Local and General.

ANOTHER ESCAPE -- Wednesday evening last, about 8 o'clock, smoke was seen issuing from Carroll's blacksmith shop, leased by Frank Johnson, which is situated on the cor. of C and Main streets, in the most populous portion of the town. The door was forced open and the wall above the forge was found to be a sheet of flames, reaching to the roof. The alarm was given and in less than two minutes the fire company, and at least one hundred and fifty citizens, many of them with backets of water, were on the spot, and as they did not come to lock at the fire, but to put it out, it is needless to say they got it extinguished in a jiffy. The fire, which had been carelessly left in the forge, had extended out through the coal and ignited the wall. Had it not caught till later in the night. doubtless it would have got beyond control before being discovered, and the whole town would have been consumed. This is another warning of what we may expect at any time, and should not go unheeded. Certainly this place has sufficient wealth and population to afford a fire engine, and all necessary appliances for fighting fire, and we believe it is the duty of the city council to see that the want is immediately supplied by taxing the property of the city for the purpose. A good engine can be bought on the installment plan, and a two mill tax for two or three years would pay for it, and the taxation would hardly be felt by property holders. The result would be greatly reduced insurance rates, and increased value of property in every part of the town, on account of the feeling of greater security which would be engendered. It is to be hoped the council will look at this matter in a business like manner, and, at once, take some action in regard to the matter.

BURNING OF EAGLE CREEK BRIDGE .--Last Sunday the new bridge crossing Eagle creek, on the road from this city to Pine creek, was totally destroyed by fire. From parties who arrived on the spot while the bridge was still on fire. we learn that it caught from forest fires which were burning in close proximity. This we believe is the general impression, although some who have come over the road since, seem to think it was the work of an incendiary. It was a splendid structure, costing almost $1,200, and a much better bridge than is actually needed at that place. A new bridge, sufficient for all purposes, can probably be put in for three or four hundred dollars. The commissioners had a conference here last Wednesday, to take steps towards putting up a new bridge, and doubtless it will be done without delay Travel over that road is not impeded. although it is rather rough fording at that place now. WORK SUSPENDED .- Mr. Carroll, chairman of the road commissioners, of this end of the Pine creek road informs us that work has been suspended, although the road is not finished as completely as he intended to finish it, and in several places it could be improved. Willis Skiff', the treasurer of the commissioners, had $180 of road money in his possession when he disappeared. That money with as much more would have made a magnificent road from here to Goose creek. Messrs, Carroll and Efner deserve the thanks of the community for the able and faithful manner in which they have conducted this work.

They were so unfortunate as to lose their valises and contents, by the burning of the Golden Rule hotel at La Grande. Mr. Sears played a practical joke on Mr. A. N. Hamilton, the present sheriff, with whom he was intimately accquainted in Iowa, several years ago. Having heard that the sheriff was in La Grande, he made a call upon him, and found him busily engaged in taking an inventory of an attached hardware stock. Seeing that Hamilton did not recognize him. he concluded to have a little fun at the sheriff's expense. Choking down somewhat, he informed the sheriff that he had a few days before borrowed(?) a man's horse, and as yet had failed to return it, and having heard that the man to whom the animal belonged was contemplating his arrest, he had concluded to give him self up to the sheriff, and had called for this purpose. She was so dek that day, from some cause, that she was not up or about, and her husband claims the poison was wrapped just as he gave it to ber to put away. Dr. Kenedy had been doctoring her just previous to her death, said she told him and others that she would rather take strychnine than to bear a child. We found no other person to say that she said this, and when she was exhumed the surgical doctors said she was not pregnant, and if she had said such seems like her husband would have heard her talk of such. She had the mumps and was quite sick for a week. Washing had to be done, and soap made, and she did both with her jaws tied up. She never was well any more, but sewed up to the day of her death, to get ready to go on a visit to Me-Minville, and had went down to the store the day before for samples to pick a dress from, which shows that she did not contem plate self-destruction, or talked in such a way as it is claimed. A lady friend was in about four o'clock, and no other person was with her nor children, and she was quite sick in bed. Her friend stayed a short time and went home, but returned about eight o'clock and usked Mrs. Morris how she was, who replied she felt better. Mr Joe Murris and wife were there and thi friend did not stay long. When when W. A. Morris called him back. When his brother Joe came he asked him if he shduld send for Dr. Kenedy. He said ves. She was having spasms all this time. When the doctor came seem to be confused or something seemed to be the matter. They said he seemed not to do what he might have done. She called for water, the lady asked the doctor if she should give her some, the doctor said yes. When she at-tempted to give her some it brought on some, the doctor sold yes. When she at-tempted to give her sould it brought on sparns. The doctor was asked again if she could have writers. He said yes, and again she wont into a sparin. Now, talk is asked, if he knew she had strychnine from the motient he entered the house, why did he say she could have writer instead of admin-istering some anticious? We would like to know how and who he got the information front, in twenty minotes after his arrival, that she had secretely self-administered this poison. This is on his own written statement. And now, after being taken up it is claimed strychindre was found in her stomache. We will never believe it was administered by her own hand, until other evidence is given to prive different. Anevidence is given to prive different. An-other singular thing in this tase is . After having a written statement, made by her hushnihi, relatives, and friends printed in two or more papers of Dayton, not one si her relatives received or knew the cause o her relatives received or knew the cruise of her death until a month afterward, when one of her brothlets was passing through and got hold of one of the papers. One of his relatives wrote to her failher that the doctor sold she diet of Hevr and kidney complaint. When he received the papers and true cause of her death he was learn fully shocked, and went instructionely and had her taken up, but is not antieffed with the decision that the strychiline was in her give some cyldence, she took with her own handles.
