RUSSIAN PRISONS. The Terrible Rate of Mortality Prevailing

Valley Oregon, do .. 18 @ 20

Among the Inmates of Juils.

The Russian Administration of Prison's has just issued its report for 1885. On the 1st of January, 1885, there were 94,488 persons incarcerated throughout the empire. In the course of the year 703,254 entered and 697,769 individuals were liberated, leaving a residue of 99, 973 still in prison. Women formed about 8 per cent, of the convicted. Not withstanding a certain amelioration of sanitary appliances in the jails, the rate of mortality remained stationary. Of the 88,002 prisoners who were treated in hospital, there died 2.189 men, 246 women, 546 children. In this respect the island of Saghalien stood in the worst position, its sick list showing a the number of deaths there are not given. Diseases arising from humidity, insufficient vent lation, and defective accused of theft, 159 of political offences, one of bigamy and one of apostasy, The largest number of offenders belonged to the artisan class; not one is specified as a peasant. The expenses of the penitentiary service in the whole empire amounted to 11,798,614 rubles, being a diminution of 521,239 rubles upon the expenditure of the preceeding year. This economy was partially effected by reducing the cost of the equipment of the prisoners. There was a failing off in the receipts derived from the products of the prisoners' industry from 133,750 rubles in 1884 to 103,536 rubles in 1885. Moreover the Coal-Mining Company of Saghalien, which is supplied with convict labor, paid to the State 31,456 rubles for the rights conceded to it .- London Times,

A STREAK OF LUCK.

A Citizen of Little Rock Draws $5,000 in The Louisiana State Lottery and Buys out his Employer-A Run of Luck.

Mr. J. P. Schulze, the tailor, at 213 West Markham street, who, on the 9th inst., drew one-tenth of the second capital prize of $50,000 in The Louisiana State Lottery, is pursuing the even tenor of his way. His good fortune did by no means turn his head or send him on a celebration with the boys. He is a young, unmarried man, came from Saxony five years ago, and two years since moved from Atlanta to Little Rock. He obtained employment with E. J. Owens, a leading merchant tailor. After receiving the $5,000 from New Orleans, he bought out Mr. Owens, and ous susceptibility, and under certain is now employing him as his cutter. not well understood conditions, a poison He has a large business, and being is developed within the system. Hence, both careful and enterprising, will, of the only hope of a cure is to sustain the course, continue to build it up. In patient with stimulants, nourishment conversing with a Gazette reporter, he said: "Three drawings back was my first venture. I went in with five other boys, bought twenties and drew $10. At the next drawing we sent in the $10 and drew $35. This gave us $5.75 ing the injury, so as to bring the parts each. The other boys kept their well together, and the parts should be money. I put the 75 cts. in my pocket, kept clean with mild carbolic acid soreturned the $5 for tickets in the Au- lution, or some other good antiseptic gust drawing and drew $5,000." He wash. - Youth's Companion. had a good run of luck and has made the best of it .- Little Rock, (Ark.,) Casette, August 25.

WASTED FERTILITY.

A Problem That Is Assuming a More Realistic Aspect Day by Day. That the enormous crops taken from dispensable elements, every body is and pulled for the shore. supposed to know; that stertility will follow if these elements are not restored every body ought to know. They abound in all vegetable matter-in sewerage of cities. If these are saved and applied, the earth will yield fruits with constantly increasing abundance; these indispensable elements flow in the fish instead of feeding the land they will inevitably be reduced to short rations. Dr. J. B. Lawes, acknowledged authority in scientific and practical agriculture, supposes a case: "If England were cut off from all outside supplies, could she feed her people from her own soil?" This brings to the front the deeply interesting matter of "intensive" agriculture. Small landholders (they ought to be multiplied a thousaud-fold) are especially interested in knowing what the soil is capable of yielding, aided by all available appliances. Dr. Lawes thinks the British cient." islanders can get necessary supplies from their own soil, but "great numbers" would have to be employed in the "production of manure." He adds: "Then would be the time when the sewage of London, evaporated to dryness or distilled, would give us some idea of the value of what a writer of a leading article in the London Agricultural Gazette calls the fertilizing power of 4,000,000 of the best-fed animals in the world." Dr. Lawes distinctly admits the "fertilizing power" of city sewage, but thinks under existing circumstances

"the cost of labor and transit" will overbalance the benefits to be derived from the use of London sewage. It concerns us to inquire into the circumstances that make it unprofitable for Englishmen to save this sewage. The Gazette makes that very clear by saying: "England is now blockaded, not by hostile ships, but by fleets of foodladen vessels, which are cheapening our home products." England can't afford to save fertilizers because she can buy food of the United States and earry it 3,000 miles cheaper than she can raise it. How do we manage to sell food so cheap? By raising it on virgin soil without the expense of manure. Can we continue to do this? Diminished yields will soon stop that business. What are the results? We have sold our producetotal of 66 per cent, on the year, but for the cost of labor expended and a small per cent on our investment, getfor the terrible depletion of soil-nothsanitary arrangements are the chief ing for the precious, priceless elements productive. They should not have persisted in raising crops-like wheat-

The Only Hope of a Cure in Cases of Tetanus, or Lockjaw.

The medical name for lockjaw is tetanus. Sometimes it is only, or mainly, the muscles of the jaws that are affected in the disease, but commonly the rigid condition is much more extensive, often reaching to most of the muscles of the body. In its severer form it is one of the most terrible of diseases. The mind generally remains clear to the last unless it is blunted by opiates. The disease begins by a pinched look of the face. In a few hours the muscles of the jaws, neck, back and chest become rigid, and the rigidity at length extends to the limbs. This rigidity is permanent, and sometimes is so great that the body could be taken up like a stick of timber, or it may rest its weight upon its head and feet. From time to time spasms occur, lasting a few seconds, or several minutes. The seat of the trouble is in the nerves, and hence a spasm may be brought on at a slight noise, a touch, or even a breath of air.

As the muscles of respiration are usually affected, the breathing is greatly impeded, and often, for the time, rendered wholly impossible, the chest being held as in a vise. Death frequently results from this cause, the system being previously exhausted by pain and lack of sleep and nourishment. If the patient survives beyond the twelfth day he is likely to recover; but no known medicine is able to do more than promote sleep and benumb the sensibilities.

The cause is unknown. It may follow wounds, or be independent of wounds, the latter being the most hopeful cases. The wounds may be either severe or slight, but most wounds are not followed by tetanus. It is probable that, in persons of a peculiar nervand sleep until the system can eliminate the poison.

In case of a severe wound, especially in the neighborhood of nerve centers, great care should be exercised in dresswell together, and the parts should be

There is, however. but if, as at present, the larger share of a benign specific for the disease and all its unthese indispensable elements flow in sewers to the sea, or are wasted in other ways, can their place be supplied from any other source? Cities are rapidly multiplying and enlarging; their drafts on the soil are immense and increasing; if they persist in poisoning the fish invend of the large state of the disease. Moreover, it is the grand specific for fever and ague.
