Luck of a Portuguese from Fayal.

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A Portuguese from Fayal bought a ticket of the Lousiana State lottery, and after carrying it in his pocket for fourteen months, gave it to a fellow countryman who has been in America only a few weeks. The latter investigated, and found that the ticket had drawn $15,000. The money arrived in this city to-day, and the Portuguese will sail in a few days for Fayal.—New York Tribune's special, Nov. 16th.

A young man from Fayal, who has been in San Francisco five weeks, has drawn $15,000 in a lottery, and will go home in the barkentine "Moses B. Tower," to sail this week. The ticket had been purchased for $1.10, and held fifteen months by a Portuguese in California, who got tired of it and presented it to the fortunate man. The money has arrived in this city, and Messrs. Loum, Snow & Son, agents of the barkentine, have deposited it in a bank for safety. The owner of it takes it very coolly, and does not wish to have his name printed.—New Bedford (Mass.) Standard, Nov. 16.

Cure for the Opium Habit.

There can be little doubt that much of the distress resulting from abstinence from an accustomed stimulant, whatever it be, is due to imagination, and in some cases victims of the habit have cured themselves by the exertion simply of a strong determination to take no more. In a large number of cases, however, the indulgence has produced a complete paralysis of will power, and then some method of judicious medical treatment is necessary, although even then success does not always follow. An account of the ingenious mode of effecting the cure of a long-indulged opium habit is given in The Medical World by Dr. R. H. Dalton. The patient was first allowed for a week to take her usual quantity of morphine in the form of a mixture containing also five drops of nux vomica and one quarter of a grain of quinine in each dose, and colored with tincture of lavender. Then for twenty weeks the amount of morphine was lessened every seven days one twentieth, and, at the same time, the tincture was increased one drop and the quinine by one-quarter grain at each change until the morphine was left entirely out. In the meantime, however, the quinine was not augmented after the ninth week, but ten drops of elixir of vitriol added to each dose taken afterward. The diminution of morphine was minute and gradual, the taste being the same, the patient was unable to detect any change whatever during the four months' treatment. As soon as Dr. Dalton became satisfied that the habit was entirely in the mind, he announced that she had not taken a particle of morphine for two weeks. As soon as she understood this the spell was broken and she wanted no more morphine; her health had become very much improved, and her gratitude seemed unbounded. Dr. Dalton says that if recourse to stimulants be prevented during the curing of the opium habit any physician may be successful with this plan.—British and Colonial Druggist.

A Long Way for Nothing.

The crowd was talking on the subject of traveling on passes, cheap rates, etc.

"Well," remarked Maj. Stofah, when there came a lull, "I went from Washington clear to San Francisco once for nothing."

"The walking must have been good that year," suggested Roberts.

"I rode all the way in a Pullman," said the major, with a smile.

"Did you have a pass?" asked Chambers.

"No pass."

"You knew all the conductors, perhaps," said Leachman.

"Didn't know a soul," replied the major, lighting an O. P. cigar.

"Then how in thunder did you make it?" asked Knott, who was anxious to get a low rate west.

"Easiest thing in the world," responded the major, coolly. "I had a sweetheart in Frisco, and I went out to marry her. When I got there, I found she had already married another fellow, and if you don't call that going to San Francisco for nothing, you may have this $15 suit I've got on, for 10 cents, half cash and the balance at ninety days."—Washington Critic.

Three things to avoid—Idleness, flippant jesting, loquacity.

Three things to govern—Temper, impulse, the tongue.

Three things to be prepared for—Decay, change, death.

"That was right."

"Right! Great Scott! man. You have nearly emptied my coal bin."

"Well, I had to."

"For a stove no bigger than a water-cooler?"

"Yes—a depot water-cooler."—Omaha World.

Bring Your Chair Along.

A tourist, who has made his tenth trip across the Atlantic, begins to think that the steamship companies might as well expect a passenger to take his own table over with him as to compel him to take chairs with him. He observes: "Here are several lines of magnificent new steamers, perfect floating palaces, with every improvement and comfort that ingenuity and science can suggest—large promenade decks, spacious smoking rooms, ladies' parlors, a fine dining saloon, electric lights and bells in every bedroom, etc.—but for the most primitive article of furniture, which may be found in the poorest laborer's hut, you look in vain on the deck or that part of the steamer where, in good weather, nine-tenths of the passengers spend the whole day. 'Bring your chair along if you want a seat,' is the motto of all the European steamship companies. Surely it is time to put an end to this idiotic custom."

What the Barber Wanted.

Drummer—"Barber, would you like to try some of my patent bay rum?"

Barber—"I've got all I want at present."

Drummer—"But, barber, this is a new kind."

Barber—"Isn't it the same as the last?"

Drummer—"Oh, no. Every man you shave, wash his face with this bay rum and I'll guarantee that he'll have a beard an inch long in two days."

Barber—"Send me a barrel at once."

A Wild Woman.

It was on a Madison street car. The driver was fat, red in the face, and solemn. Looking around to the solitary smoker who stood there, he said:

"I see that they have found a wild woman down in Pennsylvania."

"Yes," replied the smoker, who did not propose to have any ancient gag played on him.

The driver riveted his eyes on the horses and maintained profound silence until he had crossed the bridge, when he observed:

"But that ain't nothing, mister. You can see wild women any day on the West Side when the car don't stop in the middle of the block. Git on there, now, will ye?"—Chicago Herald.

It heals the diseased membrane, and removes the dull and depressed sensations which always attend catarrh. A short trial of this valuable preparation will make the sufferer feel like a new being.

A QUESTION ABOUT Brown's Iron Bitters ANSWERED.

The question has probably been asked thousands of times, "How can Brown's Iron Bitters cure everything?" Well, it doesn't. But it does cure any disease for which a reputable physician would prescribe IRON. Physicians recognize Iron as the best restorative agent known to the profession, and inquiry of any leading chemical firm will substantiate the assertion that there are more preparations of iron than of any other substance used in medicine. This shows conclusively that iron is acknowledged to be the most important factor in successful medical practice. It is, however, a remarkable fact, that prior to the discovery of BROWN'S IRON BITTERS no perfectly satisfactory iron combination had ever been found. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not injure the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other iron medicines do. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS cures Indigestion, Biliousness, Weakness, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Chills and Fevers, Tired Feeling, General Debility, Pain in the Side, Back or Limbs, Headache and Neuralgia—for all these ailments Iron is prescribed daily. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, however, does not cure in a minute. Like all other thorough medicines, it acts slowly. When taken by men the first symptom of benefit is renewed energy. The muscles then become firmer, the digestion improves, the bowels are active. In women the effect is usually more rapid and marked. The eyes begin at once to brighten; the skin clears up; healthy color comes to the cheeks; nervousness disappears; functional derangements become regular, and if a nursing mother, abundant sustenance is supplied for the child. Remember Brown's Iron Bitters is the ONLY iron medicine that is not injurious. Physicians and Druggists recommend it. The Genuine has Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. TAKE NO OTHER.

The oldest medicine in the world is probably Dr. Isaac Thompson's CELEBRATED EYE WATER. This article is a carefully prepared Physician's prescription, and has been in constant use nearly a century, and notwithstanding the many other preparations that have been introduced into the market, the sale of this article is constantly increasing. If the directions are followed it will never fail. We particularly invite the attention of physicians to its merits. JOHN L. THOMPSON, SONS & CO., TROY, N. Y.
