DEMOCRATS' COLUMN.

Dear voters, give attention, Draw near and list to me;

'Tis true some folks will wonder,

I am the BOSS, or leader.

To prove my shrewdness for the place,

How Berry Riggs fell in the fight,

How I slayed young D. P. Stouffer, And Cooper, James, so badly scared, His name he dared not offer.

And Tatom, though I dosed him bad, Of his kicking I've no alarms,

But the grandest job of all I did,

For I can easily quiet him With the promise of Sergeant-at-Arms.

ANOTHER RICHNOND IN THE FIELD.

MY REASONS FOR TAKING PART IN THE Some youthful indiscretions of the "talented" Rigler-at least that's his name in Oregon-having come to light, the Boss has placed the waning fortunes of the Republican county ticket in other hands and deposed the quondam leader of the forlorn hope. CHARLES AUGUSTUS johns is the name of the Titan, and, STANDING ERECT IN THE PROUD CON-SCIOUSNESS OF RIGHT," he has rushed into the political fray. Lest there be any of our readers unacquainted with the new Richmond, we will here state that he has resided a whole year in the county, thoroughly knows the wants of the people from his long acquaintance with them, and can be readily distinguished from the common herd by his wellcultivated black mustache, while such new-comers as Butler, Jeffreys and Fenton are strangers to our people and their needed legislation. is not often that residents in the rural districts have a chance to listen to "simon pure" oratory without money and without price, and we advise them to come out with their sisters, their aunts and their cousins 'For Choe," said Hirsch, "'twould never to hear THE johns. We will here state, however, that we have heard a To give Bolk so much rebresentation; few doubting Thomases assert that ere the canvass is over he will realize the truth of the old adage, that "Fools rush in where angels fear to

Is it not true that Boss Lee wrete to W. P. Connaway, of Independence, a day or two before the Republican Convention, soliciting him to accept the nomination for Sheriff? Did he do as much for D. P. Stouffer, a young man of unblemished character, who was born and raised in Oregon? Another explanatory communication over the signature of J D. LEE will now be in order.

Owing to the nickness of Judge Truitt and his family, he is unable to take part in the county canvass, Some doubts having arisen in the and the representatives of Democminds of the voters as to the effect racy are too chivalrous to attack the of the Boss' screed and the other ar- record of a man who is physically ticles in the Republican column of unable to defend himself.
