General Harney, of the United States army, is the oldest man on the register.
"Consumption Cured"
would be a truthful name to give to Dr.
Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," the most efficacious medicine yet discovered for arresting the early development of pulmonary disease. But "consumption cure" would not sufficiently indicate the scope of its influence and usefulness. In all the many diseases which spring from a derangement of the liver and blood the "Discovery" is as safe and sure specific. Of all drugs.
No man was ever so mean that he could not give advice.
How often is the night of the household clouded by signs of melancholy or irritability on the part of the ladies. Yet they are not to be blamed, for they are the result of ailments peculiar to that sex, which men know not of. But the cause may be removed and joy restored by the use of Dr.
Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," which, as a tonic and nerve for debilitated women, is certain, safe and pleasant. It is beyond all compare the great healer of women.
An illicit distillery has been discovered in the county jail at Atlanta.

Return of Fortune's Favorite.
J. M. Ricketts, Esq., of Crested Butte, has returned from several weeks' visit among relatives and friends east and the enjoyment of pleasures and luxuries there to be had which the snug fortune he drew in the Louisiana State Lottery at its drawing June 15th enabled him to do. It is safe to say that after having, in western parlance,
"lived so long upon expectations and rabbit tracks" in these altitudinous mountain regions, "Jim," as he is familiarly called by his intimates, thoroughly yet reasonably partook of the pleasures and luxuries aforesaid, first collecting the $30,000, which, by the way, was promptly paid by that corporation, whose record for square dealing,
always unquestioned, can now be verified here. The collection was made by the First National Bank of Denver, through which
Mr. Ricketts sent the ticket (No. 18,145) in due time—as quick as the returns could be made—receiving the coveted gold.
When the announcement that Mr. Ricketts had drawn two-tenths of the capital prize of $150,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery was received by him, he was as our readers know, very sceptical and even wagered $500 each with his friends, Avery and Gray, that he would not get the money.
The Review-Press gave a full report of
"Jim's luck" at the time, and now that he has returned home, his well known pockets are again tender our congratulations and wish him long life to enjoy his prosperity. The investment, he tells us, made with great hesitation, it not being his habit to purchase shares in lottery schemes of any kind.
Mr. Ricketts is a young man, an attorney at Crested Butte, and until this turn of fortune's wheel did not have any overplus of this world's goods. We understand that with a portion of the fortune won he will seek still another and larger, by investing in the lottery called "Mining"—the development of which is very sceptical and even terested in this country. May success attend him. (Gunnison (Col.) Review Press, August 3.
"Off with his head. So much for Cutting-ham," cry the Mexicans.
Geo. Roth has unaided worked his way through Elliott's Business College, and is now book-keeper for Pilger Bros., wholesale grocers of Burlington, Ia.
The cotton crop of western India is expected to be the largest ever recorded.
Wages getting your best or shoe straightened, use Lyon's Best Stiffeners; they keep them straight.
Gov. Foraker announces himself for Sherman for president.
Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "a revelation." Their salutary action and good effect on the system, really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them.
"All things come to him who waits."
Relief is immediate, and a cure sure. Piso's Remedy for Catarrh, 50 cents.
Sunstrokes are an unknown quantity in Colorado.
The color produced by Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers, is permanent and natural.
To promote digestion, to keep the body healthy and the mind clear, take Ayer's Pills.
Princess Victoria of Germany is an ugly girl; blonde, with a sarcastic smile.
Graduates of the Iowa City Commercial College are holding good positions all over this country. Students travel several hundred miles to attend that school.
It is said that Boston's tax rate will be $12.65 on $1,000 this year.
SAFE, permanent and complete are the cures of bilious and intermittent diseases, made by Prickly Ash Bitters. Dyspepsia, general debility, habitual constipation, liver and kidney complaints are speedily radiated from the system. It disinfects, cleanses and eliminates all malarial. Health and vigor are obtained more rapidly and permanently by the use of this great natural antidote than by any other remedy heretofore known. As a blood purifier and tonic it brings health, renewed energy and vitality to a worn and diseased body.
Miss Cleveland will not go to Chicago, but will do hereditary work at longrange.
FRANK DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER is an excellent regulator of the stomach and bowels, and should always be kept on hand, especially at this season of the year, when so many suffer from bowel complaints. There is nothing so quick to relieve in attacks of cholera.
Major Ben Perley Poore weighs 300 pounds and enjoys a good dinner.
The Omaha Type foundry can furnish new newspaper outfits on short notice.
Prices same as in Chicago and freight already paid to Omaha.

Powderly's Assistant.
A New York correspondent writes to The Indiana Journal as follows: William O.
McDowell, whose selection by Mr. Powderly as his assistant in the settlement of the southwestern strikes, and who now again comes to the front to serve in a similar capacity in the street-car matters in this city, is an interesting man. He has a penchant for big enterprises, rivaling in ambition that of Col. Sellers. He is at present a manufacturer, and largely interested in the Sea-beach railway, a corporation that started in a few years ago to break the combinations of high-fare lines to Coney Island, went to pieces itself instead, was reorganized after the usual fashion, and is now doing well. Until his present appearance as a laboring man, McDowell has been little heard of since the time, seven or eight years ago, when he was captain and all hands of an association that was to make New Jersey the biggest state in the union, and give its manufacturers three feet deep all along its front. The only result of the existence of the association was an excursion which McDowell gave. It started in a natty little steamer, went up the Hudson to Weehawken and down the Jersey shore to Elizabethtown, stopping at every spot where there was any big factory to inspect. An elaborate luncheon, and barrels of New Jersey native wine on tap free, were the order of the day. Even then, however, McDowell was in conflict with the monopolists of the railroads, for a funny incident occurred at the Pennsylvania railroad docks in Jersey City. The invitation announced as one of the attractions of the trip, a visit to the Pennsylvania's immense freight warehouses. When the boat drew up at the wharf McDowell, leading the party off, was met by Supt. F. Wolcott Jackson, of the railroad, who had read of the excursion in the papers, and came down to see "who in thunder was going to inspect this institution without permission." He ordered the steamer away from the dock at once. Mr.
McDowell protested that no disrespect to Mr.
Jackson's authority was intended. Both sides were waxed indignant, and the excursionists lay back and laughed at the very merry war.
Finally both men cooled off, and Mr. Jackson not only invited the excursion ashore, but himself piloted it through the freight-houses, and accompanied it to the next stopping place.

The Prohibition Question.
"The prohibition craze promises to be the great issue of the immediate future.
The south is rapidly becoming solid for prohibition. It seems that a red nose is to a prohibitionist what a red rag is to a bull," said Gilhooley, who is a partial inebriate.
"Well, what are you going to do about it?" asked Kosciusko Murphy, who is a total abstainer.
"I never cross a river before I get to it," was the reply. "If it comes to the worst I expect I can buy a demijohn." "I believe in prohibition. I think it's a good thing for the country."
"It's a good thing if it is not carried too far. The trouble with you Prohibitionists is that you want the earth."
"Oh, no we don't."
"Well, you want water, and that's two-thirds of the earth. Don't you know that water is not fit to drink?
There is only one man mentioned in the Bible as wanting water, and he only wanted a few drops of it. Don't you know that drops of water falling continuously on a two-inch plank will wear a hole through it in thirty-five years?"
"What moral do you draw from that?"
"Drink beer."
"I don't see any sense in drinking beer or whisky when such nice drinks as soda water and ice water can be purchased for a trifle."
"My dear sir, don't you read almost every day of soda water fountains exploding and killing people? How often do you read of harvest hands and laboring men dropping dead from drinking ice water. You never heard of a man dying while quietly sucking a mint julep through a straw, did you?"
"I don't care to discuss the question in that vein."
"I suppose you would not take a drink of whisky to cure a snake bite."
"You can never talk about whisky without thinking of snakes, but then there is nothing strange about that. I expect you have got a directory of the saloons of your city pasted in your hat.
You have no occasion to be guzzling whisky. You are not a member of Congress, but you will be sooner or later."
"Great Scott! If drinking a little whisky now and then is going to land me in Congress, I guess it's not too early for me to swear off right now. Give me your hand. Not a drop of the accursed stuff shall ever touch my lips.
When I think of landing in Congress it makes me shudder."—Texas Siftings.

From a Tory Standpoint.
How very good it is of these American gentlemen to take so much trouble about our insignificant affairs. Here is Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who is or here on a professional tour, giving his opinion on the Irish question. Mr. Beecher agrees with Cardinal Manning in believing that the Protestants have "nothing to fear" from the Catholics in Ireland. He shows how eminently qualified he is to enter on the question by pointing out that the Catholics will be less dangerous to liberty "in a state of freedom than if deprived of legiti-mate political power." Probably Mr. Beecher does not really believe that the Catholics are not in a state of freedom at the present time, but there are a good many Irish in Brooklyn.
An American revivalist preacher can hardly get on, in the pulpit or out of it, without little profanity; so that we are not surprised to find Mr. Beecher bringing in the name of the Master he is supposed to serve in connection with Mr. Gladstone and the Tories. Really we are inclined to believe that the cause of disruption is not being helped by its advocates.
The English elector must have changed a good deal if he stands being dictated to by either Roman Catholic cardinals or snake bit-thumpers. Nor will the news that Mr.
Henry George and Grand Master Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, have been demonstrating or helping to demonstrate for hours in New York, put him in any better temper.
"Great Britain for the British" is a reasonable demand.—St. James's Gazette.

Rules for Riding.
Never try to mount a horse when he is running, nor while he is rearing on his hind legs. You mount and then again you mount.
If the road be muddy, and you have occasion to pass any pedestrians, be sure and spur your horse to full speed.
It is such fun to see the mud fly, and you will be sure to attract attention to your horsemanship.
Never slack up any when children or old persons are crossing the road in advance of you. The right of way is always in favor of the equestrian, and they might as well learn it first as last.
If you are riding your own horse and he be valuable, you will of course be careful of him—no rules are necessary in such a case. But if it be a borrowed horse don't spare him. A man who will lend a horse deserves to be taught a lesson, anyhow.
Pass everything on the road, unless you be an editor, in which case, of course, you will let everything pass you, from a railroad to a dime museum.
Cross country riding is very exhilarating, though somewhat dangerous when you make the country too cross, which you are likely to do when you ride through growing crops and garden sass. Ride with a short stirrup at such times, as a long stir up of that sort might land you in jail or in the cor-ner's office.—Texas Siftings.

Where the Man Is.
An exchange asks: "Why do men seek wives?" Perhaps it is because a suspender button has lost its grip, and he doesn't know how to repair the damage. When a wife seeks the man he is generally in some beer saloon spending the money that ought to support the family.—(Norristown Herald.
A Level-Headed Bostonian.
A Bostonian has an honorable family relic that a snob would bury in the wilderness. The gentleman in question is Mr. R.
M. Mathewson, who has recently come into possession, through the death of his grandfather, of a unique and valuable medal which was conferred upon an ancestor who lived in Rhode Island for making the best cheese. The medal was awarded at a national fair held in Philadelphia in 1790.
The medal is about two inches in diameter and as thick as a $20 gold piece. It bears this inscription: "Conferred upon Joseph Mathewson for making cheese equal to the best Cheshire."

His First Experience.
The widow of Gen. Miramon has published the memoirs of her husband, who, it will be remembered, was executed with the Emperor Maximilian and Gen. Mexia. It appears that even in their last moments the doomed men were cheerful, and even humorous.
When Maximilian left his cell, he rejoiced that the weather was so favorable, and remarked that it was as fine as if it had been specially ordered for the occasion. Suddenly the solemn tolling of a bell was heard.
"I suppose that is intended for our death knell," remarked Maximilian, turning to Gen. Miramon.
"I am unable to give your majesty any information on the subject," replied Gen. Miramon, "as this is my first experience in being executed."—

A Happy Ending.
Bobby came into the house sobbing and told his mother that Tommy White had kicked him.
"Well, Tommy White is a very bad boy," said Bobby's mother, giving him a large piece of cake. "You didn't kick him back, did you?"
"No," replied Bobby, between bites.
"I kicked him first."—New York Sun.
She Made Him Kiss the Book.
"Do you," said Bessie to her day, "in earnest, love me as you say;
Or are those tender words applied Alike to twenty girls besides?"
"Dear, cruel girl," cried I, "forbear, For by those eyes, those lips, I swear!" She stopped me as the oath I took,
And cried, "You've sworn—now kiss the book!"

Return of Fortune's Favorite.
J. M. Ricketts, Esq., of Crested Butte, has
ment of pleasures and luxuries there to be
had which the snug fortune he drew in the Louisiana State Lottery at its drawing June 15th enabled him to do. It is safe to say that after having, in western parlance,
"lived so long upon expectations and rab-
regions, "Jim," as he is familiarly called by
said, first collecting the $30,000, which, by the way, was promptly paid by that corporation, whose record for square dealing,
always unquestioned, can now be verified
here. The collection was made by the First National Bank of Denver, through which
Mr. Ricketts sent the ticket (No. 18,145)
in due time—as quick as the returns could
be made—receiving the coveted gold.
When the announcement that Mr. Ricketts
of $150,000 in the Louisiana State Lottery was received by him, he was as our
wagered $500 each with his friends, Avery
and Gray, that he would not get the money.
The Review-Press gave a full report of
"Jim's luck" at the time, and now that he
him long life to enjoy his prosperity. The
investment, he tells us, made with great
kind.
Mr. Ricketts is a young man, an attorney at Crested Butte, and until this turn of
of this world's goods. We understand that
with a portion of the fortune won he will
in the lottery called "Mining"—the develop-
terested in this country. May success attend him. (Gunnison (Col.) Review Press, August 3.
