Nervous Exhaustion.

A Few Useful Hints For Nervous People.

"I am so nervous" is a very common expression, used by both old and young: and very few can now be found who are free from nervous troubles. We regret to see that the malady is rapidly increasing. And from what cause? There are various reasons. It may be because of a low condition of the general health; the vitility of the nervous system is depressed; or from a want of perfect digestion and assimiliation of food, and the vittilzing power of pure, rich blood, the pervey are not properly strenthened and nourshed, and consequently become weak and diseased

There was a time when "m and that class of disease known as nervous affections, were apparently confined to ladies; but at the present day it is an undoubted fact that as large a portion of pervous diseases exist among men as among the gentler sex; and their distressing affects and insting and enervating results are a thousand fold more series, as they extend to posterity and are productive of a weakened and sufcebled race. Nervous and physical deality, caused by

is a frequent and distressing disease, its depressing influence being felt alike on both sexes and all aces. Among the first symptons of this affection are usually a derangement of the digestive organs. A feelof languor will be experienced, and a grad-'nal fasting of strength, with general weakness and pain in the back. More or less exhaustation is experienced on waking in the the morning. There is often a bad taste in the mouth; the vision becomes dim, the memory is impaired, and the patient is troubled with frequent dizziness. Persons thus affected are often despondant, and ruffer from gloom and depression of the mind. The nerves become so weakened that the least excitement or shock brings on a tremor or trembling, often attended by palpatation of the heart.

Are particularly susceptible to nervous disorders, owing partly to their more delicate nervous organization and partly to their sedentary life and consequent confinement in-doors. Such affections are attended by restlessness and nervous excitement, anxiety or depression of the mind, lose of interest in society and the daily atfairs of life. There is also less of sleep; the patient on rising in the morning, feeling tired, languld and unrefreshed. From slight nervous attacks to bysteria, from simple "nervousness" to utter prostration, there are many and varied forms of diseases of the nervous system none of which should exist, and of all of which can be cured by

Which first stimulates the liver and kidney's to healthy action, regulates the digestive organs, and from the first dose begins its work of purifying and building up the wornont system It produces sweet and healthy sleep, enriches the blood, and imparts to the pale and saltow cheeks the glow of health, brings brightness to the eye and clasticity to the step. More real benifit can be derived from one half dozen bottles of Dr Pardec's Remedy, than from a hundred dollars invested in any other way. Ask your druggist for it, and take no

passing the point referred to above. Having not been perfectly satisfied with the recognition given us by "our old school mate, Grover, (?) as he passed under our observation, and being particularly disappointed at not having gotten a glimpse of the Collection business promptly at- universally admired lady of the White House, my companion and myself concluded to go over to the Palmer house and shake hands with "Grover" and demand an explanation as to why we should be treated in this characteristically cold manner of treating those who had fought, bled and lied (and would have stolen a precinct or two if the opportunity had warranted), to help elect him, as it was not possible The only first class house in the camp. help elect him, as it was not possible to pains spared to make guests comforts. for him to have everlooked us, but fate seemed entirely against us, and we Charges Reasonable, could not get nearer than one block 2nd. of his extended palm, and as he seemed | 3rd to be making no effort to get to us, we resolved to never vote for him again (unless he was nominated on a different platform) and extricated ourselves from the crush. The reception in the evening at the Columbia theatre was a brilliant affair, but by some over-ight the carriages did not come and go in regular order, and the spectacle of nearly a thousand carriages in a poorly lighted portion of the city and out of regular order, with carriage number callers shouting in every direction, was not quite so brilliant. Taken in all it was a grand tribute of honor to our nation's chief, but that is now a thing of the past. Chicago must now come face to face with the future, and within a few weeks she must carry out the stern mandates of the law by lunging seven men by the neek until they are "dead, dead," The followers and friends of these convicts number thousands of determined men whose determination is being at this moment stimulated to desperation by the crank George Francis Train who is occupying the princess skating rink on the west side in a series of lectures to crowded houses. What may be in store for this great, prosperous, and to some extent ill fated city may yet be a community, More anon.
