy, A. O. Toole, S. Benson, Geo. Beard, E. M. Mudd, Harry Benson, Geo. W. Stafford, B. P. Wilson, S. V. McFarren, Gus Handington, and James Johnson.

The following officers were elected for the season: President, G. P. Hall; Vice president, B. E. Wilson; Secretary, Geo. Beidleman; Treasurer, J. M. Carroll; Captain, James Leavelle; Assistant captain, C. W. Leander; Home umpire, Gus Newcomb.

Will Contested. Bridget Barry, an inmate of a convent at Fort Wayne, Indiana, and sister of the late John Barry of this city, has commenced action to have the will of her brother set aside, on the grounds that he was incompetent, and incapacitated by sickness, and that portions of his actions at the time the will was made, George Newcomb was appointed to take testimony, and has been hearing the case during the week. Sheldon & Hardesty are attorneys for the plaintiff, and O. P. Bell, and Judge Moreland of Multnomah county, are for the defense.

Blanks for quartz and placer locations at J. H. White's. Powder River Pebbles. Mrs. Martin, of the Cove, has been visiting friends in the Park. Mr. Foyator, of the Cove, will teach the Park school, this spring. The Emile Ditch Co. have discontinued work on the ditch for the present, but will commence again in October. Daniel Fruit and Wallace Boyles took their departure a few days ago for Baker valley, on a trapping and hunting expedition. The Literary and debating society of the Park, has adjourned for the summer. The next meeting will be on the evening of the first Saturday in November. P. H. Miles is still working on his mine on Big creek. He has got quite a showing. The last assay of the ore went $64.70 to the ton. Hurrah for Big creek! Fred Skiffonis was in Powder river valley a few days ago, and surveyed a road for the settlers. Justus Wright, P. H. Miles and Cyrus Barnes, view-ers. Antelope Items. April showers too numerous to mention, with occasional snow squalls, but for all that they bring forth May flowers. We have been informed that Mr. F. Dolan, of this place, has purchased one-half interest in the North Powder drug store. May prosperity be his. The freight train men are to take breakfast at this place after this, as both east and west bound trains arrive here at 7:12 A. M. Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, has introduced a new anti-Chinese bill, by which he coolly proposes to sweep away all treaty provisions which stand in the way of an absolute prohibition of Chinese immigration, and to exclude from the country all Mongolian immigrants, and to prevent the return of any that may leave the country. This bill puts a pleasing countenance on every man who has respect for the rights of his own race at heart, and if this bill becomes a law it will be unanimously ratified on the Pacific coast.

ANSWERED.

Reply of O. F. Bell to "Many Citizens." Greatly disliking to recognize anonymous correspondents, but feeling that the subject treated of by "Many Citizens" is one in which the people of the county at large are interested, I have determined to answer the questions propounded, to the best of my ability, and if Mr. Outhouse does the same, the public can then draw their own conclusions. 1st. Neither Mr. Outhouse nor myself took an oath of office before entering upon the discharge of the duties of examining the county affairs under the appointment of the county court. Before anything was done, I suggested to Mr. Outhouse that we should be sworn, but he replied that it was not necessary. I was willing to take an oath, so the blame for the omission for failure to be sworn, rests on Mr. Outhouse, if blame there be.

2nd. As to how the figures, showing the county indebtedness were arrived at, it was as follows: From what old registers we could find—from the journal of the County Commissioner's proceedings—the stubs, the warrants returned and cancelled and such other data as we could find among the filed away records of the county, we made registers of all the county warrants issued by order of the court, and some not so ordered. We got the cancelled warrants segregated into classes as marked thereon, and entered the same upon our registers as paid, showing the amount paid, including the face, the interest (as endorsed on the warrant) and the total. This process, of course, left on the face of the register blanks, unfilled out, of all warrants not found as returned and paid. I then made a list of all outstanding warrants as shown by these registers and upon that list interest was calculated on such warrants, but without going into decimals in making the calculations. The interest was calculated partly by myself and partly by Mr. Outhouse, as the list will show. The list so made, with the calculations so made, and the indebtedness to the State as obtained from the State Treasurer footed up the indebtedness of the county, on July 1st, 1885 at $77,000.07. This was the amount of the indebtedness, no matter what the resources of the county were where-with to pay the same, and it was the amount of the indebtedness that the order called for, as shown by the following extract from such order: * * * That said expert be required to make a statement of all the indebtedness as found by him on July 1st, 1885. * * *

In my judgement there is no other way to arrive at the indebtedness, but taking the unpaid warrants at their face and calculate the interest thereon. 3rd. In regard to how the annual expenditures set forth in the report were arrived at, this was done entirely by Mr. Outhouse, except as herein-after stated. When this branch was entered upon, I suggested to Mr. Outhouse that a segregation should be made, showing for what all the money was expended, to which he replied that the order only called for expenses of sheriff, clerk, treasurer, and roads and bridges, and that that was all he was going to do, and put the balance under miscellaneous. He made up these statements from the registers made by us, upon separate slips of paper for each year. I did not go over any of this part of the work and know nothing as to whether there are errors in it or not. The only thing I had to do with this branch was, that about the time I was finishing up my engagement, Mr. Outhouse asked me to take his slips and put them into shape for the report. I took his papers, but there were so many figures added here and added there, and the whole put down in such a manner that I could not understand them, and so told him. He then took the slips, dictated to me from them, and I wrote the figures down as he called them off. There was a way by which the correctness of these figures could have been arrived at, and I suggested the same to Mr. Outhouse. It was to foot the aggregate of the registers and the aggregate of his segregations, and the two should tally if there was no mistake. This was not done, Mr. Outhouse remarking that he knew that he was right, or words to that effect.

4th. The question I have already answered. 5th. The real facts in regard to the Supreme court decision are, so far as I am acquainted with them, as follows: When Mr. Wright presented his bill for tax rolls and assessment rolls to the County court, made out at the rate of one folio for each name, the court refused to allow it, and Mr. Wright stated to the court that the matter had been passed upon by the Supreme court, and suggested that the court should write to Judge Balleray, who was then Judge of this district. This was done by Judge Craig, and Judge Balleray replied thereon, and his answer has been made public. Based upon such reply the court allowed the bill. When this question was sprung in the expert room, I stated that Judge Balleray's letter was in the clerk's office, and stated the substance of it, but Mr. Outhouse was not satisfied with this. He obtained what he calls copies of the submission, decision and decision of the Supreme court, which he publishes in a garbled manner in the La Grande Gazette, as anyone can see, who knows anything about law proceedings. He commences with the "submission of the controversy," next "the decision," and next "Supreme court decision," but he takes the decision or Balleray, cuts it in two, leaving the tail end for him, and puts the commencement of his decision into the mouth of the Supreme court as their decision, when, in fact, as I am informed, and verily believe, the Supreme court did not even write an opinion. I have copies of the submission, Balleray's decision, and the Supreme court mandate before me (not the ones obtained by Outhouse, however) and they can be produced to any one desirous of seeing them. Outhouse says "Balleray is mistaken." Let the people judge. Who is more likely to be correct, the man who heard the case and passed upon it, or the man who judges of it by copies of papers obtained some time after the case was decided? The facts as stated to me, outside of these papers, coming from those who ought to know, are, that outside of the mere question presented by the submission, Judge Balleray was expressly requested to pass upon the question as relating to tax and assessment rolls, and did so against Mr. Outhouse, and the whole matter was presented to the Supreme court, which decided that "there is error as alleged" and reversed the judgement of the court below. The County courts of Umatilla and Union counties have acted upon this decision. Is Mr. Outhouse a better commentator on law and decisions than courts—"I" say, the great "we" (vide Outhouse's published statement) the contrary notwithstanding, that there is authority from this decision for charging "a folio for each name with figures annexed on assessment and tax lists. 6th. In answer to his question I can say conscientiously, that I had no ulterior views in this investigation other than to seek the information desired by the people, and as to what was in the secret heart of the expert, I can only judge by his acts and words, and these throughout the time expended in this investigation showed clearly to my mind that there was some underlying motive actuating him. He seemed to be most bitter against the present incumbent of the clerk's office—talked and said a good deal against him in regard to the deputyship; said that he (Wilson) need not think his letter (referring to one which had appeared in the public newspaper) would go unanswered, that he intended to answer it and show up Mr. Wilson, that Wilson would never get the position again, and gave me to understand that he would use his influence to defeat him. I cannot now repeat his words, as this subject was referred to by him so frequently, showing a bitterness of spirit against Wilson. He expressed animosity against Mr. Skiff, stating that he could not be elected to any office in Union county. Towards Mr. Wright he did not express any bitter feeling, but he seemed to hunt up his bills and Wilson's on the subject of this foliage question. Speaking of hunting up bills reminds me that this was another matter which led me to suppose that Outhouse had some ulterior views. He was continually going over, over and over these bills, especially the clerk's, it seemed to me. Even when making segregations of annual expenditures, he would stop and take a spell at bill hunting. He seemed to be particularly anxious about Wilson's bills, and would sometimes ask me, "where is Wilson's bill for such a time?" or "I want to find Wilson's bill for such a time," and when he found anything that he thought in any way out of the way, in Frank Wilson's bills, he would speak about it as if he had found something outrageous, and with an expression on his face, as I would read it, "now I have got him." He seemed also very anxious in his hunt, to obtain Skiff's bills, but when found he appeared not to be able to get hold of anything to his (Skiff's) detriment. Another thing which showed Outhouse's feelings: when the work was first begun, a room was assigned to us by the clerk, Mr. Wilson, and he requested that I should carry the key, as I was a sworn deputy of his at the time. To this, Outhouse demurred, and in connection therewith spoke very bitterly against Wilson, saying that he was the expert and would show Mr. Wilson. And afterwards, when Wilson consented to Outhouse having the key, on my going in the morning and on my return he was hunting over bills. And I left him there sometimes when I left at night. How often he went over those bills I will not undertake to say, but certainly a greater number of times than was necessary for the purpose of the investigation. Let the public take his report and with this light thrown thereon, judge his motives. Again, let the public take the report as written by Outhouse (and it is all written by him) they will see a part in quotation marks which he says "Bell reports." It is true I wrote nearly all that in draft, but some of it I did not, as for instance he would have me say "May 2nd, 1870, Skiff ordered to collect $50.00 from Joe Yowell and pay Treasurer." I never wrote any such thing, nor does the journal show any such thing. Put in place of Skiff, "Skiff," usual contraction for "Sheriff," and you will have it just as I wrote it. Same in regard to the other place a few lines further on, where Skiff's name again appears. Why should he misquote me but to give Skiff a rap? It is but fair to the public to say in conclusion with this matter that I did say to Outhouse that I did not think Frank Wilson could be re-elected, but I had not then and have not now any feeling of enmity against him. 7th. I had no enemies to punish. If Outhouse had, I suppose he will tell the public. 8th. The books and papers referred to have not all been returned to the County court, as I have enquired for registers and delinquent lists, and cannot obtain them from their proper custodian—the County clerk. Where are they? The registers I have seen in the sheriff's custody, left there, as I was informed, by Mr. Outhouse. This is all I know about them. 9th. And lastly. The first I had to do with this expert business was, I was requested by the court to draw, and did draw the journal entry, ordering the same. A day or two after Mr. Outhouse bailed me on the street and I crossed over to him. We sat down on the steps of the Methodist church, and he said he wanted to see me about helping him with the investigation. I asked him how he wanted me to act, as a joint expert, or a clerk? After some talk he proposed, and I agreed to go into the matter with him and share the responsibility, he saying that he did not intend to make any war on any body, but if he found any crookedness we would report it, he remarking that so far as Tom Wright's time, when you were with him, is concerned, I will look over that alone, so that the public may not think you are prejudiced. I replying, you need not do that, for if I find any crookedness in Tom, I will report him as quick as anybody. With this understanding we went into the matter, and it so continued until after our talk with regard to clerk's fees, on tax and assessment rolls, Balleray's decision and letter, when one day he remarked to me, "Bell, what are you doing?" I replied, "busy with officer's accounts." He said "I will have to go over your work to see that you are right." I said, "what! then I will have to go over yours." He replied, "no," that he was the expert, and the public looked to him to see that all was correct. I said, "all right then, if you take all the responsibility, I am only a clerk," or something like that. But he did not go over my work, but reports it correct. I did not go over his work, and I do not know that it is correct. I thought at the time the change came over him, that his reason for the change was that he proposed to make a report in which he knew I would not join, and he had admitted since in a letter to me that such was the fact. I will merely add that so far as I investigated the bills of the various officers, the only thing that I saw greatly out of the way or "illegal" in any of them, was constructive mileage charged by the sheriff's, and if there was any blame to be cast on any one, it should have been the court which allowed them. I believe this is all I have to say about the matter. O. F. BELL, Sheriff of Union County, 1885.

I, O. F. Bell, being first duly sworn, say that the facts set forth in the foregoing statement and reply, are true as I verily believe. O. F. BELL, Subscribed and sworn to before me this 14th day of April, A. D. 1886. D. B. REES, Notary Public for Or.

Cove Cullings. April 15th, 1886. Miss Nimenia Sanborn has accepted a school near Hazel City, and is now wedding the island o'er the urhish.

Salmon are now making their annual run up the small creeks. The small boy, in particular, is capturing them, when they find ready sale for their takes at four bits each.

Judd Geer purchased at the Cove drug store, this week, a very fine breech-loading shotgun. Judd is just proud of the weapon, which he handles with enviable skill.

The Cove hotel is offered for sale at a very reasonable price. To an individual or family wishing to make a certain livelihood on a small outlay, besides having a very pleasant home, this is a rare offer.

O. P. Jaycox has set a good example by building a sidewalk in front of his dwelling. He also contemplates a new gateway on the west side of his property, thus making his attendance at church more convenient.

Mortimer Bloom returned, this week, from Pine valley where he took a load of flour. He met with a severe loss; one of his best horses dying from the effects of a kick. He says every stage takes in a load of passengers, while the road to the mines is lined with the conveyances of eager aspirants for a supply of the filthy lucre.

The dramatic entertainment at Union, Saturday evening, proved very congenial to us and we are of the opinion it would meet with gratifying success if reproduced in Cove.—Coveites. Step up sisters and brethren, and bid me an affectionate farewell. I will soon start for Wyoming. An early breakfast isn't always healthful for us during Lent.—Blm caps. Have you heard E. is going far away to become a cow boy? Isn't that too bad?—B. Who can name the recipient of a beautiful and appropriate book from her "Adolphus," this week?

A strange case of premonition happened in Cove, a short time since. John Wilmot, a gentleman well and favorably known, while attending to his duties, and with his mind on other subjects, was startled by hearing, distinctly addressing him, the voice of his father living in Canada and whom he had not seen for years. So vivid and natural was the tone of voice, that he could not resist the impulse to look through the house for the cause. The unexplainable phenomenon weighed heavily on Mr. Wilmot's mind, foreboding some sad event. Wednesday he received a letter from home, giving the particulars of his father's death, it having occurred on the exact date that the premonition appeared. Mr. Wilmot has the sympathy of the community in his sorrow.

Cornucopia Croppings. April 11th, 1886. C. C. Cofflabery returned to Union, Tuesday.

John Williamson came up, last Monday, to look after his mining claims.

Wm. Young's new and commodious restaurant was opened to the public, Friday eve.

Col. Gilmore met with quite an accident, yesterday. He was cutting wood and the axe glanced off striking his left foot.
