An Anecdote About Prince Henry, Brother of the German Emperor.

Henry had a great dislike to the shower bath which he was expected to take every morning, and was often very tireterward became the Emperor Frederick. Now, the Crown Prince happened he would; so he gave two new orders that day-one was that the guards were not to salute Prince Henry, the other was that the boy need not have his shower bath. Accordingly the little Prince and I am beginning to lose faith in the was surprised and charmed to find that doctors altogether. In fact I havn't had the moment he began grumbling about the bath he was told be could please himself as to whether he took it or not. Of course he preferred to leave it alone, and as soon as he was dressed he scampered down to the park, and then to the know Warner's Safe Cure will keep in guard-house, as usual. To his great amazement the soldiers took no more notice of him than if he had been a little street boy. Highly indignant, course all people don't think alike. Prince Henry ran to his father to comcan you expect soldiers to respect a dirty, unwashed Prince."

There is also an amusing story about the little Crown Prince, who is now nearly seven years old. "When he was experiment at the cost of the patient's six he was given a bedroom to himself. instead of sleeping in the nursury; and what do you think he said when he was first taken to his new room? Oh, that is nice; now I need not be with the children any more.' He seems a manly little fellow, for he complained one day that it was very unpleasant to have to go out with his governess, because she could not march at all, and he could not keep step with her. Then he added, very seriously that he was quite sure she would never make a soldier."

The Crown Prince and his three brothers-Frederick, Adalbert and Auyears, four years and nearly two years -love to play at soldiers. They have a splendid collection of tin soldiers, horses, guns and fortresses; and an old soldier, who fought many a real battle, teaches them how to drill them all and how to fight with them. The soldiers are painted like the different regiments, and the three eldest boys are d essed in umform when they play with them. They do not go to school, but they have a kind tutor. Steel for Railway Axles.

It is thought that steel will soon be as well established in practical use for railway axles as it is now for rails, one important fact tending to this conclus-ion being the discovery of a toughening process by which the failures heretofore experienced in the use of steel axles are avoidable, the most severe tests under this improved system showing no irregularity or weakness in the axles. So satisfactory indeed has this method proved, that the supplementary t st of fifty blows of 1,640 pounds drop. at twenty-five feet, has been successfully passed by numerous consecutive test axles, and which, being tenfold in excess of the legal requirement, is an abundant guarantee of safety. In this process the axle is heated to the temperature at which its carbon changes to hardening carbon, and then, while it is being rapidly revolved, it is immersed in a water bath, at the same time having thrown upon it a series of submerged jets; after cooling the outside, the axle is removed from the bath while there is sufficient heat remaining in the interior to raise the whole mass to a low red heat and to allow the carbon to change back to the non-hardening state. The principal object in view, in cooling rapidly through a certain range of temperature, is to prevent a weak crystal formation. - N. Y. Sun.

HOW I SAVED MY LIFE.

I was taken sick while at the dinner table with terrible distress in my stomach. Before this I had been hearty and strong. For fourteen days I kept getting worse, despite the efforts of two doctors. I lost forty pounds, and was satisfied that I could live but a few days. My trouble was Stomach and Liver Complaint, resulting in an attack of billous colic. At this time I saw Dr. bavid Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondont, N. Y., advertised, and sent for a bottle. I also sent for my physician, and told him that I was going to try the Favorite Remedy. He examined it and told me to use If three days and let him know the result. In the three days I walked four miles. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has saved my life.—W. S. Indeservedly Laughed At. The nuthinking are prone to make game of nervousness. Yet this is a very real and serious affliction, the harrassing symptoms of which are affliction, the harrassing symptoms of which are rendered all the more poignant by ridicule. The stomach is usually responsible for these somptoms—its weakness and disorder find a reflex in the brain, which is the headquarters of the nervous system. As a nerve tonic and tranquilizer, we believe that not one can be pointed out so effective as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. In renewing vigorous digestion, it strikes the keynote of recovery of strength and quietude by the nerves. Headaches, tremors in quiet sleep, abnormal sensitiveness to unexpected noises—all these modify and ultimately disappear as the system gains strength from the great tonic, Dyspepsia, billionances, rhemmatism, constipation and kidney complaints are subdued by the Dyspepsia, biliousness, rheumatism, constipa tion and kidney complaints are subdued by the Bitters.
