CENTRALIA, Wash., June 17, 1889. EDITOR SCOUT:

The weather is cool and pleasant Rain is badly needed but if appearances indicate anything we will get some soon. The employees of the Northern Pacific railroad had their annual picnic at Centralia on the 15th inst. About six hundred people came from Tacoma and along the line of the railroad. The programme for the day consisted of a baseball game, a $50 prize to the winner; men's race, old man's race, boys' race, girls' race, young ladies' race. potato race, bicycle race, running jump and high jump, waltzing for a prize, and numerous other things. Most of the programme was carried out and all seemed to enjoy themselves splendidly, and spoke in the highest terms of the beauty of Centralia, and the location of the grounds that were prepared for their sports. On the 4th of July the citizens are preparing to have the grandest celebration that has ever been held in this part of the country.

Centralia is building rapidly and yet there is not a house in town for rent. Six months ago there was not an express wagon on the streets; to-day there are six express and delivery wagons. Six months ago the population was eight hundred; to-day it is eighteen hundred. Property is very cheap considering the size of the town and the amount of business and building going on here. The new hotel is nearing completion and will be ready to open in about thirty days.

I have just come in possession of an article published in the Eastern Oregon Republican, of May 15, in which, speaking of the railroad committee sent from Union to Tacoma, it says: "Mr. Rinehart's presence there was well enough, but not sufficient, while the selection of Mr. Rees from Centralia was in the worst possible taste, his only interest in Union being the possession of a small amount of real estate which the advent of a railroad would materially increase in value." Now this, while it was a thrust at me without any cause that I know of, sounds very much as though it came from an enemy of the Hunt railroad proposition. In fact, the article all the way through would indicate that the writer is very much afraid that the Hunt railroad matter will not fall through with. I had no knowledge of being appointed on the committee until I received a telegram from Mr. Rinehart asking me to meet him in Tacoma, as I had been placed on the committee with him by the people of Union, or by some committee for that purpose, I do not know just how or by what authority; but there is one went, and paid my own expenses, and that my trip did not cost the editor of the Republican nor the citizens of Una cent. If I have but a small amount of real estate in Umon I think it is more than the editor of the Republican has, and if I see proper to say a word in favor of Union on account of having property there, or from any other honest motive, it is certainly my own business.

I went from here to Salem last winter to use what little influence I could in favor of Union in the county seat matter. I did it at my own expense, and whatever I have said, done or wrote in favor of Union has not cost the citizens of the town a single dollar, and the only comment I have ever received is the thrust at me in the Republican of May 15. The people of Union have been altogether too confiding and have paid their money to enemies for services that were never rendered. Union has fostered and supported enemies, and elected officers from time to time until it is the that were pitted against the town who had no ability to do anything even if they had been so disposed. It is high time that the citizens of Union begin to recognize their friends and keep matters pertaining to the prosperity of the town out of other hands.

If the editor of the Republican had said, in regard to the committee sent to Tacoma, that a larger delegation should have been sent then he would have shown no personal feeling in the matter. He explains in a feeble manner the reason why Tacoma did not subscribe to the subsidy. The principal reason, however, is that there were enemies at work in Tacoma to defeat the matter. The Republican says: "Before Tacoma people will part with their money they want some assurance tnat, on the completion of the road. they will be placed on even terms with competing towns." Where are the competing towns? There was no such question raised.

No doubt there might have been better results if Mr. Hunt had been represented there as well as the citizens of Union. And, now, as the ed-my going to Tacoma as one of the committee has not cost him anything, and owing to the large interests in Union and in Union county that he does not own, he ought to conclude that he will not be materially affected by the building of another line of railroad to Grande Ronde valley, and let those who have some interest in the matter work for that interest without being nagged by him. If we have ever laid a straw in the way of the Republican or its editor, we would like to know how and when and we would gladly apologize for any wrong done him.

Yours truly, D. B. REES.

EAGLE VALLEY.

An Abundance of Hay and Fruit. Raising Honey Bees. Social Notes.

J. K. Graham and brother, of North Powder, are here looking for land, They like the valley very much and will probably become residents. We have a welcome for all such men.

"Still there is room for more. We want some stockmen to buy our stock and hay, and stall-feed here in the winter. There is no better place than Eagle valley for the purpose.

Mowing machines are running in almost every field. The first crop of alfalfa is almost in the stack, and is better than ever before. There will be large quantities of hay for sale.

Almost every one in the valley is preparing to go to Pine valley to celccelebrate the Fourth. The Eagle valley band will furnish the music.

We understand there will be two picnies in Pine valley on the Fourth, to be held two miles apart. A house divided against itself cannot stand. Our sister valley should not do that way. All should celebrate together.

Miss Nada Holcomb and Miss Ida Perry have returned from Eugene, where they have been attending the State University.

Miss Clara Craig and Miss Laura Moody, who have been attending the High school at Baker City, have returned home.

Our roads are getting in bad condition in some places. The county court should appoint a road overseer to look after the roads in this locality, or some of us may not get to work these four aere. days this season.

unload a wagon load of hay with four forks full. That is the way to do it.

It is reported that a wedding will occur in the valley soon.

he great bee raisers and honey producers, are handling bees quite extensively. The bees do well and make thing I do know, and that is that I lots of fine honey. This will become a paying business in the valley.

All of the orchards here are loaded down with fruit. All kinds of fruit do

A Great Paper.

The San Francisco Daily Examiner is a great paper and has scored a success that almost surpasses the most sanguine expectations of its proprieter. It has been only a short time since the Examiner was only looked upon as an average city newspaper in San Francisco, to which city its influence, what it had, was confined. This was the condition of that paper at the time the present proprietor, W. R. Hearst, took hold of it. To-day the Examiner takes the lead on the Pacific Coast and is read by tens of thousands. New features have been added "leader"-the metropolitan journal west of New York. It is a democratic paper in politics and the advocate of the working classes. Mr. Hearst, the proprietor, is backed by millions of dollars in money and does not have to prostitute his paper in the interests of monied corporations to live, like many other journals, but makes war on wrong wherever found. It was the direct influence of the Examiner that reduced water rates in San Francisco. The latest good work that paper is doing for the masses is through its free employment office, through which thousands of the deserving wageworkers have found good positions without a cents cost to themselves. This one feature is bringing thousands of patrons and friends to that journal
