FASHIONS IN PERFUME.

All Sorts of Devices Invented by Enterprising Fancy Goods Dealers.

It is always a lady's fancy and priv-Bege to have some sweet scent about her. In the days of our grandmothers lavender was scattered through the linen press, and chests of clothes had little bags of sweet herbs, sweet clover scented the handkerchiefs, and there was a dainty odor clinging to every thing pertaining to the lady's wardrobe, To-day perfumes are used in even more forms and in all imaginable places. There are suchet bags to pin into the dress, sachet cases to hold handkerchiefs, others to hold note paper, and those filled with violet powder and orrisroot to use on the skin. A cluster of tiny perfumed bags hangs over the back of one's lounging chair, and odd little devices scatter a delightful odor about the table of bric-a-brac. A pillow filled with pine needles sheds an aromatic perfume over the divan cushions, a rose jar filled with a potpour of rose leaves, salt and spices graces the dining room table, and a sponge arrayed with rare perfume stands on a dainty porcelain tray ready to moisten one's finger tips, These are the ordinary ornaments now of dining rooms or parlors of all households where enough of an income prevails to allow of any luxurious decora-

This rage for perfume has incited the dealers in fancy goods to invent all sorts of devices in order to dispose of their odorous wares, and one can not help wondering in what form a bit of painted satin with a frill of lace and bow of ribbon, will next appear. The most recent novelty upon the counters is a radical departure from the old forms, and is extremely dainty. It consists of a circular fan into which delicious, sweet-scented grass is bound by tiny ribbons edged with a fringe of satin ribbon to match. The handle is simply a bunch of the grass crossed and recrossed by narrow ribbons. The olive green of the grass gives a chance for various striking combinations of color, so that a lady can wave the usoful bit of beauty, sniff the delicious odor, and at the same time have a bit of color near her face that will enhance the beauty of her complexion. A dainty trifle for a baby is a bunch of sweet clover, flowers and all, pressed between fine muslin edged with lace. It gives a most delicious scent to the tiny wardrobe.

Something new is coming to take the place of the favored rose-jar. It is a suggestion from the Orient, and will be particularly welcome as the approach of summer brings a feeling of languor to everybody. This is a small perfumed fountain, so arranged that the water falls from a vase or crystal or porcelain, into a basin of rare design, from which it is taken back into the vase and continually falls and rises again, a pretty thing to look at and a source of delicious odor. There is room for invention in the use of this taken back in the vase and continually falls and rises again, a pretty thing to look at and a source of delicious odor. There is room for invention in the use of this taken back in the control of t fancy by decorating the basin with flowers or rare ferns, or such other material as the owner may select .-Philadelphia Times.

PATRICK HENRY'S DEATH.

Passing Away in the Comforts of Christian Religion and Without Pain.

was intussusception. On the 6th of June, 1799, all other remedies having failed, Dr. Cabell proceeded to administer him a dose of liquid mercury. Taking the vial in his hand, and looking at it for a moment, the dying man said: "I suppose, Doctor, this is your last resort." The doctor replied: "I am sorry to say, Governor, that it is Acute inflammation of the intestines has already taken place; and unless it is removed, mortification will ensue, if it has not already commenced, which I fear." "What will be the effect of this medicine?" said the old man. "It will give you immediate relief, or-" the kind-hearted doctor could not finish the sentence. His patient took up the word: "You mean, doctor, that it will give immediate relief, or will prove fatal immediately?" The doctor answered: "You can only live a very short time without it, and it may possibly relieve you." Then Patrick Henry said: "Excuse me, doctor, for a few minutes," and drawing down over his eyes a silken cap which he usually wore, and still holding the vial in his hand, he prayed in clear words, a simple, childlike prayer for his family, for his country and for his own soul then in the presence of death. Afterward, in perfect calmness, he swallowed the medicine. Meanwhile Dr. Cabell, who greatly loved him, went out upon the lawn, and in his grief threw himself down upon the earth under one of the trees, weeping bitterly. Soon, when he had sufficiently mastered himself, the doctor came back to his patient, whom he found calmly watching the congealing of the blood under his finger nails and speaking words of love and peace to his family, who were weeping around his chair. Among other things, he told that he was thankful for that goodness of God, which, having blessed him through all his life, was then permitting him to die without any pain. Finally, fixing his eyes with much tenderness on his dear friend, Dr. Cabell, with whom he had formerly held many arguments respecting the Christian religion, he asked the doctor to observe how great a reality and benefit that religion was to a man about to die. And after Patrick Henry had spoken to his beloved physician these few words in praise of something which, having never failed him in all his life before, did not then fall him in his very last need of it, he continued to breathe very softly for some moments, after which they who were looking upon him saw that his end had come. - Prof. Tyler's Life of Henry.

CATARRH IN THE HEAD.

SYMPTOMS OF THE DINEASE.—Dull, heavy beadache, sharnotion of the masal passages, discharges failing from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; the eyes are weak; there is ringing in the ears, deafness, hearing or cour, by to cleer the throat, expectoration of offensive matter, to, her with scales from ulcers; the voice is changed and has a "masal twang"; the breath is offensive; smell and taste in paired; there is a sensation of dizzin-ss, with mental depression, a hasking couch and general deadlity. Only a few of the above-muncal symptoms are likely to be present in any one cast. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No diskers is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians.

COMMON SENSE
If you would remove an evil, strike at its root. As the predispotine or real cause of cate with is, in the majority of cases, some weakness, impurity, or otherwise faulty condition of the system, in attempting to care the disease our chief aim must be chose disease, and we treat successfully thousands of cases anomaly at the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, the more do we realize the importance of combining with the use of a local, soothing and healing application, a thorough and persistent internal use of blood-cleansing and tonic medicines.

Reliance.

In curing catarrh and all the various diseases with which it is so frequently complicated, as throat, broughtal, and lung diseases, weak stomach, carrhad deafness, weak or bedamed eyes, impure blood, scrotulous and syphilitie taints, the wonderful powers and virtues of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cannot be too strongly extelled. It has a specific effect upon the liming mucous membranes of the masal and other air-passages, promoting the natural scretion of their follicles and glands, thereby softening the diseased and thickened membrane, and restoring it to its natural, thin, delicate, moist, healthy condition. As a blood-purifier, it is unsurpassed. As those discuss which complicate catarrh are diseases of the liming mucous membranes, or of the blood, it will readily be seen why this medicine is so well calculated to cure them.

LOCAL
As a local application for benling the diseased condition in the head, Dr. Saze's Catarrh Remedy is beyond all comparison the best preparation ever invented. It is mild and pleasant to use, producing no smarting or pain, and containing no streng, irritating, or caustic arus, or other poison. This Remedy is a power-panics so many cases of catarrh, thus affording great comfort to those who suffer from this disease.

PERMANENT

The Golden Medical Discovery is the natural "helphaate" of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It not only cleanes, pariles, regulates, and builds up the system to a healthy standard, and conquers throat, brenchial, and lung complications, when any such exist, but, from its specific materially in restoring the discussed, thickened, of ulcerated membrane to a healthy condition, and thus cradicates the disease, When a cure is effected in this manner it is permanent.
