THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Some Peculiarities of Journalistic Life in a Western Territory.

WHAT IT MEANS.—This half-sheet is no accident. We issued it to save our legal notices. Had we had no legal ads we should have skipped publication entirely. When it is cold enough in this town to freeze whisky within ten feet of a red-hot stove there is no call for an editor to get up and hump himself. Our esteemed contemporary down the street calculates to skip two weeks and get drunk at least four times, and we shall be with him in spirit. While we aim to publish the greatest newspaper in the West we can't fight 27° below zero worth shucks. Cum dig solis, which means that as soon as the blizzard lets up we will try to do better.

THE SAMOA AFFAIR.—In case of a war count us in! We have already arranged, in case war breaks out, to leave the Kicker in good hands, or suspend publication altogether and go to the front. We shall go as a General. We shall be prepared to part with a liberal quantity of our blood, devour our share of hard tack, and return to receive the plaudits of the multitude. Let 'er go, Gallagher!

GONE TO THE H. H. G.—An Indian named "He-that-thinks-a-great-deal" drank a pint of Bronson's budge the other evening and started for his abode across the creek. Yesterday his dead body was found on the highway near the bridge, frozen so stiff that it broke in two as the boys loaded it up. The spirit had gone to the happy hunting grounds, there to know sorrow never again. "He-that-thinks-a-great-deal will think no more. Had he thought a great deal more about water and a great deal less about whisky he might have pulled through until spring and had another chance to run off a horse, but he had become discouraged and wanted to go. He is gone. It is well. We traded him a year's subscription to the Kicker for four big jack-rabbits, and we are six months ahead of him.

MOLEHILL VS. MOUNTAIN.—There is a disposition on the part of a few mud-sills to magnify the little incident which occurred at the post-office last Tuesday evening. Last week we referred to Colonel Crocker as a thief. We were wrong. He was arrested in Illinois for arson and jumped his bail. He met us in the post-office and knocked us down. While down we explained that we were in error, and he apologized and helped brush the dirt off our clothes. That's all there was to it—one of the trifling incidents of every-day life—and that class who are seeking to exaggerate the facts will make nothing by it. When we call an incendiary a thief—a robber, an absconder—a bigamist an embezzler, we shall apologize every time. There is no reason why an editor shouldn't also be a gentleman.

WELL SUPPLIED.—J. M. Tompkins, our leading and popular druggist, has received from the East a fresh supply of arsenic, strychnine and rough on rats, and any one requiring any thing in that line will find his goods fresh and his prices exceedingly moderate. Mr. Tompkins uses the poor just as well as the rich, and all who come are made welcome.

IN GOOD TIME.—The "Howling Hyena," which boasts of a weekly circulation of 125 copies, and whose jealousy of the Kicker's success is a matter of public comment, sneeringly observed last week that we had not yet secured the right to put "postmaster" after our name. Don't be in a hurry, gentlemen. We began on the ground floor, and we can't grow nine stories all at once. We don't want to be postmaster just at present, being engaged in conducting a great weekly newspaper, a grocery, butcher shop, and hardware store combined, but when we get more time we may have something to say about even the governorship. The only pang of sorrow we feel is one for the editor of the Howling Hyena, who will have filled a drunkard's grave before our plans are perfected.

A CORRECT VERSION.—There are several versions flying around in regard to the unfortunate affair in the Red Front Saloon last Friday night. As we were present and a witness we will state that when Major Shamocken came in he was inebriated. Some one laughingly asked him how he escaped from Joliet, and the Major foolishly insisted that his character had been impugned. As we owed him fifteen dollars he did not want to harm us, but passed on to Judge Shooks. The Judge was also far gone with drink and in bad temper, and the two clenched and rolled on the floor. The stove was upset, and in its fall the Major was mortally injured. This is a plain statement of the case. We all know that the Major was a horse-thief, and he shouldn't have been so thin-skinned. We all know the Judge as an old bum and corrupt official, and he shouldn't have been so ready to fight. Both were to blame and yet neither could be held culpable. —Detroit Free Press.

Keep the Children's Faith.

Mothers, don't destroy your children's faith in you by not keeping your promises to them, no matter how trifling they may seem. The simple childish faith they place in you should be a reason, if there was no other, for keeping the promises once made. The child may doubt every one else but will believe the mother. A child's faith is involuntary, born of weakness and conscious dependence, and his mother is his law and gospel. But let a child once distrust the word of his mother, and he loses forever his simple childish faith. It is a shock that the tender sensibilities never recover from, and often a cruel disillusion that makes him ultimately perhaps a cynic.—Detroit Tribune.

SHREWD ADVERTISERS.

Readers of the newspapers of the day cannot fail to be impressed with the fact that the modern advertiser is progressive.

He is compelled to be, else competitors more active in the invention of new advertising devices, will outstrip him in public favor.

The value of printers' ink judiciously and scientifically employed cannot be overestimated; it is the medium whereby a meritorious discovery is raised from local fame to a position in the public esteem. Hence the columns of the newspapers are daily used by hosts of advertisers and in the competition which is indulged in to attain the desired end, the reader is oftentimes amused.

The greatest of American advertisers, and it may as well be said in the world, is H. H. Warner of Rochester, N. Y., whose name has been made everywhere familiar in connection with Warner's Safe Cure, widely advertised because of its merit in the prevention and cure of kidney diseases.

By printers' ink this great discovery has achieved world-wide popularity and thousands feel grateful for the knowledge thus acquired of this greatest of modern remedies.

Furthermore, the public has been taught that disorders of the lungs, brain, heart and liver which have hitherto been regarded and treated by the profession as distinctive diseases are not so in fact, but are the attending symptoms of disease of the kidneys; therefore, the consumptive, the apoplectic, the paralytic, and the sufferer from nervous disorders can be restored to health by Warner's Safe Cure, which will remove the true cause of those disorders by restoring the kidneys to healthy action.

The advertising methods employed by this greatest of advertisers are invariably instructive and, although the reader may sometimes be "caught" in reading an advertisement, which was not at first supposed to be such, there is nevertheless no time lost since useful information is invariably gained concerning life's great problem.

"Oh, merciful heavens!" exclaimed Mrs. Shriekwell, looking up from the newspaper as she read the startling headlines: "Another Theatre Horror!" "What is it?" anxiously inquired her husband. "Another theatre burned," she said, "and a scene painter and three actors were hurt, and a chest full of manuscript plays and all the wardrobe burned up." "Those empty headed liars of editors," growled Mr. Shriekwell; "they ought to be prosecuted for printing misleading head lines. Call that a horror! I thought somebody had brought out another English comedy."—Burdette.

A Metamorphosis.

Spudsey (the tramp)—I'm blowed if I knowed yer, Mike! Been playin' der races?

Mike—No. Been playin' dat bath house while der dude's in der water.

Spudsey—Guess I'll go in an' gaffle vourn. Dey's better den mine.—Judge.

What He Meant.

In one of our district courts, not long since, Ethiopia furnished the plaintiff and defendant, and the witnesses on each side also could trace their ancestors to "Afric's burning sand." One of the witnesses was a rather free and easy sort of a personage, who came to the stand and underwent the fire of the opposing counsel. After the witness had given testimony, the tone of which showed a decided bias against the principal on the other side, the latter's attorney took him in hand. "You do not like Mr. Jones very much, I see?" "No, I doesn't," was the candid reply. "Why is it that you so dislike him?" "Can't say, boss, unless 'tis he's too much o' darky an' a half to suit dis chile." Here his honor turned to the witness to inquire what he meant by referring to the other as a darky an' a half, whereupon the witness replied: "You see, jedge, I call him a darky an' a half, coz he puts on too many airs for one nigger, an' not quite enough for two."—Boston Budget.

A Sure Cure.

First Crook—I've got a soft snap now; safe, too, right within the law. Did you notice those "how to get thin" advertisements in the papers?

Second Crook—By jinks! Is them yours? What do you send in return for the half dollar?

Second Crook—Country board circulars.—The Cartoon.

A Great Favor.

Dumley—I say, Brown, as a great favor, would you mind putting your name on the back of my note for thirty days?

Brown (dubiously)—Why, I s'pose so, Dumley. Where will you make the note payable?

Dumley—Anywhere you like, old man; that's your business, not mine.—New York Sun.

How He Got There.

Friend (to dentist)—Now that you've got the custom house job you were after I s'pose you'll give up pulling teeth?

Dentist—Yes, indeedy.

"How did you manage to get that job, Charley?"

"I had a strong pull."—Texas Siftings.

Happy Recovery.

There is nothing I now enjoy that I do not owe to having used Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Roundout, N. Y., at a time when I was suffering all that a human being could endure. My troubles began in my kidneys, from which I never expected to recover. My physician said I had Bright's disease. Later I had a bad attack of gravel. Six years ago last June—how well I remember that day—I saw Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy advertised in our paper. After using three bottles I was well. I have never had a return of the disease, and though I am over sixty years of age I am vigorous and strong, as I was in my prime. What physicians and the many remedies I had taken could not do, Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy did; it stayed the disease and made me a well woman.—Mrs Emiline P. Milner, Burg Hill, O.

Undeservedly Laughed At.

The unthinking are prone to make game of nervousness. Yet this is a very real and serious affliction, the harrassing symptoms of which are rendered all the more poignant by ridicule. The stomach is usually responsible for these symptoms—its weakness and disorder find a reflex in the brain, which is the headquarters of the nervous system. As a nerve tonic and tranquillizer, we believe that not one can be pointed out so effective as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. In renewing vigorous digestion, it strikes the keynote of recovery of strength and quietude by the nerves. Headaches, tremors in quiet sleep, abnormal sensitiveness to unexpected noises—all these modify and ultimately disappear as the system gains strength from the great tonic. Dyspepsia, biliousness, rheumatism, constipation and kidney complaints are subdued by the Bitters.

It is easier to be wise for others than for oneself.

Desires to Bear Testimony.

Henry Thorne, Traveling Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., writes from Exeter Hall, Strand, London, February 2, 1888:

"I desire to bear my testimony to the value of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS. I have used them for pains in the back and side arising from rheumatic and other causes, never without deriving benefit from their application. They are easily applied and very comforting. Those engaged as I am in public work, which involves exposure to sudden changes of temperature, will do well to keep a supply of ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS in their portmanteaus."
