A WOOLEN MILL.

The benefits to be derived by having a woolen factory in a town or community is becoming the principal topic throughout Eastern Oregon just now, and nearly every town is presenting its advantages and doing all in their power to secure such an enterprise. Union is not behind in this matter, natural advantages. We have not only the best location, water power and pure water, such as is necessary in the manufacture of the best woolen goods, but we have men with money who can see the advantages to be derived in having an enterprise of this kind in our town and are ready and or any other manufacturing industry that will tend to build up our town. Such men are a benefit to any community. They have labored long and hord to secure a woolen mill here, and we are pleased to say their untiring efforts have not been without avail. Let the good work go on. As an example of the benefits to be derived from a woolen mill, we take the following from the Ochoco Review: "The wool clip of Eastern Oregon this year will be about 9,000,000 pounds. In all of this vast wool growing region that produces such a large amount of this staple article there is not a woolen mill or a scouring establishment. Nearly all this wool is shipped across the continent to be manufactured into cloth and reshipped to the Pacific coast to be bought and worn by those who produced it. The majority of this weol shrinks on an average of 50 per cent by washing, so this year the wool growers of Eastern Oregon will pay freight across the continent on 4,500,000 The freight on the dirt alone would al- corruption, this moral treason against most pay for a scouring establishment | the country, is the result of republican with a capacity sufficient to scour all the wool raised in the Inland Empire. But better than establishments for scouring and grading the wool would be the building of mills to manufacture it into cloth, or at least enough of it to supply the woolen goods that are of freight on the wool to the factories goods from the factories back to the producer and consumer would be no small item; but it is insignificant when compared with the amount of money that would be put in circulation by the manufacture of wool cloth right here at home. As an illustration of the benefit a woolen mill is to a community and the amount of money it puts in circulation, we may profitably consider the following report published by the secretary of the Albany Woolen Mills Company last week, at the close of the first year the mills have been in operation. Wages paid, $26,107.84; wool purchased, $49,413.42; other expenditures, $18,117.73; total expenditures, 93,639.90. Suppose Oregon had in it an additional industry that consumed $50,000 worth of its products and expended $25,000 annually for wages, what would be the result? Would it not make times better and money more plentiful? Suppose we had such an establishment in our own county, what effect would it have on the business of the county? In the first place it would afford a home market for a portion of one of the leading products of the county; it would furnish employment, at good wages, for from thirty to ferty laborers, who must be fed, and this would create an extra market for farm produce; freight would be saved on whatever amount of wool the mills consume; the money expended for woolen goeds would not go abroad, but would be spent at home;

OUR MINES.

Mr. W. L. Adams, of Portland, who passed through here last week to visit our mines, returned by way of Baker and furnishes the Blade the following concerning the mines of Union county:

The Sparta mines, he says, are mostly corraled by the Del Monte Mining Co., and there are a number of good mines there. The ore looks very favorable and the placer mines are working well this season.

In Sanger the mill is running night and day with good results. The mine is paying well and the prospects for the future are good.

At the Dolly Varden mine they are assorting the ore for shipment, and all that which will pay to ship is sent to Pertland for reduction.

At Paddy's Paradise an arastra is running night and day on ore that is paying well and the company are erecting another arastra which will be completed shortly. A tunnel has been commenced which will tap the ore vein and make it more convenient to take the rock out. During his stay in and has nothing to fear in the way of the Paradise Mr Adams was entertained by Major Shenck, and he says he enjoyed his visit to that camp very much

In Timber canyon the mines are not developed very much, as they be long to prospectors who have not been able to do much work on them. There is no machinery to work the ores in that vicinity but the ore is free-milling willing to take stock in a woolen mill, and assays very well, and they will no doubt prove valuable property in the near future.

> AT a meeting of the republican editers of the seventh congressional district, held at Hutchinson, Kansas, on the 27th ult., a letter from ex-Senator Ingalls was read, and among other things the letter said: "The republican party's future must readjust itself to the changed condition of American life or it will perish. Harrison will be renominated and Cleveland will be his opponent. If we have courage and confidence it will be an Austerlitz; if we dicker with popular error, compromise with unprincipled leaders and sneer at honest differences of judgment and opinion, it will be a Waterleo."

Just now trusts and monopolies seem to be in the swim in this country. They control the very vitals of the government by dictating national legislation and making corners on the necessaries of life. A republic run by jobbery and misrule.

"Wify are times so dull?" is asked in various parts of the Northwest. The Oregon and Washington newspapers discuss the question intelligently, and the almost unanimous verdict of consumed on this coast. The saving the press is that there are not enough manufacturing establishments; that in the east and on the manufactured productive industries are more of a present need than anything else.-As-

Crop Weather, Bulletin No. 12.

The observer of the Oregon Weather Bureau, of Portland, Oregon, has issued the bulletin for the week ending Saturday, May 30, 1891, the same being based upon reports received from 162 correspondents, which is as follows:

WESTERN OREGON.

Weather.-Cooler, partly cloudy and cloudy weather has prevailed during the week, especially the latter part. General showers have fallen, especially in southern part, where the rainfall amounts to from sixty-two hundreths of an inch to over one inch. In the Willamette valley generally less than one quarter of an inch of rain fell. Thunder storms accompanied by rain and hail occurred on the 25th. The temperature for the week averaged five degrees a day cooler than last week.

Crops.-The previous week having been unusually warm and dry the changed weather conditions which prevailed this week have proven of great The wages earned by the employes value to crops of all kinds. The soil is would nearly all be spent here. Warmer weather is needed an enterprise would be nearly double to develop heading of wheat, oats &c, the amount the mills would expend but the stalk is developing well. Spring sown wheat has made excellent progress. General reports indicate the A canvass made by the Indianapo- most flattering prospects for the wheat lis Journal (rep.) gives the speakership crop throughout this section. Quite a of the next house to Congressman number of correspondents report fruit falling from the trees. Frosts which at the time were not supposed to have injured evidently did considerable damage. Prunes, cherries and peaches were injured. Cherries especially will not prove to be the crop hoped for. Yambill, Clackamas, Linn, Benton, Lane and Douglass counties report these fruit conditions. Curl leaf and yellows observed at Dayton. Clover is blooming. Gardens are doing finely. Potatoes and peas are ripe in Curry county. Strawberries are ripening slowly, owing to cool weather.

EASTERN OREGON.

Weather.-Cooler, partly cloudy weather with general rains prevailed since Tuesday; Sunday and Monday were very warm with east winds. The rains were heavier in Union county than in other sections. On 25th and 26th thunder storms were quite general. On the 26th a south wind of unusual severity was experienced in parts of Gilliam county, especially at Arlington, which did some damage. The rainfall amounted to from .10 to .45 of an inch. South of the Blue mountains, especially in Crook and Grant counties, the weather is yet cool and season backward.

Crops.—The rain was of inestimable benefit and value to the wheat crop. The east winds did some damage in parts of Umatilla, Morrow and Wasco counties. The effect of the rain is supposed to offset the damage. The rains have revived the excellent wheat prospects throughout this section. Fruit 'is well set and thriving well. Strawberries are becoming plentiful. General prospects for crops of all kinds are at the present time most flattering.

There is again a scarcity of water in Wolf creek for irrigating purposes. It is whispered around that ere long the farmers will have to pay for all their water. When such a time comes the only difference it will make with the Wolfcreeker is, he has to fight for the water now; he will have to pay for it then. Which will be the best? The old saying, "Fighting is hard on the constitution and old clothes," has been proven to be a fact on Wolf creek.
