

COVE NEWS.

Huckleberry Parties Report Fair Success.

HAYING IS ABOUT FINISHED.

The Ice Cream Festival—A Large Cougar and Bear—Other Notes.

August 6, 1890.

Mr. Hilory Mitchell bought an Osborne self binder through a Union firm this week.

Mrs. Dr. McDonald of La Grande is visiting in Cove at the residence of Mrs. Campbell.

Miss Edith Conklin is severely ill at this writing. Her many friends hope for a safe and speedy recovery.

News has been received that Thos. Russell died at his home in Summerville, Monday. His son Jas. went down Monday evening.

Mr. E. P. McDaniel has gone to Spokane Falls. He is drumming the cheese market in the interests of the Cove Dairy Co.

The numerous huckleberries Sunday got one-half pint to five gallons each. The berries are not very plenty but of unusual size and flavor.

Jas. Bloom and family left Wednesday per his own private car for a trip to Pine valley and Cornucopia. Jim took an armory and expects to return enveloped in a bear skin.

Messrs. E. W. Imbler and S. M. Bloom, have purchased a Champion baler and will bail a car load of hay at once for the Dalles market. They have a large amount of hay for shipment this fall.

Mrs. Jas. Payne has purchased a new binder at La Grande. There seems to be a lack of binders in the community this season and trouble is experienced in getting a machine when needed.

A. B. Conley has received his "Harvest Queen" which after passing over a field leaves the grain ready to be hauled to the granary. It will be given a trial as soon as grain becomes a little ripper.

A large cougar and bear have been seen within a few hundred yards of De Bordes saw mill lately. The former is a long, lank, hungry looking beast and might give nimrods lots of sport.

Visitors to our town next Sunday, besides Coveites, can get a tempting dish of ice cream at Mrs. A. J. Foster's. That lady is an expert at making a fine article which tickles the palate immensely.

Foster & Son will commence remodeling their flouring mill this week. It will be changed into a full roller system and the latest improvements added. Mr. J. O. Smith, the skilled millwright, will superintend the work.

Mr. L. B. Stearns sold this week a self regulator wind mill to E. E. Conley of the Sandridge. It has been set up and works to perfection. Not many years will pass before wind power pumps will be as plentiful in the valley as farm houses.

Haying will soon be finished in many fields. The crop is very fair. Baling has not yet commenced. Self-binders are at work and threshing will follow in a few days. The present outlook for a profitable price for grain is encouraging and farmers feel exceedingly well pleased.

Mr. Ambrose Foster was the recipient of a very pleasant surprise Monday, it being the occasion of his fifty-sixth birthday. His daughters were the managers of ceremonies and made the affair a success in every particular. Near forty guests were present. They were entertained with dancing and some very nice refreshments.

The ice cream festival at the hall Saturday evening was well attended and about fourteen dollars realized at the rate of ten cents a dish. The proceeds are to be applied towards purchasing an organ for the Morrison church. The ladies now should arrange to have a concert, and if necessary secure talent from the neighboring towns. The affair would be certain of liberal patronage.

scorned," especially a Spanish woman, for be it known that these women carry small silver handled daggers with which they redress their wrongs. We had been watching the dancers some time when our attention was called to an old man who was sitting by a fire a few rods away, crying, "Che! che! che! chu! chu! nowicun! nowicun!" which being interpreted into modern English would be, "A there! Come here!" He was starting a peon game. This game is played by four men on a side, who sit on either side of the fire. The men on one side holds a blanket by their teeth thus entirely hiding their hands from view. Each man has two small pieces of wood about an inch long connected together by a string. These can be wrapped around the hands or fingers in quite a number of different ways according to the rules of the game. When the players have wrapped these about their fingers, they fold their arms in such a way that their hands cannot be seen and then drop the blanket. They then go through all kinds of contortions and grimaces constantly rocking their bodies to and fro. It is the business of the other side to guess by the expressions of the players faces, in which hand the pieces of wood are held and how they are wrapped around the fingers. If they do this, they gain a point. It is generally played between men of two different tribes. The women of each tribe take their stations behind the players of their respective tribes and sing during the continuance of the game. The first part of the song which is in the Indian language, consists of an invocation to the Gods to help their side to win the game. After the game is fairly started the song changes and is directed towards the players to encourage them and urge them on to do their best to win the game. When one side wins they shout and sing the song of triumph and victory.

These people, like most Spanish American people, are inveterate gamblers; and men, women and children were seated on the ground in small groups here and there playing monte with Spanish cards. The next day was devoted to horse racing and pilote, an Indian ball game. Thus they continued to dance and sing, gamble and play, for nearly a week—night after night and day after day—having, as they said, una fiesta grande.

GEORGE QUINSCHARD.

Written for THE SCOUT. REALITY.

Alone and at my work to-day,
I asked, "What is there real?"
My mind then wandered far away,
But found naught but ideal.
My mind still rambling on and on—
Brought much in thought to view;
Yet all my mind could dwell upon
Was old things changed to new.
And yet there's nothing new, forsooth,
For every thing is old;
All things are changed from age to youth,
By changing of the mould.
I look at the bright flowers to-day,
Whose petals smell so pure;
And then behold, but yesterday
They were but state manure.
The trees that cast a pleasing shade,
And have a beautiful show,
Are dressed with much of carbage made
By which their leaflets grow.
Not yet I find "reality,"
Oh, that most potent word;
There's nothing staple I can see,
'Ought I've seen or heard.
But yet I hope to find in thought
Where there's reality
And thus behold where there is naught
But real things to see.
'Tis not of earth, for naught is here,
That will not change again;
For all within this earthly sphere,
Elusive is, and vain.
But yet methinks there is some place,
Where no illusions are;
Where real beings, face to face,
A happy home will share.
Where naught unreal entereth,
Or fictions of the mind;
No more annoyed by thoughts of death,
For change is left behind.
I halt; I cannot entertain
"No change" of thought, and these
I now look over and think again
MIND cannot rest at ease.
And I must think—in thought progress;
While countless ages roll;
To cease to learn were wretchedness;
A blight upon the soul.
And now in thought, it seems I find
Solution of the whole;
"Reality" is but the mind
Embodyed with the soul.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. F. M. Shroul, pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my parishoners thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 20 lbs in weight."
Arthur Love, manager Love's Funny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, beats 'em all and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my many thousand friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at Brown's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

THE UNION RAILWAY ADDITION

To West Union, is Now on the Market.

THIS beautiful property fronts Union on the west, no part of which is situated one-half mile from the business center of the city, watered by a stream running seasonably across it from the north-east to south-west, carrying a sufficient volume of water to irrigate the entire tract at all seasons of the year.

THE company's road is now graded to the west boundary of this addition and will be completed to the main business portion of the city within a month or six weeks, and when completed the farthest lot or block on the entire line of the addition will not exceed two blocks distant from the railroad line.

Lots in this addition are being sold at prices and on terms within reach of the poorest home-seekers.

THE city of Union is considered by all who have visited it to be one of the most beautiful cities west of Salt Lake, and with its excellent water power and manufacturing facilities is destined to become one of the largest and most desirable places for investment in the state.

THERE are no less than four brick business houses under contract for construction at this date, and many others in contemplation.

WITH the completion of this company's line from the Union Pacific through the center of the city, and the O. & W. T. R. R. skirting the city on the east, an era of growth and prosperity will follow that will not be excelled by that of any town in Oregon.

All those investing now are amply assured of doubling their money three or four times within the next few months.

ALL persons desiring information with a view to purchasing property in the Union Railway addition will call on or address Shulton & Carroll, Union, Oregon, who will take pleasure in furnishing plans and all other desired information. It can no longer be said that Union property is being held at such figures as to drive purchasers away.

UNION is neither the "Denver of Oregon" nor the "Key to Grande Ronde Valley," but for beauty and location for paying investment it surpasses its neighbors by far. Statistics for 1889 show the largest output of gold in Union of any county in the state, and is one of the healthiest places on God's foot-stool.
