

YELLOWSTONE PARK.

A Section Where the Most Wonderful Freaks of Nature Are Massed. In any other country than our own the opportunities of finding such a section of land, where all the most wonderful attractions of nature are massed, would have been impossible.

The first real information of Wonderland, with its geysers, its volcanic formations, its rushing waters, its canyons, came in 1863. Before that, save the vague stories of the trappers, there was nothing known of the Yellowstone region.

Captain De Lacy's report, written by a competent officer, at once attracted attention. In 1871 Dr. Hayden went to the Yellowstone region, studied it in detail, and presented a careful summary of his explorations to Congress.

The Yellowstone National Park lies in the northwestern corner of Wyoming, with small portions of it extending into Idaho and Montana. Its length is 55 miles, width 65. It contains 3,575 square miles, or 2,228,000 acres.

Paint Pots are small basins about three feet wide, where the escaping steam finds an exit, and they hold in agitation compounds of siliceous clays, which are pink, brown, blue, and gray.

The Pulpit Terraces are a series of singularly beautiful stalactite basins, containing water charged with carbonic acid, which holds in solution carbonate of lime.

There are many extinct geysers, but when they ceased to spout no one can tell. There is nothing normal about the Yellowstone Park, because it is a center of volcanic activity.

Mount Everts owes its name to a Mr. Everts who was one of the exploration party that visited the geyser basins in 1869.

Prince Alexander's Shadow.

Now that Prince Alexander of Battenberg has accepted the consequences of his marriage, and retired into comparative obscurity for the moment, all the story of his short, though brilliant, career will be forgotten; but no one's life has been more full of incidents of romance.

"A LITTLE NONSENSE."

—Most persons who cross the ocean for the first time pronounce it a very swell affair.—Baltimore American. —She—"Did your uncle leave you any thing, Henri?" Henri—"He did." She—"Henri, I am yours." He—"He left me his blessing." She—"Henri, I am not yours."

—Diplomacy.—Mrs. O'Kay—"I'm going to Cutlet's, Horace. Shall I order the Sunday dinner?" Mr. O'Kay—"By all means, no! Just ask for it. Last month's bill is still due."—Time. —A clam was walked up in a building at Syracuse ten years ago as an experiment.

—Fond mother.—"Tommy, darling, this is your birthday. What would you like best to do?" Tommy, darling (after a moment's reflection).—"I think I should enjoy seeing the baby spanked!"—Paris Figaro.

—The young man in Montana who shot himself because his sweetheart rejected him, missed one of the keenest pleasures of life. He should have married her neighbor and bought for his wife the prettiest spring bonnet that came to his town.—Fort Worth Gazette.

—Congressman Robertson, of Louisiana, is said to be the greatest bear-hunter in the South. He is also an expert deer-hunter, and has followed more than one panther into the jungle.

—Empress Eugenie, drawn by a Paris special correspondent on the spot: "A fragile form, veiled and robed in black, a pallid face and snow-white hair, and the infirm gait of a rheumatic invalid—such is the image now presented by her who was the famous beauty and the world's queen of fashion some thirty-five years ago."

—Thomas Thompson, who recently died in Rockport, Mass., at the age of ninety-four, was the oldest inhabitant of the town. He was a sailor in the United States navy during the war of 1812, and served the Government for twenty-five years.

—"I heard of one Parisian lady," says Mrs. Frank Leslie, "who dismisses every servant in her employ every six months. Her theory is that the constant renewal of her household personnel tends to keep her domestics in good order. She gets the cream, so to speak, of their services, and just about the time they settle down into lazy habits she gets rid of them."

—Countess Tolstol, it is said, is the daughter of a Moscow physician, who married the Count thirty years ago, when very young. She has borne him thirteen children, and upon her rests the whole management of the household.

—A Brooklyn coroner, while examining some papers, unearthed a receipt for valuables that were found on the person of a man who dropped dead near the bridge. Among the things acknowledged by it were almost $1,000 in currency, several large books, some jewelry and papers.

—Fond mamma (who knows him at home).—"Frankie, I hope you have been a nice, quiet boy at school this afternoon." Frankie—"Yes, indeed, mamma. I went to sleep in my seat right after recess, and the teacher said she would keep in the first boy or girl that waked me up."—Puck.

—Under the terms of a will left by an Iowa man the same gold watch was left to thirteen different persons. He was not friendly with any of them, and he probably did it hoping they would fight each other, which they are doing in a lively manner.

Disarming an Unseen Foe. "This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says, "since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to hit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Wherever malaria evolves its misty venom to pollute the air, and to descend upon some vegetation impregnates the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, biliousness, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is its preventative force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malaria-cursed localities, for it is a certain bulwark of defence against which the enemy is powerless. Cures likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

THE FRIEND'S ADVICE. "Don't give up, my poor, sick friend, while there's life there's hope, 'tis said; Sicker persons often mend; Time to give up when you're dead." "Purer, richer blood you need; Strength and tone your system give; This advice be wise and heed— Take the G. M. D. and live."

THE FRIEND'S ADVICE. "These letters stand for 'Golden Medical Discovery' (Dr. Pierce's), the greatest nutritive, tonic and blood-purifier of the age." "You have been told that consumption is incurable; that when the lungs are attacked by this malady, which is scrofula affecting the lungs and rotting them out, the sufferer is past all help, and the end is a mere question of time. You have noted with alarm the unmistakable symptoms of the disease; you have tried all manner of so-called cures in vain, and you are now dependent and preparing for the worst. But don't give up the ship while Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery remains untried. It is not a cure-all, nor will it perform miracles, but it is guaranteed to benefit or cure Consumption, if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded.

$500 REWARD. So confident are the manufacturers of Dr. Sago's how bad or of how long standing, that they offer, in good faith, the above reward for a case which they cannot cure. Remedy 50 cents, by druggists.
