The Southern California Orange Crop Begins to Move.

The Riverside Trust Company Lets Contracts for the Boring of Fifty Artesian Wells.

A new brewery to cost $20,000 will soon be built at Snohomish.

The people of Montezuma want water works, and are debating whether to let a private company furnish the aqua pura or do it themselves.

The proprietor of the wooden mills at Escondido, Lower California, received notice from the City of Mexico Monday of the cancellation of their session.

The orange crop in Southern California is beginning to move. The crop in San Bernardino county is estimated at 2,100 carloads and worth $1,680,000.

The Riverside Trust Company has just let a contract to have fifty more artesian wells made in San Bernardino valley, to get additional water for the Gage canal.

Bradstreet's commercial agency reports twenty-one failures in the Pacific Coast States and Territories for the past week as compared with twenty-five for the previous week and seventeen for the corresponding week of 1889.

Government engineers are now engaged on Snake river in sounding the stream and blasting out rock for the purpose of making it navigable. The steamer Norma will be ready to make regular trips between Huntington and the Seven Devils mines as soon as high water time arrives.

Ramon Lopez, who shot and killed Mary Dezerillo last October in the streets of Santa Barbara, because she would not have anything to do with him, has been condemned to death. The date of the execution has not been fixed. The case was somewhat similar to the Goldenstein case in San Francisco.

The Board of Trustees at San Luis Obispo has passed an ordinance granting the right of way for the Southern Pacific railroad through the city limits, including the street crossing, the yards and depot ground. Houses and other improvements are to be moved off the land within the right-of-way limits.

The current number of the Northwest Railroader says: "It is the intention of the Great Northern to push its line through to the Pacific Coast. The contract for building the extension from the summit of the Rockies to a point beyond the Kootenai river has been let to Sheppard, Selms & Co. of St. Paul. This makes extensions from the main line at Havre, Mont., of about 500 miles, the first 125 miles of which have been completed and turned over to the operating department."

It transpires that the Chinese have found a way to make the Exclusion Act rebound to their profit instead of loss. According to J. F. Tucker, a well-known gentleman from San Diego, who has his information from a couple of Mongolians with whom he has had business relations, Chinese who have made a few thousand dollars in the United States, and who desire to return to the Flowery Kingdom, merely go down to the Mexican line, and in crossing back take pains to allow themselves to be captured by officers on the watch for contrabands. After their arrest and trial they are transported to China at the expense of the United States Treasury.

Andrew Caldwell, the special agent of the general land office appointed to make an investigation as to the giant trees (Sequoia) in the Stockton and Visalia land districts in California, reports that in the Visalia land district there is one small and one large grove of giant trees. The latter is a virgin forest, and has over 1,200 giant sequoias and many more small trees. Some five years ago a cooperative colony located about thirty entries in this neighborhood, and are constructing a road to this timber belt. This colony, it is asserted, numbers about 600 members, and has engrained the Bellamy idea as its leading attraction. There is danger, the agent believes, that these people, if unmolested, will soon destroy this most wonderful and perfect body of gigantic trees in the world. In his table giving the number and size of the trees in the groves visited only those measuring forty-five feet in circumference and more, measured three feet from the ground, are classed as giants. Of these 2,675 were found. Forty-four are over eighty feet in circumference, and several are over 100. One is 106 feet in circumference, or more than thirty-five feet in diameter. Secretary Noble has requested the Secretary of War to station a company of cavalry in the Sequoia National Park to prevent depredations. It is stated that the so-called Bellamy colonists, who have in part perfected title to the lands on which these trees stand, have expressed determination to hold their claims in spite of all opposition.

As soon as the machinery passes Poastello a force of men will be started from Wyoming to take charge of it and conduct the work at the coal mines. The coal fields will be thoroughly tested, and if good coal is found in abundance they will be purchased by the Union Pacific. In that event the Bitter creek section will boom with a vengeance, as the building of a railroad to the mines by the company is not improbable.
