

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

—Clothes that have been sprinkled will not mildew for days, even in summer, if kept away from the fire.

—For mint sauce wash and chop small bunch of mint; put in coffee cup; fill three-quarters full of vinegar; fill with water almost full; sweeten with sugar; mix; serve in sauce boat.

—Nothing removes impurities from floors, etc., so rapidly as boiling hot soda and water, applied with a long handled scrubbing brush and rinsed off once with clear water and dried with a clean cloth.

—Bouillon: Five pounds of juicy beef cut in small pieces and simmered slowly for two and one-half hours in two quarts of water. Remove every bit of fat, strain through a cloth, season with salt, no pepper.

—Foremeat Fritters: Two cups stale bread soaked until soft, one onion chopped fine, salt, pepper and a little sage to season, one tablespoonful dripping. Form into cakes and brown on greased griddle. Serve hot. —The Home.

—Milk Soup: Four potatoes, two onions, two ounces of butter, one-quarter ounce of salt, pepper to taste, one pint of milk, three tablespoonfuls tapioca. Boil slowly all the vegetables with two quarts of water. Strain through the colander. Add milk, sweet-basil, and tapioca. Boil slowly and stir constantly for twenty minutes.

—Yeast Buns: One and one-half cups of warm milk, one cup of sugar, one cup of yeast, thicken to a batter, let it rise over night, or until it is light, then add one cup of sugar, one egg, one-half cup of melted butter, a little salt and nutmeg, two cups chopped raisins or currants as you prefer, add flour as for bread, put in a baking tin in small cakes, let them rise again, and then bake.

—As drops of oil on creaking hinges of doors and on machinery silence complaint of too much friction, so kind words, pleasant deeds, polite attentions, etc., lubricate the whole domestic economy. What a difference is thus occasioned in the running of farms, households, and every sort of business! Even a nail or screw can be driven home much more easily and perfectly by application of a little oil.

—To Broil Spring Chicken: Split a half-grown spring chicken down the back, twist the tips of the wings over the second joint, wipe dry, spread out, and break the breast-bone with the rolling-pin. Put on a greased gridiron over a clear fire, rub with clarified butter. Turn often to prevent scorching. When half done sprinkle with salt and pepper. When thoroughly done put on a hot dish with melted butter and a little mushroom catsup. Garnish with squares of toasted bread.

—Knitted Portiere: It is the easiest thing imaginable to do if you can collect enough silk pieces. An old black silk, no matter how forlorn, is the very thing you want. Cut it in strips about a half an inch wide, and sew together. Mix with it any strips of colored silk. The children's old faded sashes or hair ribbons are made useful by dyeing them orange, red, or any other color. After you have wound your strips into balls like carpet rags, get a pair of bone knitting needles about three quarters of a yard long, knit the plain stitch until you observe a very handsome portiere.—N. Y. Observer.

EXCELLENT ADVICE.

Three Suggestions Made by Goethe, the Great Poet-Philosopher.

Goethe's advice to a friend, to whom, so was writing, is well worth remembering and accepting, viz: "Make sure each day to see some beautiful object, to read some great truth, to perform some good deed." The first suggestion, "Make sure each day to see some beautiful object," is to the most of us neglected. To be sure there are many so situated who could not if they would, comply with this advice, but how many, on the other hand, pass along through life scarcely noticing the beautiful skies, the fleecy floating clouds, the starry firmament, the glorious sunset, the glistening snows, the flowers and green-swards, and all the varied beauties of nature, which are free to all. Then, too, the beauties of architecture, which so delight the eye of one trained to appreciate them, or one having a natural taste for symmetry, might be enjoyed far more than they are. And the developing of talent and sentiment in that direction would do much toward the larger cultivation of that art.

It is a fact that very few Florentines leave their beautiful city, so filled with gems of architectural beauty, and with works of genius, to make new homes for themselves elsewhere, even when they could better themselves financially by so doing. The question being asked of an Italian lady as to the cause, the instant reply was: "Ah, a Florentine must see something beautiful every day! Florentines would not be happy without a sight of their dear Duomo and Campidoglio, and the towers and the churches. They love their old city, "La Bella Firenze."

And the second suggestion, "Read some great truth," might be adopted by nearly all. A great truth read and pondered every day would no doubt be helpful, stimulating to higher thought, to broader conceptions of life and its opportunities, and preventing us from too much introspection, and keeping many who now devote too much of their time to gossip and small talk to get rid of that unfortunate habit.

The third injunction of the old German philosopher, "Make sure each day to perform some good deed," would be as easy for every one to follow, but alas! alas! in this selfish world how few, how very few the number of those who have such a purpose before them at the dawning of each new day. What a sweet and lovely world this would be were that advice followed by every one.

Like the falling of a gentle rain upon the hard and arid soil on which soon bright flowers bloomed but which soon responded to the heavenly blessing and made the plants to blossom, so the influence of good deeds would permeate all society, leaving beauty and fragrance everywhere.

Good to remember is this advice given long ago, "Make sure each day to see some beautiful object, to read some great truth, to perform some good deed."—Standard.

MERIT DESERVES IT.

We are not in the habit of puffing up any patent medicine, but where merit deserves it we are always ready to notice the same particularly for the benefit of mankind. We have heard much of the fame of The Great Sierra Kidney and Liver Cure, but lately we have received positive proof of its healing qualities. A gentleman well known to us had suffered for years of kidney complaint. The Great Sierra Kidney and Liver Cure was recommended to him. He has given it a trial, and now assures us that a wonderful change has come over him, and that he is entirely cured. Thanks to your great and scientific vegetable remedy.—San Francisco Times and Observer, San Francisco, Cal. SAN FRANCISCO, January 7.

Sierra Chem. Co. GENTLEMEN: I have used your Great Sierra Kidney and Liver Cure with wonderful satisfaction, and can recommend it fully for kidney and liver disorders.

PRINCESS CINDERELLA.

The Daughter of a Swedish Prince Officially Ignored by Royalty.

Prince Oscar Karl August Bernadotte, the son of the King of Sweden, as is well known, in 1888 married a Miss Munk, a daughter of a Swedish citizen, and for the sake of love resigned his rights to the throne. His marriage, of course, placed him in a rather peculiar and, in many respects, an awkward position to the royal family. But this still more true of his wife and daughter and their mutual position and rank both in society and in relation to the Prince.

The Stockholm Dagblad, in a special article on this dilemma, reports that the Swedish official calendar mentions Prince Bernadotte and wife, but not on the same page with the other members of the royal house. Their daughter's name is omitted, and is therefore not officially recognized as of royal blood. In the Almanac of Sweden Prince and Princess Bernadotte are again named, likewise after the rest of the royal family, but their poor daughter is treated as not existing. In the calendar of the Swedish nobility the Prince's name is recorded under the Munk family as married to one of its members.

His child's name was not admitted. She is evidently not even considered a member of the nobility. To get her name into the list of the proud nobility of Sweden she must, like her father, marry one of its members. The Svenska Ättartal, it seems, is the only almanac which thinks it worth while to mention her name. As if to excuse itself, it informs its readers, moreover, that both Prince Bernadotte and his wife are descendants of Margareta, the mother of Karl, son of Knut, ancestress of Gustaf Vasa. Now, it is strange that while in her own country the daughter of a royal prince should not appear in the lists of royalty or aristocracy, to wait many a year for such honor, the Almanac de Gotha should have taken pity upon this Princess Cinderella and mention her, together with her parents, but, of course, not among the members of the royal family, where the Prince is also listed, but in the supplement. Who knows whether or not her beauty, which she is said to have inherited from her mother, some day will win for her a prince's heart and title?

ABOUT YOUR NOSE.

If That Organ is Intact Every Thing is Well With You.

It is refreshing to meet a doctor who will talk to one about some part of the anatomy other than the stomach or the head. A clever old gentleman has an office in one of the down town hotels. I think he calls himself resident physician or something of that sort. He met me the other day and asked: "How is your nose?" The inquiry was new.

He continued: "I ask you that because if your nose is not well your whole body is sick. A man doesn't appreciate his nose. Neither does a woman. If a man has an eruption or an abrasion on his nose, I don't care how indifferent he may be, he can't keep his hand away from it, and he thinks, very properly, that every one he meets sees that his nose is not what it ought to be. You can't hide your nose. It is like a city set on a hill. More appropriately, it is like a red school-house on a hill. All great men have been sensitive of their noses. The surgeon has the highest respect for the nose. How seldom he touches it with his lance! A woman will go to the opera with a bunion, with a pain in her side, with the neuralgia, with almost any ailment, but if there is an eruption on her nose she won't budge from her room. Slap a man's face or hit him on the back, and he may not resent either. Tweak his nose and if there is any manhood in him he will fight. I have adopted a new rule. I ask a patient when he calls how his nose is. If that organ is intact I have no trouble in treating him."—Chicago Tribune.

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED. TO THE EDITOR: Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above-named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post-office address. Respectfully, A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl Street, New York.

Purify Your Blood. The importance of thoroughly purifying the blood this Spring cannot be overestimated. The extraordinary epidemic of "the grip" and other diseases, the unhealthy winter, close confinement indoors and carelessness in diet have caused accumulation of impurities in the blood which must be expelled before you can feel well and strong again. The universal praise given Hood's Sarsaparilla by those who have taken it should certainly convince you that it is the ideal Spring Medicine. It acts especially and immediately upon the blood, overcomes physical weakness, revives the health tone and creates a good appetite. Try it this Spring. N. B.—If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to take any other.

THE WIDESPREAD FAME OF THE HISTOGENETIC MEDICINES.

MODESTO, Cal., March 30, 1880. Dr. J. Eugene Jordan, Seattle Wash.

DEAR SIR: Your letter with prescription came some days ago. The medicines Miss Hall was taking were A., L. M., O. O., L. She has been taking your prescription, and is taking it still, although she says she considers herself thoroughly cured. She commenced taking the medicine when she was first taken sick, and was immediately benefited. She was persuaded by her folks to go back to her old physician. She grew worse under his treatment, and finally took her case in her own hands and bought the five bottles of Histogenetic medicines referred to, and pronounced herself well. She is the happiest person I think I ever saw. I wouldn't attempt to tell you the many ways in which this young lady was afflicted—eight years an invalid; cured of everything. "Just think," she remarked, "I can eat anything and everything I want to, and all I want to, and even have red cheeks."

Miss Hall's sister, a married lady of about 30, is as much of an enthusiast as myself over the Histogenetic medicines, and seriously thinks of applying to you to be received as a medical student. Yours truly, Mrs. Purvis.

Dr. Jordan's office is at the residence of ex-Mayor Vesler, Third and James, Seattle. Consultation and prescription absolutely FREE. Send for free book explaining the Histogenetic system.

CAUTION.—The Histogenetic Medicines are sold in but one agency in each town. The label around the bottle bears the following inscription: "Dr. J. Eugene Jordan's Histogenetic Medicine." Every other device is a fraud.

"Is, as you say, a first-rate match. For beauty there are few to match her. And she has made a splendid catch. For she caught a baseball catcher."

DON'T GO OFF BEFORE YOU ARE READY.

Particularly on a long journey. Be fully prepared. You cannot be, permit us to say, unless you are accompanied with the traveler's and tourist's safe means, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, most genial of aperients, acidifiers and promoters of digestion. Against sea sickness, malaria, cramps and colics begotten of badly cooked or unwholesome food and brackish water, nervousness, increased by travel, chronic biliousness and constipation, the Bitters is a sovereign preventive. It imparts a relish for food not altogether to your taste, and prevents it from disagreeing with you. Never was there such a capital thing for the unfortunate dyspeptic who stands in dread of the best cooked meal. Stomach trouble caused by ill-prepared vessels aboard ship, on steamboats, and railroads, is remedied by the Bitters, which gives a quietus also to rheumatism, kidney troubles and insomnia.

OUR HANNAH JANE. Our Hannah Jane was thin and weak. And ashy white her lip and cheek. We often thought—and thought with pain—"We soon must lose our Hannah Jane." With change of doctors, change of air, she sought for healing every where. And, which our hopes were almost past, "Favorite Prescription" tried at last. It gave us joy; it gave us hope; (Pierce's remedies are sure and true) Now Hannah Jane is good as new.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists under ten positive guarantees from the manufacturers that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle wrapper and faithfully carried out for many years.
