

THE OREGON SCOUT.

AMOS K. JONES EDITOR.

City and County Official Paper.

Saturday, April 2nd, 1887.

WHAT WILL BE DONE?

The last grand jury made a most excellent report of the condition of county affairs...

"It appears from the best information we can get on the subject that there has been various sums of money collected by former sheriffs and their deputies...

We do not know what action will be taken by the county court in this matter, but if as the grand jury seems to think...

A HOPEFUL VIEW.

The Salem Statesman consoles itself with the reflection that the inter-state commerce law, in raising the through freights both ways...

THE INTER-STATE LAW.

Recent dispatches from Washington state that the president has appointed the following as inter-state commissioners: Thomas M. Cooley...

gentlemen comprising this commission will prove exceptions to the rule, and be able to find something in the law that will be a benefit to the people...

We are inclined to think that the law will be a failure—it was intended to be a failure from its inception. If some law could be enacted, in plain English...

A BEAUTIFUL CITY.

There is not within the limits of Eastern Oregon a more beautiful and attractive city than Union. Strangers coming among us never tire of lauding our beautiful surroundings...

Whatever Union is to-day it has been made by the demands of the times. It has had no ephemeral boom which so often is the curse of many towns...

All that is needed to make Union, in the future, as it has been in the past, one of the foremost towns in this section of the State, is a liberal, pushing and aggressive policy on the part of her citizens.

PATENT YOUR MINES.

An exchange says truly that mining ground which is worth holding is worth patenting. A possessory title is good only so long as there is actual and continuous possession...
