

BINDER ODE.

As the season commences I think it
 But right,
 To speak of the binders engaged in the fight;
 The most have worked fairly, doing the best that they could,
 But the banner belongs to the WAL-TER A. WOOD.

Minneapolis next to the WOOD will be found,
 Her fields are cut smoothly, her bundles well bound;
 But to often it's found so much out of whack,
 And the reasons so many are found going back.

McCormick, poor man, has gone to his rest,
 Yet his binder still lives, but is far from the best;
 In his pamphlets and papers the WOOD they decry,
 But he got badly licked in Tom Pennington's rye. (At Roseville, Ill.)

The Deering twine binder a record has made,
 At least all its agents have had a fair trade;
 But farmers complain and everywhere
 grumble,
 It cuts now to well and has many a loose bundle.

The Champion cord binder, we hail with delight,
 With its manifold parts and its colors
 so bright;
 But its draft is so heavy the farmers
 all say,
 And to run our horses we find it don't pay.

The Excelsior cord binder, like Elijah
 of old,
 In the dear blessed Bible the story is told,
 That Elijah went up, and it's true, I declare,
 When the binder chokes up it mounts high in the air.

The Osborne, alas, what a pitiable sight!
 Yet her streamers so high when commencing
 the fight,
 Her sun has gone down on the banks of the Red river,
 Her wounds are so deep she can never recover.

The Dennett and Sandwich, oh my!
 what a pity
 That they should not count in this little ditty,
 Their design and their painting are both very good,
 But were knocked out of time by the Walter A. Wood.

The Esler cord binder, and Empire
 as well,
 While it pains me to say it, the truth I must tell;
 They raise both ends at once by a sten-der device,
 But in order to sell them they cut down the price.

The Buckeye and Low-Dows, oh! give us a rest, There's none of them gets there when put to the test,
 The St. Paul and Plano no sane man will buy,
 For they always choke badly when caught in big rye.

Of all other makes that have sold the past year,
 From the record they've made we have nothing to fear,
 Now, all farmers agree they want none
 but good,
 My advice to all such is to order a WOOD.

I have had the diabetes for thirty years.
 Have had many physicians prescribe for me but failed to get relief. I tried the Oregon Kidney Tea, and the first dose gave me relief. I am now almost well, and would recommend it to any one suffering from this disease.
