

THE OREGON SCOUT.

AMOS K. JONES. EDITOR.

The Oregon Scout has as large a circulation as any three papers in this section of the State, combined, and is correspondingly valuable as an advertising medium.

Friday, May 25th, 1888.

Union and Vicinity.

Rain is needed. Several letters crowded out of this issue.

Examine the Standard mower and rake. W. T. Carroll has purchased a brand new Newton wagon.

"Peter the Poet" has sold his interest in the Long Creek Eagle. A splendid assortment of carpets just received at Jaycox & Foster's.

Read the ad. of Chas. Shuman, boot and shoe maker, in another column.

Mrs. Esther Lawrence, wife of Hon. A. J. Lawrence, died in Baker City on the 20th inst.

D. B. Rees and Roe Rogers are engaged in the wholesale butcher business in Tacoma.

La Grande needs some kind of a building to hold public meetings in, and needs it bad.

The fifteenth annual reunion of the Oregon pioneers will take place in Portland, June 15th.

Remember Jesse Alberson, the merchant of Cornucopia, is constantly receiving new goods.

Read W. D. Adams' ad. of auction sale, which will commence in his store on Saturday June 2nd.

A Levy, this week, bought a large amount of choice bacon of Mr. Sam'l Burnough, of Indian valley.

Smith's walking gang plow, something new and just the thing. For Sale by Frank Bros. Implement Co., Island City.

Rev. G. M. Irwin will address the citizens of Union precinct on political issues, Saturday June 2nd at 8 o'clock p. m. at the court house.

Every man should take pride in his own town. It is home and the better his town is the better home he has.

Building up one's town is building up his home.

Some new backgrounds just received at Jones Bro's photo gallery. Get your picture taken. We guarantee you as good work as can be got anywhere.

Don't try to grin and bear that fearful corn, but go at once to the Cove drug store and get a box of sure cure, only 15c. It takes the corn out speedily and painlessly.

The Oregon Scout is one of our best exchanges. It has the largest amount of local contributors of any journal in that section. Good. Centerville Home Press.

A ballad concert will be given in the near future, for the benefit of the three churches in this city. All the local talent of the town will take a part. Further particulars will be given later on.

Malarial poisons contain the germs of dangerous diseases. If these poisons accumulate in the system, Typhoid, Bilious, Intermittent or Chill Fever is sure to follow. Ayer's Ague Cure is a warranted specific for malaria.

Wilcox & Wilcox, managers of the C. & N. W. photo tent, will positively stop taking negatives Monday morning the 28th inst. Any one wishing first class photo's, we ask to give us a call. All work finished and delivered before we leave town.

A correspondent writing from Caldwell, says: The Caldwell merchants have this spring handled seven car loads of alfalfa seed. All this, to say nothing of what was raised in the valley, has been sown in this immediate vicinity. Much of it will be lost unless we soon have rain.

Mr. Harlan Stewart has bought Dr. Drake's interest in the Union Flouring mills, and will hereafter give the business his particular attention. Mr. M. S. Warren and Mr. Frank Bidwell have also secured shares in the institution. Mr. Warren was elected secretary and treasurer.

Dan Beideman, our energetic saddler and harness maker, received a large invoice of new goods and material this week. Farmers and others should inspect this stock. He has some elegant single buggy harness at from $10 to $15 a set. The prices of other goods are in about the same proportion.

Roseburg is to have a woolen mill. The citizens of the place have subscribed $5000 towards repairing and improving the dam across the South Umpqua river just south of the town, and the mill will be built by a company from Scotland. There is no reason why Union cannot have a woolen mill, also.

Carrie Bradley, the murderess, pardoned from the Oregon penitentiary a year ago, was killed at Tucson, Arizona, on the 9th inst., by John Wadleigh, her masquerade. He went to her he se drunk, and being refused admittance kicked in the door, and as she ran out he caught her and cut her throat.

It amuses us to hear some of our sister newspapers boast because they are all-at-home prints, when they at the same time use stereotype plates that are half a century old. Better use a "patent" than use the plates after they have been used on these patents.—Centerville Home Press.

The above remarks are very much to the point, and will apply to one or two of the progressive(?) newspapers of Union county.

Personal and Social.

Mr. J. L. Carter visited Union this week.

Hon. C. M. Jamison was in town, Wednesday.

Mr. F. Favre, of Telocasset, called on us Wednesday.

Mr. S. L. Burnough, of Elgin, called on us yesterday.

Prof. Owen, of La Grande, was in Union this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Eaton will start east in a few days.

Mr. Louie Lamere, of High Valley, was in town Monday.

Mr. Mox Sommer, of Weiser city, visited Union recently.

Mrs. D. B. Rees took her departure to-day for Tacoma, W. T.

Mr. I. W. Maharry, of North Powder, called on us this week.

Dr. Saylor, of North Powder, passed through the city Wednesday.

Prof. Alguire, the phenologist, is holding forth in Umatilla county.

Miss Ida Davis is visiting relatives in Dayton. She will be gone several weeks.

Rev. Irwin is stamping this part of the state in behalf of the republican party.

Dr. Day had his horse and cart sent over from Dayton last week, and now rides in style.

Jacob P. Bloch, of La Grande, was over last Sunday, visiting among his many friends.

We acknowledge a pleasant call this week from Mr. E. L. Eekley, of the La Grande Gazette.

Rev. Thos. MacGuire will preach at the Presbyterian church every Sunday at 3 o'clock, p. m.

Miss Lizzie Miller, who has been visiting friends in Summerville, returned a few days ago.

The Union Silver Cornet Band entertains all political meetings here with most excellent music.

Col. Raley was over from Pendleton a few days ago, and called on us. He thinks his prospects are flattering.

Mrs. Dr. Cronwell is visiting relatives and friends in the Willamette. She will not return for several weeks.

We acknowledge receipt of an invitation to attend dedicatory services of the Roseburg public school building, on the 29th inst.

Mr. A. E. Eaton, who was attending the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. at Portland last week, returned Monday. He thinks of taking a trip east, soon.

The Republican County Central Committee of Wallowa county has appointed Dr. Lang its candidate for Coroner, vice Dr. Gailley resigned.

Mr. E. H. Lewis, of North Union, has enclosed his yard with a very neat wire fence. He is also making ornamental improvements about the place.

Mr. C. E. Oliver, democratic nominee for School Superintendent, accompanied by Mr. Hindman, the present incumbent of that office, made us a pleasant visit this week.

Mr. Jos. Yowell, alias "honest Joe, of Pyle canyon, made us a substantial visit, Monday. Mr. Yowell has not been very well for some time, but thinks he is improving now.

Mr. Chas. C. Coffinberry returned the fore part of the week from an extended trip throughout the country. He visited Baker City, La Grande, Pendleton, Milton and Walla Walla, and concludes that Union is the best place after all.

Mr. Wilbur Davis came down from Cornucopia, Tuesday, over the new road. He informed us that the men now working on the road will soon have it in good condition. Times are rather dull on Pine creek at present, but he thinks the outlook is very good.

Mrs. Parsell, of Alpine, Morrow county, has been appointed a notary public. This is believed to be the first instance in which a woman has been appointed notary public in Oregon. The statute makes no distinction as to sex.

Rev. C. R. Shields, of Wallowa county, is in the East attending a session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, as a representative of the Presbytery of Eastern Oregon. He will be gone about sixty days.

Ed. Gagnon, who went to Oregon several months ago, is back again and this time to remain, having accepted a position as prescription clerk in the "east end" drug store. Ed is a lively good natured young man and his many friends will be pleased to know he is again with us.—Concordia (Kansas) Blade.

Attorney T. H. Crawford, who has been making speeches throughout Baker, Malheur and Grant counties, returned Tuesday. Mr. Crawford lays no claims to being a Demosshomes, but we know he can make a better speech than nine-tenths of the "orators" that are sent through this country to harangue the people.

AN EXPLANATION.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown, to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

SIZES HIM UP.

A man living in this county, who owes over two years' subscription, put his paper back in the postoffice last week marked "refused." We have heard of many mean men—there is a man who used the wart on his neck for a collar button; and who pastured a goat on his grandmother's grave, and one who stole coppers from a dead nigger's eyes, and one who got rich by giving his children a nickle each to go to bed without their supper, and then stealing the nickles after the children were asleep—but for pure downright cussedness the man who will take a paper two years, mark it "refused" and stick it back into the post office is entitled to first premium.—Democrat

IRISH AND SWIFT.

Since our last issue the above named gentlemen, from California, have addressed our citizens on the political issues of the time. Mr. Irish appeared Friday evening. The people expected to hear something fine and were not disappointed. He is the only man that has yet visited Eastern Oregon who can lay just claims to being an orator. Mr. Swift spoke Monday evening and was well received. It was apparent from the first that he is no match for Irish, when it comes to oratory, although he presented his arguments in a clear and lucid manner.

FARM IMPLEMENTS ETC.

Parties contemplating the purchase of anything in the line of buggies, wagons, mowers, rakes, or, in fact, any kind of farm implements or machinery, should interview Mr. F. M. Slocum, manager of the Union machinery depot, of this city. He handles a first class line of goods and everything is warranted as represented.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

Mr. Turner Oliver and Mr. J. L. Roe candidates for the legislature, will speak as follows: At the Cove, Friday, June 1st, at 2 o'clock p. m. and at the High valley school house in the evening. At Elgin, Saturday, June 2nd, at 2 o'clock p. m. and at Summerville in the evening.

TURKEY DINNER.

A turkey dinner will be given at the Centennial hotel Sunday. Oranges, strawberries, cherries, bananas and all the delicacies of the season will be served in abundance. While the guests are eating, a picture will be taken of the dining hall. Don't fail to be there.

Buy a "Victor" safe.

Goodall Speaks Again.

Editor Scout:—

It seems necessary that I should again ask space in your valuable journal this week, to correct the false statement of Mr. Hamilton, or those writing for him.

In the first place I wish to say, notwithstanding their insinuations to the contrary, that I have written and dictated every word I have published over my signature, whether it be my credit or not. How is it with Hamilton? It is well known that he could no more write the letter published over his signature in THE SCOUT than he can perform the duties of sheriff. That letter was written by his little deputy who frisks around a great deal like a small canine among his larger brethren; stands with his nose and tail up, scratching the ground with his hind feet, ready to do the barking for his master, or the dirty work without asking.

As bitter partisans as the editors of the Gazette are, I think when they learn how grossly this man Hamilton has deceived them, they will lose whatever respect they have for him. I do not think they would publish absolute falsehoods knowingly, even in the heat of a political canvass. I am not in canvass as a candidate, and these attacks on me are falsely made for the purpose of drawing the attention of the voters from Hamilton's failure as a sheriff until after election is over. They have published a string of falsehoods, thinking they would reach the voters too late for contradiction before election, and unfortunately I fear their end will be accomplished in many instances.

I should not again ask your indulgence, Mr. Editor, were it not to show to the people how unworthy of belief his statements are. First: With regard to the grand jury report. If he had heard as I have, the expressions of some of the last grand jurors, concerning the manner in which he deceived them by false representations, as he tries to deceive the voters now, by his figures, he would not feel so complacent.

He says levies have been made for taxes. The Gazette says dozens of them have been made by Hamilton and his deputies. Well, that "takes the cake." I have watched this tax matter very closely. I have looked it over and over, with him and his deputies almost daily I might say; discussed it in every light, and if ever they attempted to make but one levy, I have not heard of it before. The little deputy above referred to—so he says—posted a notice on some land in Elk Flat, belonging to Mr. J. W. Cullen, of Wallowa county, for some taxes due from N. J. Bartlett, of Michigan, on a mortgage on said land, and collected on attachment after Bartlett's local agent had told him (the deputy) that he would pay it in a short time, which was done, but it would certainly strain the English language seriously to call this an attachment. As well might he attach Brown's land for a tax or Smith's horse that was in Brown's pasture. I have good reason to believe that I was the only attempt he has made to levy upon property for taxes, but grant it to be true that he and his deputies have made dozens of levies, as by him stated, which I say boldly is false, why does he not treat all alike?

He speaks of my wife. Are the delinquents I refer to? He or his deputies must file a bill. He can neither go away from the court house or away there without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to be their duty, and if they do not pay it without seeing some of them, and I refer your road now to the delinquent list. If you have made dozens of levies and always got the taxes without selling property, why not continue the good work? Now I wish it understood that toward those delinquents I bear no malice. They are nearly all good citizens, and many of them are personal friends, but they should pay their taxes. They know it to